DOLE NECESSITY IN '37 ADMITTED BY NEW DEALERS

Four Billion Works Fund Too Little.

Divided on Suits

The senate yesterday compromised with opponents of the AAA amendments bill by dropping the effort to prohibit suits for recovery of processing taxes if the imposts are ruled invalid by the courts. On the other hand, the house adopted a measure prohibiting suits against the federal government under the gold clauses of government securities. The AAA story will be found on page 6 and the gold story on page 29.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Admitting for the first time that the dole or its equivalent will extend into 1937, President Roosevelt today called his aids to the White House to estimate tentatively the cost of unemployment to the taxpayers in the 1936-'37 fiscal year.

The discussion in the President's office arrived at no definite figure for the 1936-'37 relief program, it was learned, but those who were present were charged by Mr. Roosevelt for the first time to figure out approximately what the relief burden will be in 1937. Relief in the 1934-'35 year cost 2 billion 300 million dollars, while public works cost another billion.

Morgenthau Forces Issue.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. is credited with having precipitated today's White House meeting on the future of relief. Morgenthau, conferees said, wanted to have an estimate so that he could commence work on the 1936-'37 budget, which will be submitted to congress early next January.

Those called to the White House by the President besides Morgenthau were Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and Frank C. Walker, director of the National Emergency council. They conferred with the President for about an hour and a half.

Mr. Roosevelt asked his four aids to begin thinking about the relief [illegible] for the fiscal year which will [illegible] July 1, 1936, and run until June [illegible] 1937. Miss Perkins said after the meeting broke up. She said she was told Morgenthau had asked for an estimate in order to begin work on the budget. The treasury department later confirmed this.

Denies Figure Reached.

Miss Perkins was emphatic in denying that any specific figures had been mentioned during the conference. She insisted that it was merely exploratory, the beginning of serious study on the 1937 outlook. She predicted that the number of unemployed would be lower next year, but said no estimated figure for 1937 unemployment was mentioned.

The conference, however, was the first intimation from the New Dealers that their 4 billion dollars to be spent on work relief within the next eleven months would not smash unemployment. Publicly the President and his advisers have taken the position that their works relief drive sounds the death knell of unemployment.

Today's conference, however, was in a much more sober vein. There were some indications that the New Dealers already are considering the abandonment in 1936-'37 of the work relief program which they are now substituting for the dole. Reëstablishment of the dole apparently was mentioned in the White House conversations today.

Five Million to Be Idle.

Relief Administrator Hopkins has estimated privately that the country must adjust itself to permanent unemployment for 5 million people. Should this prove true, the government could not continue the relatively expensive work relief system without flirting with bankruptcy.

The dole now is costing about 140 million dollars a month, with 4 million families and 800,000 single persons obtaining their food, clothing, and shelter through government funds. Both the cost and the number of persons on relief has receded from the winter highs.

FIGHT ITALY TO DEATH! PLEA OF ETHIOPIAN KING

Selassie Issues War Call to His People.

BY WILL BARBER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, July 18.—Emperor Haile Selassie today called upon all his people to get ready for war, to stand shoulder to shoulder to repel the Italian invader, and to die rather than surrender their ancient freedom.

His speech was a call to arms. It was made before parliament and thousands of tribal leaders and notables, who stood so tightly packed that when one swayed all swayed.

Speaking without bombast, Ethiopia's "king of kings" prefaced his appeal for a fight to the death against Italy by giving his version of events since last summer which led to the border clash at Ualual on Dec. 5.

Claims Italian Desire to Conquer.

"For forty years," he said, "Italy has cherished a desire to conquer Ethiopia, and since last August her preparations have been intensified. We refused to comply with humiliating demands, but announced our willingness to arbitrate and bow to the decision of any impartial tribunal.

"Italy, on the contrary, continued warlike preparations. Premier Mussolini encouraged his soldiers to believe they were about to write a glorious page in the annals of history.

"Italy is provided with all the modern methods of warfare. Ethiopia is a poor country, but we shall show the world how a united people can fight to preserve its independence.

"Should a peaceful solution not be found, Ethiopia, stretching her hands to God, will struggle to the last man, but—right up to the last minute—we shall persist in our efforts for peace."

Gets Acclaim of Crowd.

The emperor spoke with such effect that many of his audience wept. At the same time they acclaimed their leader and shouted their determination to respond to his plea to unite to fight off their tormentor.

Politically the curly bearded emperor's speech was regarded as of great importance, for he clearly and firmly declared:

"Never will we accept any foreign protectorate whatever. We will die rather than yield an inch of our territory."

Those words were not in the prepared discourse.

In another extemporaneous moment he commanded his people to treat all foreigners in time of war with more respect than ever, for "those who remain will be our friends."

Appeals for Fighting Men.

Haile Selassie implored his Ethiopian countrymen to be ready to defend their homes against the Italian invaders. It is better to die free than live without liberty, he said.

"Your sovereign, now speaking, will be among you unhesitatingly to spill all his blood for independence," the "conquering lion of Judah" assured his enthusiastic audience.

"Our ancestors preserved their independence by sacrificing their lives. Follow their example!

"Soldiers, when on the battlefield you learn of the death of your beloved and respected chief who has fallen in the defense of liberty, do not weep and do not despair, but think of those who died for the fatherland as happy mortals.

Implores All to Aid Fight.

"Soldiers, traders, peasants, young and old, men and women, unite and coöperate for the defense of your country!

"As in the past, women will heroically participate in the defense of the country, encouraging the soldiers and treating the wounded.

"Regardless of faith, all will face the invader in common unity, thwarting the efforts of Italy to create discord between Christians and Mohammedans."

Of significance was the firm oath of fidelity given by four Moslem leaders at the conclusion of the emperor's address. The oath came as a surprise and its effect was electric.

Moslem Leaders Pledge Help.

The words of the four Moslem leaders—Somalis from Harrar and Ogaden, part of which the Italians now hold—seemed striking proof that Italy's DISCOVERS REMAINS OF A CITY BUILT IN INDIA ABOUT 3300 B. C.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

KARACHI, India, July 18.—The remains of an ancient city older than Mohenjodaro have been discovered by Utam Thakur, a research scholar, beside the bed of the old Indus river in the state of Khairpur. The earliest of three cities unearthed at Mohenjodaro was built about 3300 B. C.

The site of Thakur's discovery is known as Kol Deja, or Narujardaro, and was found during survey work. Shell and earthenware bangles, decorated images, a copper mirror, and decorative pottery were unearthed.

Khairpur state authorities have placed guards on the site to prevent depredations. Thakur has sought financial aid to continue his excavations during the winter.

Ecuador Agrees to Furnish Land to Jewish Colonists

LONDON, July 18.—(AP)—The government of Ecuador has officially agreed to place 1,250,000 acres of land at the disposal of Jewish colonization agencies, it was announced here today. The agreement, negotiated by Dr. Brutzkus, head of the Emcol, Jewish emigration and colonization organization, already has been signed by José Velasco Ibarra, president of Ecuador.

Mercury Hits 94°, Highest Mark of Year

The nation-wide heat wave struck Chicago in earnest yesterday, and the temperature rose to 94 degrees at 4 p. m., the highest mark of the year. The thermometer reading was the highest since last Aug. 9, and it broke the previous record for this year, 91 degrees, established on July 11.

Gentle winds from the southwest eliminated Lake Michigan's cooling influence and the area along the lake was almost as warm as inland suburbs. The high temperature continued through the evening, and at midnight it had fallen only to 86 degrees.

Forecaster C. A. Donnel predicted partly cloudy but continued warm weather today and tomorrow. He said there was some likelihood of local thundershowers.

High temperatures in practically all parts of the country were reported yesterday, with 100 degrees at La Crosse, Wis., the highest mark east of the Rocky mountains. Only in the southern states were temperatures reported near or slightly below normal.

Downstate Illinois baked with the mercury high in the 90s. In Bloomington and Canton yesterday's readings were 98. Quincy had a high of 97, Peoria, 96, and Springfield, 92.

Ten days of hot weather, without any rainfall, have blistered western Iowa, eastern Nebraska, southwestern Minnesota and all parts of South Dakota. Farmers in the region reported browning pasture lands.

Most of the eastern part of the country also sweltered. New York City reported a maximum of 88 degrees, with high humidity. Boston's high was 88 and Washington, D. C., had 92. In the west central states these high marks were recorded: Dubuque, Ia., 98; Kansas City, Mo., 98; Omaha, 94; St. Louis, 96.

Advises Drinking Salt Water.

Some consolation and advice for hot weather sufferers was given in a talk yesterday before the Chicago Safety council in the Palmer house. Dr. P. H. Kennedy, medical adviser to the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, recommended salt—simple table salt—taken in drinking water.

"All men engaged in heavy industry, or men engaged in more than ordinary activity, whether work or sport," he said, "should drink water with salt in it. Perspiration removes salt from the blood and reduces the saline content below normal. This, experiments show, tends to produce heat prostration, fatigue, and in some cases painful and dangerous heat cramps."

At the steel plants, he explained, a teaspoon of salt is put into each gallon of drinking water.

CATTLE MEN PROTEST CCC PROPOSAL TO BUY RUBBER SOLED SHOES

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—Farm, cattle, and lether interests joined today in protest of a proposal that the Civilian Conservation corps buy 375,000 pairs of shoes with rubber composition instead of lether soles.

They put before Robert Fechner, director of the corps, the argument that the government owns two million hides that it does not know what to do with.

"Ninety thousand of them might be put into these shoes," said A. M. Loomis of the National Dairy union. "It seems a shortsighted government policy.

"I have stated these facts to Mr. Fechner in a letter. The cattle industry is all stirred up over the matter."

Conservation corps officials said the word had not yet been given for the war department to call for bids on the shoes.

"It is purely a matter of safety," one official said. "During a seven month check of accidents we found that 26 per cent of those in which men were injured were due to slips and falls. Our safety engineers have recommended the change."

IT'S WONG WAY TO GET SHIRTEE WITH NO TICKEE

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Jack Wong, who operates a Bronxville hand laundry, is having a swell vacation. And Detective Harry Titlebaum, subbing as cashier for the departed oriental, has a headache and a new respect for the Chinese language.

When Wong [who trusts the human race] departed, he left this sign on his door:

"Have closed shop. Have gone away. People come get laundry. Key in door."

A patrolman doubted the honesty of the human race, even in swanky Bronxville, and notified headquarters. Detective Harry Titlebaum, taking charge, at first instituted a "no tickee no shirtee" policy.

After a few brainstorms in the presence of hurried commuters demanding their clean shirt for today, the cop abandoned all attempts to decipher laundry tickets. Now customers tell their shirt size or the color of their undies and get the laundry.

Titlebaum hopes Mr. Wong will return velly soonee.

Rival Chaco War Generals Meet, Drink Peace Toasts

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 18.—(AP)—The commanders in chief of the rival armies that fought the Chaco war met today at Villa Montes and drank toasts in bubbly Argentine champagne to the success of peace efforts now under way. Maj. Gen. José Felix Estigarriba, leader of the Paraguayan forces, later presented his old enemy, Col. Enrique Penaranda, of the Bolivian army, with a pistol.

Superhighway Plan to Save Lives Urged

The city council committee on streets and alleys yesterday refused to recommend that Cook county be granted the right to widen and improve certain streets within the city. The aldermen declared that street widening is creating death traps and causing property losses.

The county seeks the right to improve the streets with its own funds as an extension of the state highway system. The program submitted to the committee yesterday proposes paving and widening for the following streets:

76TH STREET—Stony Island avenue to Yates avenue.

KIMBALL AVENUE—Fullerton avenue to Diversey avenue.

EWING AVENUE—95th street to 100th street.

CENTRAL AVENUE—Madison street to Roosevelt road.

RIDGE AVENUE—Devon avenue to Howard street.

CRAWFORD AVENUE—Argyle street to Belmont avenue.

NARRAGANSETT AVENUE—North avenue to Grand avenue.

63RD STREET—Nottingham avenue to Austin avenue.

The committee deferred action on the county projects after Ald. James J. Cusack Jr. [5th] declared that Chicago must turn immediately to an elevated highway construction program and cease building "race tracks" through the residential districts.

"It is time we realize that the only way we can afford speedy transportation through the city and protect the lives of children and adult citizens is through the construction of elevated highways," Cusack said. "This street widening program will simply continue a system that is resulting in the deaths of hundreds of Chicagoans in trafic accidents every year and is failing to adequately provide for our trafic needs.

Cites Toll on Widened Streets.

"Surveys show that following the widening of Western, Ogden and Ashland avenues, these streets are accounting for 12 per cent of the trafic deaths in the city. Within a year after the Vincennes avenue widening was completed, there were eight persons killed in its trafic.

"I'm calling on the aldermen to scrap proposals for street widening and to turn to an intelligent program of elevated highway building."

Ald. Thomas P. Keane [31st] supported Ald. Cusack's arguments for elevated highways.

"We've had enough of the death trap type of highway construction," he said. "We're not only endangering lives by widening streets, but destroying property values and destroying beauty in residential areas. We've got to turn to elevated highways. The county proposes to widen Kimball avenue with its own funds. I'd like to secure the saving in street improvement costs that the county would give us, but I can't favor the endangering of lives of our citizens."

Porten Adds His Support.

Ald. Matt Porten [34th] also made a plea for superhighways instead of street widening. He declared that the Kimball avenue project is vigorously opposed by residents in his ward.

On motion of Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th] action on the county's proposal was deferred until such time as other aldermen opposed to the widening program will have opportunity to present their objections.

The committee sent to a sub-committee a request of the Sanitary district for the right to cross city streets in the construction of a $1,300,000 west side intercepting sewer to start in the fall. The district's plea for speedy action on the project failed to impress the committee, which demanded guarantee that the city will be paid for any damage caused by the construction.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police May Drop 'Mounted'

Investigation of the slaying of Louis [Two Gun] Alterie, 43 years old, gangster who rose before the day of Al Capone and by good fortune survived the underworld warfare of twelve sanguine prohibition years, centered last night in his relationships with two unions—one he controled and another he was suspected of coveting.

Did his killers attack, the investigators asked, because they wanted to take over his Chicago Office, Theater, and Amusement Janitors' union, local No. 25, or did they strike because he was trying to break into [as dictator] the Moving Picture Operators' union?

Shot Down Leaving Home.

These are rich "properties" for men who can handle them. Either would furnish a motive for the sort of killing that ended Alterie's career. Twelve pieces of lead, some from a shotgun and others from a high powered rifle, cut him down as he stepped, yesterday morning, from his apartment in the Eastwood Towers at 922 Eastwood avenue, to his automobile at the curb.

The slaying had been carefully planned. The gunmen fired from an ambush in a first floor flat at 927 Eastwood avenue, across the street from the Eastwood Towers, and after their work was done they fled, leaving the guns behind them.

The method was the time tried one, in which the victim has no warning, and the element of surprise gives the killers an opportunity to make a getaway. That part of the crime, the police hold, is less interesting and less significant than the plot that lay behind it.

And because the other rackets have little or no standing, now that prohibition is gone and gambling is in disgrace, the investigators have turned to his union affiliations.

Recall Union Enmity.

They recalled that there had been whispers to the effect that Alterie, a blowhard, who backed his boasts with fists and, if necessary, with gunfire, had been overharsh in shoving around rivals in his own union, which he had held for 15 years.

Likewise they recalled that two decades ago the Theatrical Janitors' union was a part of the Moving Picture Operators' union organization. The latter union then was controled by Thomas E. Maloy, Con Shea, and Steve Kelliher.

These three are dead, all but Shea slain. Maloy was the last to go. Assassins shot him to death in his automobile on the outer drive at 24th street last February, and afterward the international union took over his jurisdiction. Just a few weeks ago Clyde Osterberg, a rebel operator who had fought Maloy and organized a rival union, was slain.

Trace Union Setup for Key.

It is difficult to determine where Alterie, whose real name was Leland Varain, fits into this picture of bloodshed. However, he and Thomas J. Burke, secretary-treasurer of the theatrical janitors, were close friends of the slain Maloy. There was a report last night that six weeks ago an official of the janitors' organization remarked:

"It looks like we're going to get the moving picture union."

When his hearer expressed surprise this official, quoted again, said: "It looks mighty good."

The investigators did not confine themselves entirely to the union angles in seeking the reason for the slaying of Alterie. He had many irons in the fires of Chicago gangland and others in ostensibly legitimate enterprises. He was a dude rancher and a resort operator as well as a gambler and labor leader.

Long Overdue for Death.

Four high police officials—Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan, Supervising Captain Martin Mullen, Capt. Gregory Moran of the Town Hall district, and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney—all said they were uncertain why Alterie had been slain, but that he was "long overdue" for the tragedy.

"Alterie's name has been 'in the hat' for years," declared Capt. Gilbert. "He's lived by muscle for years, and since he broke with the old 'Bugs' Moran gang, after prohibition, he has had his fingers in every pie.

"About a year and a half ago Alterie and Burke attempted to use their influence to organize the 'Associated Ash Haulers' with the backing of the old Cardinella gang. We broke that up after receiving complaints from a number of small theaters and hotels."

The detailed story of the ambush and the slaying follows:

At 10 a. m. a garage attendant followed the usual custom of leaving Alterie's large blue sedan in front of the apartment hotel. It was the custom of Alterie's wife, Erma, to drive her husband to the union office.

After the car arrived, Alterie and his wife left their furnished duplex studio apartment on the sixth floor and descended to the lobby. Mrs. Alterie stopped for a moment to talk with the clerk and then followed her husband toward the front door. He was about 20 feet ahead of her.

Wife Tells Story of Slaying.

As she opened the outside door of the vestibule, Mrs. Alterie later told police, she heard a shot, and then a second rifle report. For a few moments she could see no one, then she noticed Alterie lying on the parkway near the front of the automobile, mortally wounded.

She ran to his side, seized him in her arms, and begged him to stand up.

"I'm sorry, but I'm going," whispered the dying gangster.

Stanley J. Wozny, owner of an apartment building at 930 Eastwood avenue, was standing near by on the sidewalk watching two janitors of an adjoining building repair a fence. Sergt. Victer Schrock and Policeman Clarence Sweeney were a block away. All three men rushed to the wounded Alterie, placed him in a car and took him to the Lake View hospital. He died without regaining consciousness.

Another Picture of the Slaying.

"When I heard the first shot I turned toward the other building and saw Alterie fall on his face in the parkway," Wozny said. "Then I heard three or four more shots in rapid succession. The first blast had a heavier sound and the others sounded like 'tick! tick! tick!'"

While twelve of the slugs from an automatic shotgun and a carbine rifle with a powerful telescopic sight pierced Alterie's body, five others splattered on the stone work by the doorway of the apartment building, a foot from where Mrs. Alterie was standing.

In the shoddy front room of the killers' flat across the street the police found the two guns on an in-a-dor bed which was pulled down. The chair in which one of the killers apparently sat was drawn up at the middle window of a group of three front windows. The window was open. On the floor were empty cartridges and a few cigaret butts.

Police also found a dark green suitcase trunk in which apparently the assassins brought their guns into the building. In it was a spare barrel for the carbine. Finger prints were taken from the trunk and all other articles in the room to determine if they corresponded with any on file at the detective bureau.

Witnesses Killers' Escape.

Mrs. Frances Kern, caretaker at the building at 927 Eastwood avenue, told Supervising Captain Mullen that she was in the corridor outside the front room at the time of the shooting. Immediately after the last shot was fired, she said, two men wearing dark suit coats brushed past her and ran down a stairway to the basement.

"They could easily get out that way into the alley," Mrs. Kern said. "It was on July 9, a week ago Tuesday, that I rented the room for $4.50 to a nice looking man who gave the name of Sullivan. He was not one of the two men who fled from the room.

"Sullivan told me that another man lived with him, and that one of them worked at night, and the other days. I never saw this other man. Sullivan had a pretty, wine colored car, a two seater. It was often parked in front of the building in the afternoon. He was a nice fellow, too. Looked like an Italian-American."

Hunt Launched for "Sullivan."

Police believe that the man who gave the name of Sullivan waited in the roadster in the alley at the rear and picked up the two killers for their getaway after the shooting. A message giving this man's description was sent out to all stations on the police teletype.

In the lavishly equipped Alterie apartment Capt. Mullen's men found the gangster's sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Wittsum of Denver, Colo., and her baby. Mrs. Wittsum told them she had answered a telephone call for "Varain" and had gone to the front window of the apartment to summon him just as he was shot down. She said that she had known Alterie only under the name of Varain.

Alterie owned a 500 acre dude ranch near Glenwood Springs, Colo., until Feb. 1, 1933, when he was expelled from the state on pain of serving a long prison term for assaulting two men.

Bullet Proof Vest Missing.

There were few clews last night which investigators considered important. In a pocket of the blue sedan was a package of .38 caliber bullets, although Alterie was unarmed when he was shot down. In other days Alterie gained notoriety for being the first gangster to wear a bullet proof vest. He was not wearing it yesterday, but his killers took no chances. They aimed their shots at his head, where most of them took effect.

Aside from his connection with the Theatrical Janitors' union, Alterie carried cards indicating he was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at Glenwood Springs and a member of the Chicago Hotel Clerks' union, local 202.

The Alteries were to have left tomorrow to attend a rodeo in Wyoming. They had just returned Sunday from Valparaiso, Fla., where Alterie had closed a deal to purchase Postl's Gulf Coast club from Charles Postl, owner of a gymnasium at 312 South Wabash avenue. Alterie had left his father-in-law, Mike Rossi, former Denver underworld leader, in Florida to run the club during the summer.

Alterie, swaggering, boasting son of an Irish mother and a Spanish-French father, cut a wide swath through Chicago's underworld in his heyday.

Born Leland Varain on a ranch near the California-Mexican border, he took the name of Louis Alterie, a boxer—his boyhood hero—as a pseudonym. Achieving a reputation for general all around toughness he came to the attention of Dion O'Banion, king-pin Chicago gangster of early prohibition days, who imported him to Chicago.

Alterie soon found himself teamed up with Jerry O'Connor, a loop gambler, as joint boss of the theatrical janitors' union.

While they ran the affairs of the union and drained its treasury, Alterie and O'Connor continued to operate their loop gambling house. Paddy King was a young hoodlum in their employ. Alterie didn't like King and once fired six shots at him. Later, in 1928, when King was slain in the gambling place, gangland rumor had it that it was Alterie who shot him to death.

Thrived on Notoriety.

Alterie brought attention and criminal notoriety to himself in many other ways during the blood and thunder days of prohibition. In 1922 he and Terry Druggan [later sentenced to federal prison as a tax evader] were acquitted of a jewel robbery.

In the same year there was a spectacular shooting in a north side café. Alterie was present and was identified by witnesses as the principal in the shooting, but he never was convicted.

His bosom companion and benefactor, O'Banion, was slain in gangland warfare in October, 1924. This murder, which heralded a long series of gangster killings, again put the blustering, cocksure Alterie in the limelight. With two large pistols sticking out of his pockets Alterie promenaded militantly before the funeral parlor where O'Banion's body was held, threatening to kill any newspaper photographer who took a picture. The next day he offered to "shoot it out" with the killers of O'Banion at State and Madison streets.

Departs to Colorado.

Shortly after O'Banion's murder Alterie suddenly decided to leave the scenes of his gang associations. He took the fortune he had amassed in liquor running, gambling, and other operations and went to Colorado, where he purchased the 500 acre "D Diamond V" ranch at Glenwood Springs, near Denver.

During a dispute with a brother in 1926 Alterie was shot and seriously wounded. Then, in 1932, he went gunning for an enemy. He shot two salesmen in a Denver hotel, was tried, convicted, and sentenced to 1 to 5 years in prison. On his promise to leave Colorado and never return the sentence was suspended.

Alterie left the state, but he violated the provisions of his probation in 1933 and was arrested and turned over to federal officials in Denver for questioning in connection with the kidnapings of Charles Boettcher II., Denver broker, and John Factor of Chicago.

It was known that five years ago the braggadocio manner of his daily life began to irritate leaders of the Capone gang syndicate. They ordered him banished and Alterie no more commuted between his ranch and his interests here. When the syndicate was broken up he again returned to his Chicago haunts.

Artist's drawing of scene of slaying on Eastwood avenue when "Two-Gun Louie" Alterie, one time friend of Dion O'Banion and prohibition era gangster, was shot down yesterday morning. With his wife he had left their apartment at 922-26 Eastwood avenue to enter his car. As he neared the auto two men opened fire from a window of first floor flat at 927 Eastwood avenue. A third man, who had left the assassins' flat earlier, was reported stationed on the sidewalk outside. After the shooting the men fled from the room, leaving their guns.

U. S. COUNTESS LOSES DIAMOND BRACELET AT PARTY; CALLS POLICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 18.—Comtesse Marie de Saint Phalle, 42 years old, the former Marie Duryea of New York, lost her diamond bracelet in a Monte Carlo cabaret last Friday and called the police, it was learned today. The gendarmes suggested searching the guests, who included Lord Louis Mountbatten, great-grandson of Queen Victoria, and Lady Mountbatten, Albert Dewey, grandson of the hero of Manila, and Sir Hugo de Bathe, but the comtesse demurred.

Annoyed by her loss, she quit Monte Carlo and took refuge in Maxine Elliott's villa at Gulf Juan. She is advertising in Riviera and Paris papers for the bracelet's return. The comtesse promises no questions will be asked.

The bracelet vanished while Comtesse Marie was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lewisohn of New York, along with Lord Hindlip, Mrs. Richmond Hoyt of Washington, D. C.; Capt. D'Arcy Rutherford, and others. The bracelet was the gift of her husband.

4 GUNMEN ROB CROWDED STORE AT CLOSING TIME

A Leader department store at 3311 West 26th street was crowded last night 15 minutes before closing time at 10 o'clock when four robbers entered. Leaving one man on guard at the front door, the others sauntered unnoticed up a stairway to the third floor offices.

There they produced revolvers and held up Miss Marie Oplatka, 3301 West 26th street, the cashier, and A. P. Sharpfan, the manager. Picking up two money bags, the three bandits then ran down the stairs, joined their companion, and ran outside, turning into an alley. As they did so, one of the robbers fired three shots in the air to stop any pursuit.

Police followed their trail through the alley and found one of the bags which had been dropped. It contained $197 in cash and $700 in checks. The other bag held $695, Sharpfan said.

Two Workmen Injured in Ammonia Tank Blast

Two men were injured, one of them seriously, when an ammonia tank they were carrying yesterday exploded in the yard of the Chicago Metals corporation, 1662 Elston avenue. Joseph Mosia, 42 years old, 835 North Lincoln street, was thrown several yards. Both of his legs and a shoulder were broken. He also suffered internal injuries. Andrew Hamp, 35 years old, 2806 Indiana avenue, a colored helper, was burned on the legs and stomach.

ALTERIE'S WIDOW DENIES HE EVER DALLIED IN CRIME

'Just a Kindly Husband;' Never Displayed Gun.

BY MARCIA WINN.

A young woman, her nails carmine against the white handkerchief she was folding into myriad squares, sat in the county morgue yesterday afternoon and denied that she had ever known of the gangland activities of her husband, swashbuckling Louis Alterie.

For eight years, said Erma Rossi Varain, she had been married to Alterie, yet not once, she said, had she seen a gun in his possession, and only once had she heard him adressed as "Alterie."

"And that," she added, her heavily mascaraed brown eyes filling with sudden tears, "was back in Colorado, at a rodeo on our ranch, when some one called him 'Jack Alterie.'"

Only Kindly Husband to Her.

To her he had been merely Leland Varain, a kindly husband almost twice her age, who had a free hand with money, few personal friends, and a love of children [although they had none], horses, sombreros, and ranches of the "dude" variety.

"I never saw Lee have a gun," she said, "and so far as fearing for his life, he wasn't afraid of anybody. He never had any threatening letters and he wasn't nervous or anything. And I know he wasn't suspecting anything today. He was just going to work."

"But didn't you know he was a gangster?" she was asked.

"No," she replied. "He wasn't—not since we've been married. He was running his ranch near Glenwood Springs (Colo.) when I met him, and he's been with the Theater Janitors' union ever since."

Alterie Near 50th Birthday.

Mrs. Varain said she is 26 years old. Alterie would have reached his 50th birthday on Aug. 2. They were married eight years ago in Philadelphia, after having met in Colorado. Alterie, she said, was born in California, the son of Charles Varain, a French-Spanish immigrant, and Mary Lincoln Brown.

When asked how many dependents Alterie had, she enumerated five besides herself. These included his 74 year old mother, who lives in Burbank, Cal.; two younger sisters and her own sister, Mrs. Mary Wittsum, who with her 7 month old baby was living with the Alteries.

At the morgue Mrs. Alterie was dressed neatly in a brown and white silk dress, with a white silk turban, white bag, and gloves. She first was questioned, however, at the Town Hall police station where she was taken immediately following Alterie's death.

GUNMEN FIRE ON CONTRACTOR IN OUTER DRIVE

Tony Matallo, 31 years old, 3120 Princeton avenue, was wounded in the neck early last evening when a gunman in an automobile fired upon him in the heavily traveled outer drive at Fullerton avenue.

The car in which Matallo was riding was driven by Samuel Matul, 1130 North Harding avenue, his partner in an electrical contracting business at 205 West 31st street. Matul swerved to one side and other motorists slipped in between his car and that of the would be killer. The police were unable to find any witnesses who could give a clew to the identity of the gunman.

Matallo was taken to the Columbus Memorial hospital, where his wound, which was not serious, was treated. He and Matul said they employed union workmen in their shop and that they had had no labor troubles. They professed to be puzzled as to the motive for the attack.

JAPAN'S EXPRESS SHIP LANDS SILK IN U. S. IN 11 DAYS

San Pedro, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—Markets of the orient tonight were brought within a fortnight of New York when the new Japanese express Diesel "silk" liner Komaki Maru, Kokussi Kisen Kaisha unit, arrived at Los Angeles harbor from Yokohama in a record breaking Pacific crossing of eleven days and eight hours.

Tomorrow morning she will discharge 1,180 bales of raw silk aboard a special Southern Pacific train, which will deliver its $360,000 cargo in New York in 78 hours. This means raw silk loaded at Yokohama July 8 will be delivered at Grand Central yards July 23.

Komaki Maru's trans-Pacific dash, on which she traversed the 4,839 miles at 17.66 knots, bettered by 18 hours the previous record set last May by her sister ship, Kongo Maru. After discharging part of her cargo here Komaki Maru continues to New York tomorrow with 4,000 more bales of silk.

Komaki Maru and her three 21 knot sisters are the fastest and largest of Japan's fifty-one new trans-Pacific Diesel "silk" liners, each displacing 14,800 tons.

POLICE CALLED AS PARIS PROTESTS ECONOMY LAWS

PARIS, July 18.—(AP)—Hundreds of extra police and mobile guards were ordered out today to enforce the government's ban against street demonstrations protesting Premier Pierre Laval's economy decrees.

School teachers joined postal workers, railway employés, and public employés in plans to march to Opera square tomorrow.

A possibility of a nation-wide strike by the postal workers was seen in an announcement by their syndicate that "demonstrations are not enough, it is necessary to employ more energetic means." The physicians' association has voted to reduce fees 10 per cent for the poor of Paris.

Invalid's Mate Reported Indicted in Her Suicide

William L. Ganschaw, 59 years old, 1657 North Artesian avenue, yesterday was reported named in true bills voted by the grand jury charging him with the murder of his invalid wife, Elizabeth, 58 years old. On July 2 Ganschaw called the police and told them his wife had killed herself with gas in their home in a suicide pact which he failed to keep.

RENEW BELFAST RIOTS; MAYOR IN PLEA FOR PEACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 18.—With religious leaders of all denominations and the lord mayor of Belfast, Sir Crawford McCullagh, striving to end the rioting between the rival Catholic and Protestant factions, the death toll in a week's fighting rose to seven today when James Andrews, a young Protestant, died of bullet wounds received Monday. The disorders followed upon the Orangemen's celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne.

The lord mayor issued an appeal to citizens to use their influence to bring about peace. He urged residents to refrain from assembling in crowds and advised against the use of provocative language. The clergy will meet tomorrow and discuss plans designed to end the disorders.

Meanwhile, rioting continued in West Belfast. In an outbreak at Portadown, near Belfast, Hugh Falloon, a Catholic, was shot through the stomach and dangerously wounded. Terrorists invaded houses in Belfast's "no man's land" and dragged furniture of their rivals into the streets and set it afire.

BICYCLIST KILLED BY CAR.

Noblesville, Ind., July 18.—[Special.]—Jack Raymond, 14, son of Paul Raymond, was killed this afternoon when he was hit by an interurban car when crossing the track on his bicycle.

LANG'S SEVERED LEGS ARE FOUND NEAR HAMMOND

Slayer's Hacksaw Placed in Trunk with Limbs.

On a little used road in the small town of Munster, Ind., five miles south of Hammond, three youths yesterday found the trunk containing the legs of Ervin Lang, whose torso was discovered July 6 in a Hammond swamp. The legs were discovered about eight miles from the spot where the torso was dumped.

With the discovery police learned for the first time what kind of a weapon had been used by Lang's murderer, believed to be Evelyn Smith, who is being sought with her Chinese husband, Harry Jung, alias Jung Moy Gee. Lying beside the legs, which had been jammed into the trunk, was a broken hack saw blade.

The trunk, of black composition material with brass corners, was lying in a ditch on the north side of the road, known as 45th avenue. It was half a mile east of U. S. route 41 and near the Maynard brick yards and the Grand Trunk railroad tracks.

Road Passes Near Swamp.

U. S. 41 passes within half a block of the swamp where the body was found and Marshal Ed Bennett of Munster said he believes the killer continued south from the swamp eight miles before tossing the trunk out of the car.

The legs were still clad in the same garments Lang was wearing the night he was killed. They were white cotton trousers, underwear, blue socks with white polka dots, and black oxfords.

Towels bearing the same trade-mark as those found in the Smith woman's apartment at 731 Barry avenue were bound about the legs.

The youths who found the trunk were Victor Kirsch, 19 years old, and Al Spartz, 14 years old, of Munster, and Fred Kunz, 17 years old, of Hammond. They were gathering hay in the ditch.

No identifying marks of any kind were found on the trunk, Marshal Bennett said, but he added that a close examination had not been made. The trunk and its contents were brought back to the county morgue last night by a Chicago police detail.

Photographs of the Smith woman and Jung, alias Jung Moy Gee, wanted for the murder of Lang, were being sought all over the country yesterday when no trace of the couple had been found after a week's search for them. No pictures of either were discovered in Chicago and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, asked the coöperation of all agencies in getting pictures of one or both to be put on circulars.

Mrs. Dunkel Ready to Aid.

Mrs. Blanche Dunkel, whose daughter, Mallie, now dead, was Lang's wife, has agreed to help the authorities and said she would identify any picture of either of the fugitives if found. Mrs. Dunkel is being held, following her confession that she hired the Smith woman to do away with Lang.

Mrs. Dunkel said that Evelyn reported to her on July 6 that the murder of Lang had been accomplished and that Evelyn had cut off the legs of the slain man. Then with the help of her Chinese husband she disposed of the torso and the legs. Mrs. Dunkel will be taken to view the trunk today in the hope she can identify it as Mrs. Smith's.

Since then every Chinatown section of every city has been searched in vain for the couple. Leading Chinese of every city have promised authorities they would surrender Jung if they discovered him.

TOWNS SUBMERGED AS SWOLLEN YELLOW RIVER BREAKS DIKES

PEIPING, July 18. — (AP) — The swollen Yellow river, its flood waters coursing through the North China countryside in three broad streams, was reported today to have broken through the first line dikes in northern Honan province, submerging a large area including several towns.

Eight counties in Shantung province were flooded, driving thousands of persons from their homes. Desperate efforts were being made in the Weishan lake district of northern Kiangsu to prevent an inundation as the rising waters of the Yellow river crept into the lake.

The Hwai river was reported to have broken through protective earth works and flooded vast areas in Anhwei province.

Fire Sweeps Peoria Hotel and Cafe; Loss Is $65,000

Peoria, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—A hotel and café in the center of the business district here were damaged tonight by a fire which for two hours threatened to spread to other buildings. No one was injured. The damage was $65,000. Five firms located in buildings adjoining the three story structure, which housed the Illinois hotel and the Paramount café, reported extensive smoke and water damage.

DE LUXE WIKIES

The idea of "trunks only" for swimming that began in a small way last year seems to be ruling the waves in 1935! That means the trunks you choose must hug the waist—yet allow freedom of action. The patented waistband on DeLuxe Wikies does that aided by the white lastex belt. For another thing trunks must hug your thighs tightly and still allow plenty of knee-action. The specially cut legs do that. Safe, adequate support is taken care of by the special full-seat knitted supporter that is almost a "trunk within a trunk." And Gantner and Mattern DeLuxe Wikies are knitted of fine, quick-drying wool; with a convenient flapped pocket in front. They come in a rich maroon with navy overcheck, or a handsome navy shade with maroon overcheck. $5

FATHER COUGHLIN SPEECH ON LABOR DAY NOW SOUGHT

Priest's Case for Using Field Heard.

Chicago followers of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin whispered yesterday that they had found a way to circumvent the Chicago park district and gain the use of Soldiers' field for an address by the Detroit radio priest.

The method proposed is for the Chicago Federation of Labor to obtain a permit for the field for Labor day, Sept. 2, and to bill Father Coughlin as the speaker for the program.

Inquiry disclosed, however, that the plan may fail because of the determination of the commissioners of the park district against departing from their policy forbidding the use of any park building for political meetings.

Apply for Use of Field.

At the district administration building it was said the labor federation had applied for the use of Soldiers' field on Labor day, but that no contract had been signed.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the park board, and other park officials declined to discuss the Labor day question because of the pending mandamus proceedings in which Father Coughlin seeks to compel the district to rescind its refusal to give him the use of Soldiers' field for a massmeeting.

That matter came up yesterday morning for hearing on the merits of the case before Judge James J. Kelly in the Superior court. The individual commissioners and the general superintendent of the system, George T. Donoghue, are both defendants and witnesses in the proceedings. They have been advised they cannot discuss the case while it is in court.

Father Coughlin's Side Heard.

The day in Judge Kelly's court was devoted to the presentation of evidence by Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson in behalf of Father Coughlin which concerned chiefly the negotiations between the priest and the park board. The spectators' benches in the courtroom were filled.

The witnesses were all Attorney Ettelson's and the only lively exchanges came when Attorney Joseph B. Fleming, special counsel for the park board, sought to show by the Coughlin witnesses themselves that all the contentions that the radio priest's activity is political and radical were true.

The witnesses were Eugene J. Steiner and Louis B. Ward, representatives of Father Coughlin; Supt. Donoghue, and Maj. Lenox Lohr, general manager of A Century of Progress. Ward testified that he attended massmeetings in several cities which were addressed by Father Coughlin, that he is the priest's biographer, and that he was convinced any address he might make at Soldiers' field would not be controversial.

Tells of Lobby Activities.

On cross-examination Mr. Ward said that he is a Washington lobbyist and that among the bills for which he labored on behalf of Father Coughlin were the Wagner labor disputes bill, the Wheeler-Rayburn utilities bill, the Frazier-Lemke farm financing bill, and the Nye-Sweeney central bank bill. The witness also corroborated newspaper reports that screaming and booing marked a Coughlin meeting in Detroit.

The defense also brought out from Supt. Donoghue and Maj. Lohr the fact that speeches by Gen. Hugh Johnson, former Senator James A. Reed, and Postmaster General Farley, about which Attorney Ettelson had asked, were delivered in the World's Fair grounds and not in Soldiers' field.

In reply to questions from Attorney Ettelson Supt. Donoghue said that when "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, then governor of Oklahoma, spoke in Soldiers' field it was on a program of the Chicago Federation of Labor and that the board had no notice that he was to speak.

Attorney Ettelson asked Maj. Lohr if President Roosevelt did not address an American Legion meeting in Burnham park. The witness said the meeting was in the Chicago Stadium on the west side.

The hearing will be resumed this morning, with the park board presenting witnesses in defense of its ruling.

ENGAGED TO ARNO

[Acme Photo.]

MARY LANSING.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Col. and Mrs. Cleveland Coxe Lansing of Salisbury, Conn., and Nassau, Bahamas, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Livingston Lansing, to Peter Arno, cartoonist and author. Miss Lansing was introduced to society at a large ball given at the Ritz-Carlton in December, 1931. Mr. Arno is the son of Mrs. Edith M. Peters and the late Curtis A. Peters, Supreme court justice. His marriage to Lois Long ended in divorce.

TWO HURT IN TANK BLAST.

Two workmen were slightly injured yesterday when an oxygen tank which they were carrying in the yard of the Chicago Metals company, 1622 Elston avenue, exploded.

MOTORIST HELD AFTER HE RUNS HIS CAR INTO BOY

Victim in Hospital; One Killed in Auto Accident.

Charles Pynakker, 24 years old, of the Elliot hotel, 5th avenue and Lake street, Maywood, who on Wednesday night ran down a 14 year old boy in a fit of anger, was held yesterday by the county highway police at their Morton Grove station. No formal charge was placed against him pending the outcome of injuries to the boy.

In the Westlake hospital at Melrose Park physicians said the condition of the victim, Michael Giordena, 1313 24th avenue, Melrose Park, was slightly improved but still critical.

Conflicting Stories Told.

The tragedy occurred in Wolf road near Lake street, in Proviso. The injured boy contends one of his companions asked Pynakker for a ride and was refused, whereupon he kept walking down the road only to realize that the auto was bearing down upon him. He says he fled into the prairie at this point and was run down by Pynakker's car.

Pynakker insists that one of the group of boys cursed him and that in his anger he charged the group with his car, injuring young Giordena.

One Dead of Injuries.

John Crohala, 45 years old, 4531 South Marshfield avenue, died in the County hospital yesterday of a fractured skull incurred Wedneseday when he was struck by a truck while crossing South Ashland avenue at West Forty-fifth street. John R. Oborski, 9522 Chauncey avenue, driver of the truck, was held by New City police for the inquest.

This death increased the Cook county automobile toll for 1935 to 500. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 402 persons had been killed in trafic accidents in the city of Chicago and 8,642 injured.

Four members of a vaudeville troupe, en route to Fulton, Ill., from Chicago, were injured yesterday when their automobile was struck by a truck near Elburn, Ill. Those injured, all giving the address of 1314 North Dearborn street, are Jean Allen, 20; Marie Troye, 21; Laura Ettmeye, 21, and William Gordon, 27. Gordon had stopped to repair a tire when the truck crashed into the automobile.

WOMAN'S DEATH HELD SUICIDE.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Mrs. Isobel McGuire, 48 years old, 5484 University avenue. Mrs. McGuire died July 11 in St. Luke's hospital after she had swallowed poison at home.

ONE WAY TRAFIC SYSTEM TO WEST SIDE APPROVED

The city council committee on trafic and public safety yesterday approved Mayor Kelly's plan to make one-way thoroughfares of Jackson boulevard and Monroe street between the loop and Western avenue. The mayor proposed to the council last week that Jackson boulevard be made a one way street carrying eastbound trafic and that Monroe street carry westbound trafic as a means of relieving present congestion on Washington boulevard. Under the proposal, jurisdiction over the streets would be transferred to the Chicago park district, which would have charge of routing and policing trafic and providing progressive trafic lights. The committee deferred action on the mayor's plan to transfer jurisdiction over the stretch of Michigan avenue from Randolph street to the link bridge from the city to the park district.

STRIKING BAKERS IN DES MOINES READY FOR WORK

Des Moines, Ia., July 18.—(AP)—A delegation of fifteen Colonial Baking company employés told Gov. Clyde L. Herring today that "practically all" the bakers and truck drivers involved in the bakery strike here "want to go back to work."

The Colonial is one of six companies combined in the Master Bakers' association. Bakers and drivers struck last Thursday. Plants of the six companies have been closed since Friday. Union officials have said the Colonial plant is not unionized and have directed their picketing at this plant.

Gov. Herring advised the delegation to see Mayor Dwight L. Lewis.

UNION OFFICIAL WARNS OF FAKE PICNIC TICKETS

George Kidd, secretary-treasurer of the Truck Drivers and Chauffeurs' union, local No. 705, announced yesterday that swindlers were using the name of the union in an attempt to sell tickets to a fake Labor day picnic to be held at Lisle.

According to Kidd, the union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, is not sponsoring any picnic on Labor day or any other day. He added that many cartage and trucking concerns had been urged by the salesmen to purchase the tickets at $1 each.

"The scheme is a fake," he declared, "and we would appreciate it if any one approached by ticket sellers would notify the union headquarters."

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 16; recovered, 18; stripped, 3 [from police records for the 24 hours ending at midnight Wednesday].

DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

William Hilton, 55 years old, a carpenter, died of a heart attack yesterday in the rooming house at 2256 Warren avenue where he lived.

proof THAT THOMAS GROWS HAIR

Wm. Beckmann
(As he is today)

THE above photographs show how Thomas treatment re-grows hair even in extremely serious* cases of complete baldness. Within five weeks after Mr. Beckmann was accepted for treatment in a Thomas office, new hair was visible on his scalp.

Perhaps the condition which is causing your loss of hair may not be as serious as was Mr. Beckmann's. Regardless as to what the cause may be, it will surely lead you to baldness unless you promptly take proper steps to overcome it. Dandruff, for example, is the most common and most deadly enemy of hair health. Thomas treatment effectively overcomes dandruff, stops falling hair, itching scalp and promotes hair growth on thin and bald spots. In fact, The Thomas' successfully treat all of the 14 local scalp disorders which are responsible for 90% of all baldness.

Come in today and have a talk with a Thomas expert. No charge is made for a complete scalp examination nor for consultation. (Scalp examination, consultation, and treatment are always in private.)

The above photographs have been authenticated as genuine, unretouched, and the notary seal and signature of Jerome H. Pincus appears on original copies.

*The cause of baldness in this case was "alopecia areata."

BOW TO HITLER! GERMANY ORDERS CATHOLIC CHURCH

Priests Given Warning by Gen. Goering.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HERMANN WILHELM GOERING.
[Acme Photo.]

BERLIN, July 18.—Relations between the Vatican and Nazi Germany became more strained today when Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, the second most powerful man in the reich, loosed a new blast at the Roman Catholic church.

In a sharply worded manifesto he issued an order calling for the strict enforcement of decrees against "political Catholicism." Goering, who is premier of Prussia and reichsminister of aviation, acted in his capacity as chief of the nation's secret police.

Fresh from a conference with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler in the Bavarian mountains, the dictator's "right hand man" indicated that henceforth secret police will supervise the activities of the clergy, including utterances from the pulpit.

Directs Action Against Priests.

The decree ordered criminal prosecution authorities to take immediate action against priests who are conducting a "camouflaged" campaign against ideals of the National Socialist party.

Within a few hours after the issuance of the decree, new anti-Jewish riots broke out in the capital. Shrieking youths attacked customers emerging from a large Jewish owned ice cream plant. The rioters chased the customers down the streets and manhandled them when they were caught.

Goering, in his broadside against the Catholics, rejected any suggestion of beginning a "culture fight against the church"—as was waged by Bismarck.

"It is absolutely necessary to act with all energy against efforts directed by political Catholicism against the Nazi state," he said.

Severe Punishment Urged.

"Catholic bishops, according to their own declarations, have condemned political activities of priests, but apparently the bishops are powerless. Inasmuch as all warnings have failed, authorities must enforce the extreme severity of existing legislation. Those Catholic priests who misuse their religious authority must be stopped."

Goering charged that certain Catholic movements, such as the Catholic Youth organization, are departing more and more from their exclusively religious activities.

"If the Catholic movements do not fundamentally change their attitude, they will be regarded as political organizations and will be forbidden," he warned.

Warns Church "Political Forces."

Declaring the era is past when the state is unable to protect the church against the destructive influence of the pagan movement (disregarding the strong pagan movement within the Nazi ranks), Goering remarked:

"Thus the church has no further need to embark in political activities. The church may neither invoke God against the state—an enormity of daily occurrence—nor may it organize its own political forces on the flimsy pretext of protecting the state from danger."

He also complained that priests have [illegible] Nazi symbols and expressions [illegible] their own use. He said the initials H. J., signifying Hitler Jugend [Hitler Youth] are used by Catholics to characterize Herz Jugend Jesu [Heart of Jesus Youth].

Similarly, the initials B. D. M., which signify Bund Deutscher Maedchen [League of German Maidens] is used by Catholics for the Bund der Marienmaedchen [League of Mary's Maidens].

Charges Pact is Violated.

The conflict between Nazi authorities and the Catholic church has been growing rapidly. Several days ago Osseratore Romano, official Vatican newspaper, and Pope Pius protested against the German sterlization law, the restriction of Catholic Youth organizations, and the use of Alfred Rosenberg's paganistic book, "The Mystery of the Twentieth Century" as violations of the concordat.

Secret police today arrested M. C. Harbeck, American editor of the German addition of the Golden Age, which is published by the International Bible Students' society in Berne, Switzerland, where the prisoner resides. Harbeck was seized in a bank and charged with attempting to remove sequestered funds of the Watch Tower Bible society, which has been suppressed. He also was accused of attempting to smuggle the Golden Age into Germany. The magazine has repeatedly attacked the Nazi régime.

GIRL'S BODY FOUND

OAK ST. BEACH COMFORT STATION OPEN TOMORROW

The new Oak street beach comfort station will be opened to the public at 10 a. m. tomorrow following a brief formal ceremony, it was announced yesterday by William I. Bell, acting chief engineer for the Chicago park district. Robept J. Dunham, president of the district, will preside at the ceremony. George T. Donoghue, general superintendent for the parks, will talk on the importance of the new Oak street-Michigan avenue-Lake Shore drive pedestrian underpass to the beach, which will be opened a week later.

RECOVER BODY FROM LAKE.

The body of Albert Durosso, 25 years old, 815 North Paulina street, was recovered yesterday from the lake off Ohio street, where he was drowned while bathing.

SUSPECT RAPIST IN DEATH OF GIRL FOUND IN SEWER

Police to Quiz Convict at Joliet Today.

A rapist was suspected yesterday when the body of Marion Cozzo, 17 years old, 6420 South Oakley avenue, was found in a sewer catch basin near 68th street and Fairfield avenue. Miss Cozzo disappeared on the night of Dec. 1, 1934, and apparently the body had been in the sewer since then.

Policemen Joseph Heimoski and Henry Kalb remembered that about last Dec. 15 they arrested Howard Crainich, a paroled convict, after he had raped and robbed a young girl in the prairie near the spot where Miss Cozzo's body was found. Crainich was sentenced to thirty years in prison for rape and one to twenty years for robbing the girl, the sentences to be served concurrently.

Quiz Suspect Today.

Sergt. James McGurk, in charge of detectives at the Chicago Lawn station, said he would go to the Joliet prison today to question Crainich. It was recalled that at the time of his arrest he had the pictures of several girls in his pockets and one of them was remembered as a dark girl similar in appearance to Miss Cozzo. At the time of his arrest it was not known what had happened to Miss Cozzo, who was thought merely to have left home.

The police were notified then that she had left home at 6:30 o'clock on the night of Dec. 1, saying she was going to the home of Mary Petrillo, 7101 South Wood street. She never arrived there and the next day the parents started looking for her.

"Date" on Fatal Night.

Sergt. McGurk was informed last night by a brother, Anthony, that his sister had a date on the night she disappeared with Mills [Micky] Redmond, 27 years old, 6447 South Irving avenue.

Redmond, taken into custody, said that he had known Miss Cozzo, but denied that he had been with her the night she disappeared. Instead, he averred, he had driven in a car to Niles, Mich., with Miss Elizabeth Felton and Mrs. Anna Hanson, sisters residing at 2441 West Pershing road. They had returned to Chicago on Sunday, Dec. 2, he added.

The two women were questioned and denied they had been to Niles with Redmond between Nov. 1 and late June of this year. Redmond was held for further investigation.

Marion was the twin of her brother, Lawrence, and they were the youngest of the family of six boys and three girls. The father, Fred, is a railroad mechanic.

An examination of the body yesterday by Dr. Jerry Kearns of the coroner's staf failed to disclose the cause of death. Dr. Kearns said the girl had not been raped, although it was possible she had been slain while resisting attack. The condition of the body made difficult the determination of the exact means of death—whether strangulation, a blow on the head, or even a bullet or knife wound, he said.

The body was partly submerged. It was found by employés of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission who opened a manhole for drainage purposes during street repairs.

A water soaked notebook gave the first clew to the victim's identity. It bore the name of Lorraine Nicodemus, 6412 South Oakley avenue, and a telephone number. Miss Nicodemus remembered having written the name in Miss Cozzo's book.

Later Mrs. Mabel Cammaro, 5530 South Honoré street, a sister, identified the purse and handkerchief found with the body.

ROBBER GANG'S METHODS TOLD; DAY OFF FOR ALL

The operations of a robber gang that worked on regular schedule with days off for its members, were described yesterday by Joseph Guerin, 27 years old, who was arrested as a suspect in his apartment at 3124 North Damen avenue on Wednesday.

Guerin, an ex-convict, admitted that he was first lieutenant of the gang, the membership of which varied from six to eight. He confessed to participation in approximately fifty robberies in the last six months, among them that of the Citizens State Bank of Park Ridge in which $3,000 was taken. Guerin's share of the gang's loot in the six months was $18,000, he told the police. He said he never robbed people who could not afford to lose.

Nick Succas, who was the leader of the gang according to Guerin, now is serving two prison sentences of one year to life for robbery, while another member, Michael Romanelli, is serving one sentence of the same length. Guerin named the other members of the gang and they are being sought.

EFFORT IS MADE TO HALT COURT ATTACKS ON AAA

Injunctions Are Target of Attorney General.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.] — Attorney General Homer S. Cummings undertook to read federal courts a lecture on law today in an effort to halt injunction suits which are undermining the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

Federal judges were reminded by a formal statement issued by Cummings through the press that there was a law against issuing injunctions in tax cases. Some 200 suits for injunctions against the processing tax are now pending before federal courts.

"A statute of long standing provides that no injunctions shall be granted to restrain the collecting of any tax," the attorney general said in his formal statement.

"This statute has been heretofore adhered to by the courts except in the most extraordinary and exceptional circumstances," he continued. "It rests with the court in each case to determine whether it will adhere to or depart from this statute."

Would Press Collections.

The Hoosac Mills decision, in which the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston declared the processing taxes unconstitutional, will not stop the New Dealers from collecting taxes from any one but the Hoosac Mills, Cummings announced in the same statement.

This decision will not be respected within the jurisdiction of the Circuit court which rendered it, Cummings said, and he added that even District court judges in that circuit were free to determine for themselves whether they will be bound by the decision of the Superior court.

"The decision of the majority of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the first circuit in the Hoosac Mills case does not prevent the future collection of processing taxes except in that particular case," Cummings announced. "This case will be carried to the Supreme court as quickly as possible, since the government does not acquiesce in the correctness of the decision."

Test May be Ducked.

Although he spoke of a quick test before the Supreme court, Cummings intimated that the New Deal may duck this test if the pending amendments to the AAA are passed by congress. The amendments outlaw recovery of any taxes even though they were collected illegally, and it is believed that the attorney general, on the basis of this provision, would attempt to quash all pending AAA legal tests, including the Hoosac case.

Meanwhile the government will proceed with processing tax collections throughout the country except where specific court orders block the way.

Legal attacks in the AAA, however, are already undermining the collections system, reports to the treasury indicate. Processing tax collections during the first 16 days of July amounted to only $19,355,755 compared with $32,588,870 during the first half of June and with $35,736,907 during the first half of July, 1934. This decline amounts to approximately 40 per cent.

Way Opened to Allow Processing Tax Suits in Compromise Move by Senate on AAA Bill

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—The prime purpose of the AAA amendments bill, which was to overcome constitutional objections to the processing taxes by barring suits in the courts, was doomed in the senate today when representatives of all elements reached an agreement clearly permitting constitutional tests. Moreover, suits to recover taxes already paid and to be paid in the future will be permitted if the processors have not passed them on to the consumers.

Action on the section relating to the jurisdiction of the courts was temporarily passed over at the suggestion of Senator Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.], chairman of the agriculture committee, to permit senators to confer on proposed liberalizing amendments. Senator Smith said it was apparent that a majority of the senate favored permitting suits where actual damages could be shown.

Second Major Blow.

The agreement to open the courts was the second major blow to the AAA Brain Trust in two days, the senate yesterday having eliminated a provision giving Secretary of Agriculture Wallace the power to fix minimum prices at which certain farm products could be sold by handlers to consumers.

The administration leaders yielded to the inevitable after an all day discussion in which the scheme to close the courts was assailed as tyranny of the communist Russian and Fascist Italian type.

Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], one of the conferees who worked out the liberalizing amendments, denounced the theory that the government can refuse to be sued as "a fiction" which grew out of the proposition that the king could do no wrong.

"There is an old fiction that the government cannot be sued without its consent," he said. "I presume that we shall have to admit that that fiction is pretty well established in our system of jurisprudence. But it is the most egregious fiction that was ever incorporated in any system—that is, that the king can do no wrong—because, at the time it was incorporated in the Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence, the king did nothing else but wrong, and the reason why the tribunals were denied to the citizens was because of the king's continuous wrongdoing."

Senator Borah said the theory was embodied in our system of jurisprudence by a single sentence of Chief Justice Marshall, but that Associate Justice Miller later held that it had no application in our system of government.

"We had no king and no attribute of sovereignity was inherent in the government, because the people themselves were the supreme power," the senator commented.

"Under no circumstances should we establish the principle in this country that a man who is deprived of his rights, his property, or his liberty cannot go into the courts."

Bailey Makes Attack.

Senator Josiah W. Bailey [Dem., N. C.] was more bitter than Senator Borah in his denunciation of the scheme to close the courts.

"The doctrin of the immunity of the sovereign from suits was, from the beginning, the doctrin of tyrants and in its essence it is tyrannical," he said. "You may invoke it in a free country, but it is still tyrannical. This is a government of laws, not of men. The doctrin of immunity from question—for that's what it is, not just immunity from suits—is the doctrin of communist Russia and Fascist Italy. Mussolini says, 'Away with individual rights.'

"This amendment strikes down the soul of the American republic, compromises us before the world and indicts us before the bar of public opinion."

Norris Makes Defense.

Senator George W. Norris, who has been greatly annoyed by injunction suits against the activities of the Tennessee Valley authority, "resulting in the loss of millions of dollars," denied that the doctrin of immunity from suits was an outgrowth of "the king can do no wrong" theory.

"I do not believe the government could exist if it permitted itself to be sued indiscriminately," he said. "It is not the doctrin that the king can do no wrong, but the principle of self-preservation."

Senators Borah, Norris, Smith, and George of Georgia, another foe of the court closing section, then withdrew and reached an agreement permitting refunds on a showing of actual damages.

More important than the possible refunds, however, from the standpoint of Senator Borah and others, is the opening of the courts to constitutional tests. If the taxes are held invalid, they cannot be collected thereafter, and the AAA structure will fall.

Robinson Sees Adoption.

Senator John H. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.] announced that he would oppose the Borah-Norris-Smith-George agreement, but Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson later said the senate undoubtedly would adopt it. Robinson said he suspected it would cause "trouble," but that he probably would vote for it.

Besides consideration of the sections relating to suits, the senate, by vote of 41 to 34, eliminated the export debenture plan from the amendments.

RITCHIE DECLARES NEW DEAL FAILS; SAYS PAY BACK BORROWING

Baltimore, Md., July 18.—(AP)—Albert C. Ritchie, former governor of Maryland and a leader in national Democratic ranks, tonight continued his broadside attacks on the New Deal with a warning that "the sooner the national government starts paying back what we have borrowed the better it will be for everybody."

Ritchie spoke to the national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians here.

Maryland political circles interpreted the speech to be his notice that he would consider leadership of the conservative element of the Democratic party.

"The New Deal has had its trial," he said, "and has not worked."

Ritchie outlined briefly the course he feels the United States should follow.

"We do not want the executive to legislate, and we do not want congress to regulate matters which apply wholly within the individual state," he said. "Let us direct our attention to building upon the basis of the constitution."

La Salle Voters Approve City Owned Light Plant

La Salle, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—A proposal enabling the erection of a municipally owned light and power plant was adopted today by a majority of 500 votes. Voters ratified a proposition calling for the issuance by the city of $750,000 in revenue bonds to finance the construction. The city has been served by the Illinois Power and Light company, whose franchise expired two years ago.

TREASURY HEAD BOARDS CUTTER AT PLANE BASE

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau arrived at Floyd Bennett field tonight in a coast guard plane, accompanied by Commander L. T. Chalker, chief of aviation of the coast guard, and a coast guard pilot. He was immediately transferred to an automobile which drove to a pier at the seaplane base. There he boarded the coast guard cutter Manhattan which embarked for an unannounced destination. Among Mr. Morgenthau's luggage were a golf bag and tennis racket and it was reported that he would not return to Washington until after the week-end.

Farley Off for Hawaii.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—Postmaster General Farley left this afternoon for New York on the first leg of a vacation jaunt which will take him to the Hawaiian Islands. He expects to return to Washington about Sept. 1.

Find Chicagoan, Educator Missing in Arizona Desert

Flagstaff, Ariz., July 18.—(AP)—Missing since late yesterday in the desolate cinder country, near Sunset crater, Dr. Vaughan C. Wallace, head of the education department at Arizona State Teachers' college of Flagstaff, and his father-in-law, John Hearst, of Chicago, were found today. Hearst was near exhaustion, but physicians said his condition was not serious. Their car had stalled.

DOLE NECESSITY IN '37 ADMITTED BY NEW DEALERS

Four Billions for Works Won't Employ All.

works progress division of the President's four billion dollar works relief fund, today defended allocation of 20 million dollars for "boondoggling" surveys in New York City.

"The surveys are very important and may be useful on a hundred and one fronts," Hopkins said. "Some persons, particularly the opposition press, may say they are a form of CWA leaf picking, but I don't think so."

Among the allocations is one of $540,570 for a survey of surface encroachments and sidewalk vaults. Asked what these were, Hopkins said he did not know, but added hastily that he was sure the survey would be useful.

Investigate Home Work.

Other surveys include: An impartial investigation of homework in artificial flower and feather industries; preparation of a map showing the extent, character, and depth of rock; mobilization neighborhood sources for wholesome behavior among children, and an index of all airplane magazines. More than a hundred are to get funds.

Asked if it would not be better to turn the 20 million dollars into buildings or improvements, Hopkins replied: "Only 30 per cent of the unemployed are construction workers. You've got to have work of all kinds for various kinds of people."

Majority Are in CCC.

During his conference Administrator Hopkins announced that 403,000 persons are now at work under the 4 billion fund. Pressed for an enumeration, he said 388,000 of these are in the Civilian Conservation corps and only 15,000 are engaged in other projects work, chiefly for the army and navy.

Of the 388,000 CCC workers Hopkins said 300,000 were enrolled before the works relief program was inaugurated, and that the 88,000 added since would probably have been added without the works program. He insisted he was technically correct on the 403,000 number of workers, because they are drawing pay from the President's fund.

Declines to "Guess."

Hopkins repeated his prediction that the program will reach its peak Nov. 1, although he refused to give an estimate on how many persons will be employed by Aug. 15, Sept. 1, and Oct. 1. He said he did not want "to make any guesses."

By Nov. 1, Hopkins said, all unemployables on relief will be returned to the state for care. No further federal dole is to be made after that date. He estimated the number of unemployables, without including dependents, at about 1,000,000 persons.

Asked if he believed that the states could care for the unemployables without federal aid, Hopkins said he was certain that this can be done.

FOSTER TELLS RUSSIA RADICALS ARE MAKING HUGE GAINS IN U. S.

MOSCOW, July 18.—(AP)—William Z. Foster, former communist candidate for president of the United States, today told Soviet Russia that the Roosevelt administration has been unable "to satisfy the masses" and that leftist tendencies are going with a tempo never before witnessed in the United States.

Foster's views were presented in an article in the magazine "Communist Internationale," in which he announced a plan to develop a workers' party in the United States.

Foster asserted that the party would be formed by workers and farmers dissatisfied with the two present major political parties and that it might offer a presidential candidate in 1936. He said that the communists' chance of acquiring a leading influence in such a party was strong even if the party were created by the American Federation of Labor.

'CURFEW' AUTHOR 85; HONORED AT SAN DIEGO FAIR

San Diego, Cal., July 18.—(AP)—Rose Hartwick Thorpe, who nearly destroyed her famous poem, "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," before it was published, was guest of honor here today at an exposition reception celebrating her 85th birthday.

The poem was read aloud at the gathering.

Sixty-nine years ago, in Litchfield, Mich., Mrs. Thorpe, then a 16 year old girl, read a magazine story entitled "Love and Loyalty." It inspired her.

She went into a bedroom of her home and on a slate wrote "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight." She was ready to erase the writing when her mother asked to read it. Impressed by the poem, the mother asked the girl to write it on paper. It was submitted to a newspaper for publication, but the author received no compensation.

HOUSE PONDERS EXCESS PROFITS AS TAX BASIS

Byrns Confused by Wishes of President, Others.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Behind locked doors the house ways and means committee today continued its efforts to draft President Roosevlet's tax bill.

An indication that the committee is strongly interested in imposing heavy taxes on excess profits, as a substitute for the graduated corporation income tax as suggested by the President, was seen when the committee's tax expert was told to draw up tables showing the possible revenue to be obtained from an excessive profits tax.

Members Seem Confused.

Otherwise the members engaged in a general discussion of the issues and policies involved. It was reported that they were just as much confused as when open hearings were held last week.

Speaker Joseph W. Byrns revealed that the committee cannot even reach an agreement on the length of time needed to draft a bill.

"One influential member told me that the bill should be drawn and passed by the house within two weeks," he said, "but another equally prominent member said it would take two weeks just to draft the measure."

When the President sent his message to congress about a tax bill for "a wider distribution of wealth" in order to meet the challenge of Huey Long's share-the-wealth program, he suggested that the present flat 13¾ per cent tax on net corporation income be replaced by a graduated progressive starting at 10¾ and rising to 16¾ per cent.

Representatives of industry, however, protested strongly that this plan would penalize small investors in big businesses and give an edge to large investors in small businesses.

Call President Undecided.

The committee then began to consider the excess profits tax. The President, asked by committee members if he would be agreeable to the substitute, was said to have been noncommittal. In the absence of any direct orders to the contrary, the committee decided tentatively to make the change.

Experts informed the committee that with a flat 5 per cent tax on all corporations income over a 12½ per cent profit, the government collected more than $5,200,000 in 11 months of the last fiscal year. Committee members calculaed that indicated excess profits of $100,000,000. They asserted a reduction in the allowable profit ann a heavy increase in the taxes on the excess profits would produce considerable revenue.

One high ranking Democratic member predicted that the President would agree to the excess profits levy, instead of the graduated corporation income tax.

Meets Again Today.

The committee will meet again tomorrow. As soon as the actual work of drawing up the bill is started, Republican members will probably be excluded in order to speed up progress. The minority members are unanimous in the opinion that the tax legislation is unnecessary and ill advised at this late period in the session.

Gary Youth Drowns in Lake; Another Dies at Des Plaines

Two boys were drowned in the Chicago area yesterday. John Price, 17 years old, 832 Rhode Island avenue, Gary, lost his life while swimming with two friends at the Miller beach in Gary. Phillip Noto, 8 years old, a pupil at St. Mary's Training school, north of Des Plaines, was drowned in the fish pond on the school grounds. The boy had been sent to the infirmary with symptoms of measles and evidently fell into the shallow pond.

MELLON ATTACKS NEW DEAL TAX ON CORPORATIONS

Charges Four Breaches of Constitution.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—The New Deal's attempt to squeeze millions of dollars in taxes out of corporation surpluses, thus redistributing wealth, today meet a blistering legal attack on its constitutionality. The attack was directed by Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury.

The Mellbank corporation, holding company for the powerful Mellon bank interests, asked the United States board of tax appeals to declare the New Deal attacks on the "corporate pocketbooks" illegal, charging that it violates four sections of the constitution.

Makes Heavy Assessment.

The treasury has assessed the Mellbank corporation $49,222, or 50 per cent of its 1932 income. The New Dealers charge that the corporation is hoarding income in its surplus rather than distributing dividends to its owners, the Mellon family, so that the owners will not have to pay income taxes on their share of the profits. Under section 104 of the 1932 revenue act such hoarding would make the corporation liable for a 50 per cent tax.

In appealing to the tax board the Mellbank corporation launched sweeping attack on the constitutionality of the penalty tax, declaring it is an illegal delegation of legislative authority, a seizure of property without due process, usurpation of state rights, and an illegal direct tax. The corporation also points out that it is engaged in bank management and was not formed to evade taxes.

Assessment of a penalty tax on the Mellbank corporation is a new phase of the New Dealers' attack on Mr. Mellon, who is already fighting an attempt to increase his personal income tax for 1931 by more than 3 million dollars.

Fits Tugwell Policies.

The Mellbank case, however, also fits into the drive, advocated by Rexford Guy Tugwell, chief brain truster, to redistribute wealth by breaking up corporation surpluses. The internal revenue bureau launched the drive less than a year ago, assessing millions of dollars in penalty taxes of personal holding companies with large surpluses.

In assailing the New Deal's attempt to levy penalty taxes on corporations with surpluses, the Mellbank corporation declared the action was "repugnant" to the United States constitution.

"The imposition, assessment, and collection of a so-called tax upon the petitioner under section 104 of the revenue act of 1932 would be repugnant to the provisions of the constitution of the United States," the corporation said in its petition to the tax board for relief.

Cites Due Process Clause.

The tax means the "taking of the petitioner's property without due process of law in violation of the fifth amendment to the constitution," the petition continues, and "such a tax would necessarily involve the exercise of the legislative functions by the executive branch of the government," violating article 1, section 1 of the constitution.

The petition also attacks the tax as federal usurpation of rights reserved to the state in the tenth amendment and a direct tax in violation of article 1, section 9 of the constitution.

Rep. W. W. Arnold, Illinois, Named to U. S. Tax Board

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Congressman William W. Arnold of Illinois, and Arthur J. Mellott of Kansas, to the board of tax appeals.

NEWSBOY BURNED IN FREAK MISHAP ON MICHIGAN AV.

Michael Pasquale, 15 years old, 931 South Irving avenue, a newsboy, was severely burned by flaming gasoline in a freak accident late yesterday near his station at Randolph street and Michigan avenue.

An automobile driven by Royal Main Jr., 20 years old, 2741 Hampden court, ran out of gasoline and was stalled on the east side of Michigan avenue between Washington and Randolph streets. Edward McMullen, 20 years old, 628 Dole avenue, a friend of Main's got out of the car and started to pour gasoline from a can into the carburetor to prime it. The liquid caught fire.

McMullen flung the can to one side and the ignited gasoline sprayed over young Pasquale. Traffic Policeman Edward Maher seized a fire extinguisher from a passing bus and put out the flames. The boy was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

ICKES PLANNING CHEAP HOMES IN OUTLYING AREAS

Hopes to Drain Slums of Population.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes today indicated the entire federal slum clearance and low rent housing program is to be revamped to meet adverse federal court rulings.

The program originally designed to tear down slum areas and replace them with low cost housing now is to proceed in some sections of the country to drain slum areas indirectly. Secretary Ickes said the housing unit will purchase vacant land in outlying areas on which housing projects will be constructed with a view to draining slum areas.

Property Owners Hit.

"For example," the secretary said, "if you have a slum area of 100,000 persons and can build on the outskirts sufficient homes to take care of the 100,000 persons and the persons move, you get rid of the slum area. The owners of the slum area will have to demolish their property."

The secretary said he believed such proceedure is justified even though property owners suffer. He pointed out that small groups of property owners have balked his housing program in several cities by refusing to take what he has fixed as a fair price for their property.

Those willing to sell will be penalized along with those who are not under the new plan, which Ickes said may spread over the entire country. In most instances the projects have been blocked by less than 10 per cent of the property owners.

Believed Best Method.

"The encouraging of movement from slums to other areas is considered by experts to be one of the best methods of slum clearance," Ickes asserted. "It will be easier for us to get vacant property in outlying areas than to get property directly in slums because vacant land usually is held by only a few owners."

The housing administration dismissed with a shrug the loss this new plan will bring to property owners. They also scoffed at the possibility that property owners might enter into rent competition with the federal projects and thus balk movement from the slum areas.

Officials of the department were convinced that Ickes' indication is a direct expression of the future of the PWA housing division. To support their interpretation they pointed out that no step has been taken to appeal the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati holding that the government has no authority to condemn land for housing.

In various sections of the country those engaged in furthering the slum clearance projects, in a formative state before the court decision, were being suspended until further notice.

PITTMAN DENIES ANY INTEREST IN BUYING OF SILVER PROPERTY

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—Senator Pittman of Nevada today denied a published report that he was a member of a syndicate, along with John J. Raskob, which was buying a $5,000,000 interest in the Comstock silver lode in Nevada.

The senator, credited with being the "father" of the administration's silver policy, said he had been employed by Raskob and stockholders of five silver companies to organize a merger of the properties, but that he was not personally interested, financially, in the project.

"There have been a number of insinuations, some baseless and some even libelous, to the effect that I was advocating a restoration of silver because of my personal interest in the matter," he said.

"I sold out all silver interests I had in 1925 and have not acquired any interests since. While I withdrew from the active practice of law in 1915 and maintain no office, on occasion when my friends think it is a phase of law that I am particularly familiar with I have yielded."

Pittman said he had been engaged as an attorney by both sides in the negotiations, the stockholders of the five interested silver companies and Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, who is interested in the syndicate.

CONSPIRACY CASE AGAINST 3 POLICE ENDS IN MISTRIAL

Judge E. I. Frankhauser of the Criminal court declared a mistrial yesterday after a jury debating the case of three policemen charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice reported that it was hopelessly deadlocked. After twenty-two hours' deliberation the jury stood the same as it did at the beginning, 7 to 5 for not guilty.

The defendants in the case are Marshall Lubach, William Masterson, and Michael E. Murphy. They are charged with inducing plaintifs in a robbery trial to refuse to identify the defendants.

After the mistrial was declared Defense Attorneys James M. Burke and Harold Levy moved for an immediate retrial or a dismissal of the case. The motion was set for hearing this morning when Assistant State's Attorney Donald Thompson asked for time to confer with his office.

U. S. HALTS ALL WORK ON CHICAGO HOUSE PROJECTS

Office Force Suspended; Ponder Next Move.

BY AL CHASE.

All work in the architectural and engineering departments of the $12,500,000 proposed north side housing project and the $7,000,000 south side colored slum clearance project was ordered stopped by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, head of the federal Public Works administration, yesterday. Thirty-five draughtsmen and engineers were "suspended until further notice" on the south side project and sixty on the north side.

According to Washington dispatches this was done to mark time until Ickes decides whether to adopt his proposed plan of buying property in outlying vacant areas or to appeal the recent decision of the federal Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati which declared government condemnation of property for housing projects to be unconstitutional. Ickes said he would leave the question of appeal to the department of justice.

Massmeeting Protests Project.

Resolutions of protest addressed to Secretary Ickes and President Roosevelt against the south side project for colored families were adopted last night at a meeting of several hundred property owners and representatives of civic, social, and business organizations in Kenwood, Woodlawn, Hyde Park, and the South Shore districts. The massmeeting was held in the Kenwood club at 1361 East 47th street and was presided over by Louis T. Orr.

Following adoption of the protest resolutions, Earle F. Tilley of the law firm of McGilvray, Eames, Vaughan & Tilley, who recently filed motions in the United States District court to dismiss government condemnation proceedings on the grounds of unconstitutionality, told of an alleged attempt to buy him off.

$8,000 Offer Follows $1,600 Bid.

"A man supposedly representing the government entered my office and laid $8,000 in cash on my desk, offering the entire sum for the property of my client, although my client originally had been offered only $1,600 by the government," said Tilley, who intimated this was an attempt to "get him out of the picture." Tilley recently quoted a Washington official as having said his suit was the first real stumbling block the government has met in Chicago.

Tilley commented on the fact that engineering and architectural work was suspended on both the south and north side projects, and added: "The government has signalized this project and is going to try to put it through. We must stop it."

The resolutions of protest to be sent Ickes and Roosevelt declared that erection of the proposed south side housing project would be economically unsound; that it would be impossible to rent flats in such a project at such a location at rates sufficient to pay interest on the cost. They also called attention to the fact that the site is adjacent to some of the highest priced residential property in Chicago.

PWA FUNDS CUT OFF FOR LOUISIANA; ICKES BLAMES STATE LAWS

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Louisiana will not take part in the new PWA program, and funds for projects already undertaken in that state have been cut off, Secretary Ickes announced today.

"There will be no PWA funds for Louisiana as long as the state laws remain as they are," he said.

Mr. Ickes made clear that this step was not taken as a political move against Senator Long but because PWA investments in Louisiana were endangered by several laws, one of which provides that local boards shall take part in administering all federal projects.

Senator Long telegraphed the senate today that he would seek recognition in the senate tomorrow morning "to discuss the issues of the day," and some thought he might touch on this subject.

President Roosevelt indicated in his press conference yesterday that he thought the new Louisiana laws might make it necessary to cut off PWA funds. The step has been under study for several months.

PEERS, DIPLOMATS GO HUNGRY IN NAVAL 'DISASTER'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18. — "Remember the Maine" soon will be as well understood in England as the same cry was a generation ago in America and both refer to naval disasters. Fortunately for England, the latest Maine disaster involved only starvation for diplomats, members of parliament, lords, and distinguished visitors.

The Maine was the ship chartered by the admiralty for these distinguished guests to see the royal review of the fleet. The trouble was that catering arrangements broke down. The result was a spectacle of ambassadors, peers, and members of parliament fighting in the galley for a sandwich and a glass of beer to satisfy their hunger and thirst.

Because of the mixup both food and pay for the fleet were sent to Weymouth instead of Portsmouth, and for several days before the review sailors were living on hardtack. The whole matter will be thrashed out in the house of commons Tuesday.

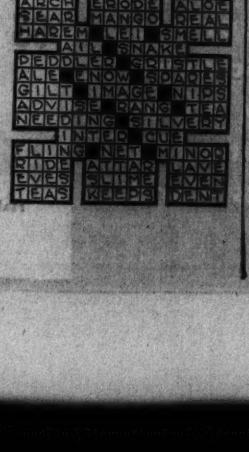
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



One quick 'getaway'
can use up a whole 'mile' of gasoline—

SHIFT
SHIFT
4 out of every 5 miles you drive — are stop and go

Today's constant starting, shifting and accelerating waste your money unless your gasoline has these Three Kinds of Power

YOU often start up from a full stop over 30 times a day. And a single zooming getaway, engineers and car manufacturers will tell you, can use 33% more gasoline than normal driving.

This means you need a gasoline with power for HARD PULLING.

But one kind of power alone can't save you money in today's stop-and-go driving. You also need power for INSTANT STARTS.

And your gasoline must be economical in STEADY RUNNING as well!

It's one thing to put these three kinds of power into a gasoline, but it's an even bigger engineering job to have them in the right proportion . . . in perfect BALANCE. But that is the feat Shell engineers accomplished in creating Super-Shell—the FIRST truly balanced gasoline . . . the gasoline that saves money 3 WAYS!

Fill your tank today with Super-Shell at one of Shell's 30,000 neighborly service stations spread from Coast to Coast.

SAVES in 3 ways—

STARTING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on every "cold" start. Even on sizzling summer days, your engine is relatively "cold" when not running, because normal temperature under the hood when running is over 150°.

PULLING—It can save up to a cupful in 10 minutes of hard pulling, or in rapid accelerating, or hill climbing.

RUNNING—With its extra heat units, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful, many motorists report, in an hour on the long stretch—thus saving on LONG RUNS as well as on short trips.

Remember, when you save 16 cupfuls, you save a whole gallon!

ASSOCIATED GAS FILES SHORN OF LOBBY EVIDENCE

Source of Anti-Utility Bill Wires Told.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Representatives of the Associated Gas and Electric company, testifying before the Black lobby committee in a cross-fire of photographers' flash guns and derisive senatorial questions, today admitted that they solicited letters and telegrams opposing the Wheeler-Rayburn utility bill and then destroyed their records.

The witnesses denied knowledge of the mysterious "bonfire" in the Western Union office at Warren, Pa., described by telegraph company employés yesterday, but they admitted reluctantly the destruction of their private records on orders from superiors.

"Something from Nothing."

The purpose of this "clearing of the files," according to E. W. O'Brien, district security sales representative at Reading, Pa., was to prevent "the making of something out of nothing."

"O, the records were of no consequence, so you ordered them destroyed," commented the zealous "power trust" baiting Hugo L. Black of Alabama.

Senator Black made a great deal of the fact that R. P. Herron, bond salesman at Warren, Pa., received his telegraphic subpena late Tuesday, did not take the train to Washington until yesterday morning, and then came by Philadelphia, where he conferred with Attorney William Hill, an Associated Gas lawyer.

Knew of Investigation.

Herron said O'Brien, his immediate superior, called him and told him to "clear out the files on the Wheeler-Rayburn matter" because "the legislative work had been finished and there wasn't any use in having them around."

"Did he tell you there was to be an investigation?" Herron was asked.

"Why, yes, he said there was to be an investigation," he replied.

O'Brien said he not only gave such instructions to Herron but to all the offices in his district, of which there were half a dozen or so. He testified that he spent $4,800 sending telegrams from his headquarters at Erie, Pa.

Senator Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, Republican member of the finance committee, today complained on the senate floor of lobbying activities against President Roosevelt's "share-the-wealth" tax program, which the senator opposes bitterly.

Gets 100 Letters.

He said he had "exactly 100 typed letters, received yesterday and today, all dated July 16, all containing exactly the same language, and all signed by individuals living in New York City, New Jersey, and Baltimore."

Senator Hastings said he thought large corporations had a right to protest against "any such tax," but added: "It is difficult for me to understand how the executives of any large corporation could be so stupid as not to see clearly how such letters originate." He said they annoyed him.

Senator Robert M. La Follette [Radical, Wis.], a soak-the-rich tax proponent, congratulated Senator Hastings on his "forthright" stand.

DRAFT MEASURE TO GET CASH FOR MEDICAL CENTER

The board of directors of the Medical Park of Chicago yesterday approved the draft of a bill to be introduced at the next session of the Illinois legislature seeking aid in the $30,000,000 project to convert a mile square west side slum area into a great medical center.

The bill would create a park district of the section bounded by Ashland avenue, Roosevelt road, Western avenue and Jackson boulevard, and would empower the incorporated district to borrow federal funds. Sponsors of the project hope to get 45 per cent of the money by an outright grant of federal public works money and the remainder as a loan.

Dr. Bernard Fantus of the University of Illinois, head of the committee in charge of the plans, said he communicated with Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, and was told that although the federal government could not undertake to finance such a project directly, the needed funds might be allocated to a municipal authority.

PICKS DAINARD AS CHIEF OF 3 STEALING 2 AUTOS

Omaha, Neb., July 18.—[Special.]—The hunt for William Dainard, alias Mahan, widely sought fugitive in the kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser at Tacoma, Wash., centered in this vicinity tonight. His photograph was identified as that of the leader of a gangster trio that kidnaped Night Marshal Charles E. Mack at Hooper, Neb., last night.

Mack was abducted on a Hooper street, guarded by one of the gunmen while the other two stole two new automobiles. Mack then was bound hand and foot and left under a bridge near the town.

"While the cars were being stolen from a garage," Mack said, "the man guarding me asked if I knew who their leader was. When I said I didn't, the man told me the leader was Mahan, 'the head man in the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping.'"

Dainard was reported to have stayed at a tourist camp near Grand Island, Neb., on Tuesday evening.

POLICE FIRE AT SUSPECTS.

Policemen Robert Forrest and Earl Rumney fired several shots yesterday at three men riding in an auto, believed to have been stolen, at North and Western avenues. The men escaped.

$122,000 GRANTED FOR NEW YORK'S QUIZ ON RACKETS

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—The board of estimate voted today to spend up to $122,000 for the first five months of the vice and racket investigation. The board first questioned Thomas E. Dewey, the young lawyer named by the governor to conduct the inquiry.

It was understood he told the board that he could not hope even to dent the underworld's grip on business in the city with any less.

The board later voted unanimously for the resolution which yesterday hit what seemed a serious snag.

PUBLIC WARNED AGAINST OFFERS OF EASY U. S. JOBS

Country residents in the vicinity of Chicago have been favored recently with postcards offering them, by implication, at least, a rare opportunity to get on the United States pay roll under the "New Deal" expansion.

"Prepare now for independence—U. S. jobs" is the cheering news under a medallion portrait of the Statue of Liberty surrounded by blue sky and rather bedraggled stars.

This is the offer of the Federal Service Training bureau of Detroit. The salaries paid by good Uncle Sam are placed at $105 to $175 a month and the rural residents are informed that a "field adviser" will be in their district soon.

Lure to $70 Mail Course.

Inquiry has been made in Detroit concerning this offer. It is found that the brilliant opportunity held out to the job hungry residents along the Illinois rural routes is merely a series of lessons mailed to students who sign on the dotted line for a training course to cost $70. Ten dollars down will start the mail lessons coming in.

Sales literature lists ten government civil service positions for which training is offered. The training is supposed to prepare students for these examinations. This is a long way from jobs, as the United States civil service commission, which conducts the examinations in each district, has pointed out. Numerous warnings have been issued by governmental authorities, the most recent reading as follows:

"The United States civil service commission receives numerous letters from different parts of the country indicating that misleading information is being given to the public by agents of some of the correspondence schools which give instruction in preparation for civil service examinations.

Warning Against Money Loss.

"To guard against the loss of money for tuition of this kind, the civil service commission wishes to warn the people that no one can promote appointments to positions for which the United States civil service commission holds examinations.

"Before paying money for tuition, or signing a contract, it is advisable to make inquiry concerning the prospect of the examinations. There is reason to believe that agents of some schools deceive the public as to the probability of an early examination."

It has been several years since examinations were held in many of the positions offered in the advertising of this Detroit correspondence school.

Find No Students in Jobs.

The Detroit school has been in operation, according to the Detroit better business bureau, for about a year and a half. The bureau has been unable to obtain the names of any students who thus far have obtained government positions.

Complaints against the school have been received by the better business bureau and by the postoffice department. The bureau has made a report on the subject. It is indicated that one complaint is the confusing and deceptive "refund agreement" used by the school. Complaints have reported failures to obtain refunds.

HORNER PONDERS CHANGE IN STATE PAROLE SYSTEM

Approves Revisions Urged by Chamberlin.

Gov. Horner revealed yesterday that he has under consideration a reorganization of the Illinois parole system as recommended by Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission. One of Chamberlin's suggestions is that a full time board of five members to be appointed for 15 year terms replace the present board of seven, who give only part of their time to parole board duties and who are subject to removal at any time.

Chamberlin recommended a consolidation of all state agencies handling probation, incarceration, parole, and after-care of offenders. Under his plan the judges would lose the right to place convicted persons on probation, that prerogative being left to the state authority. On this proposal Gov. Horner disagreed.

Horner Upholds Courts' Function.

"I think probation is the proper function of the courts and ought to remain there," Gov. Horner said.

Chamberlin made a report of 10,000 words to the governor after a six weeks' survey, and at the governor's request. Back of it, he said, is sixteen years of observation as director of the crime commission.

His report concerned itself with the various stages of the handling of criminals from the time of conviction. There are eighteen to twenty factors that ought to be taken into consideration in paroling a convict, he declared, and the life history of the criminal should be studied by every member of the board.

Chamberlin's objection to the present system is that one group of persons has custody of the criminal, another group decides when he shall be paroled, and a third has supervision of the parolee.

Opposes Political Control.

One of Chamberlin's criticisms of the present system is that board members and parole agents are political appointees and often without sufficient experience. Appointees under his plan would be nonpolitical.

"Mr. Chamberlin has been, on the whole, fair in his criticism of the present parole system," Gov. Horner said. "He has advocated many changes. Some of them require legislation. Others necessitate the appropriation of extra funds for the department of public welfare. There are many recommendations, however, which can be put into operation at once."

At the governor's office in Springfield it was said some legislation suggested by Chamberlin might be considered at a special session in the fall.

BRUNO AUSTIN'S LUCK FAILS; HE IS SEIZED IN KILLING

Bruno Austin, 26 years old, a persistent criminal, is convinced that luck has deserted him and that further war on organized society is hopeless. Last night, at the state's attorney's office, he confessed that he was one of the four holdup men who shot and killed a bystander in a store robbery on Monday.

"I didn't kill the man," he said, "but I guess I'll get 99 years just the same. You can't beat the raps when you get the breaks I've been having."

Last of Band Seized.

Austin was the last of the robber band to be seized. Policemen Harold Enger, Bert Gray, and Johnny Collopy found him late yesterday afternoon in a bungalow at 617 South 19th avenue, Maywood, where he was being sheltered by Mrs. Rosanna Bellandi, 22 years old, an old sweetheart. He was clad only in trousers and house slippers, and both his hands were bandaged. He had accidentally shot himself while fleeing from the holdup.

A coroner's jury, earlier in the day, had recommended that he and his bandit companions all be held for the murder during the holdup of Anthony Benedetto, also known as Banetta, 49 years old, 901 South Irving avenue. The others are Alex Shapiro, 21 years old; David Sinnenberg, 18 years old, and Maurice Jacobs, 21 years old.

Testimony at the inquest showed that Benedetto was in the store of Vincent De Rosa at 2229 Taylor street when the gang entered, and that he was shot down when he was slow in raising his hands. De Rosa was unable to say which of the bandits did the shooting.

Two of Gunmen Wounded.

Shapiro, Sinnenberg, and Jacobs were arrested Monday evening in a raid on a flat at 3341 Grenshaw street, where they were being sheltered by Mrs. Sophia Allen, 21 years old. Sinnenberg was wounded and Shapiro, in a confession, asserted that both he and Austin had clumsily shot themselves.

The search had since been in progress for Austin. His wife, the former Marie Brenko, was arrested Tuesday at 2659 West Division street. She declared that she did not know her husband had been in a robbery and that he told her he had injured his hands when an awning fell on them.

"When Bruno was arrested the last time," said Mrs. Austin, "I became a taxi dancer to raise money so he could have a lawyer."

The 19 year old bride, who was separated from her husband Jan. 30 when the police seized him after they had been married in the Russian cathedral at 1121 North Leavitt street, was undecided whether she would continue to help him.

"You ought to let her alone," Austin told his captors. "She doesn't know a thing."

First Charged with Robbery.

Austin was charged with robbery when he was seized in the cathedral. He was later acquitted. Last May he was placed on trial in the federal court ward Bremer, but the charge was dismissed. He had been arrested several times since, but was released each time and the belief in his luck held until he wounded himself Monday.

His right hand had been pierced with a bullet and, as he had no professional treatment, was in bad condition. His left hand had been grazed. After he had made his confession a doctor was summoned to attend him.

Gets Jail Term for Trying to Rob His Benefactress

Taylor Stone, alias John Carlson, 48 years old, a panhandler, yesterday was sentenced to thirty days in the Bridewell by Judge Mathew D. Hartigan in Felony court. He was covicted of attempting to steal a vacuum cleaner from the home of Policeman Thomas Mackay at 1656 North Long avenue after Mrs. Mackay had given him a free meal.

COLD WAVE ON FLOORS WHEN THEY USED GAS

Mrs. Emmett M. Flood of 9754 Loomis St., Chicago, writes about her unhappy and expensive experience with gas. "Nothing could change us again," she says, having gone back to coal.

MRS. FLOOD'S LETTER

Chicago Coal Merchants Association
30 North La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois
Gentlemen:

We had our system checked by experts to guarantee against imperfections but the HEAT PRODUCING ABILITY just was not in the gas. A peculiar cold wave was always present on our floors. We never had real comfort. Our case proved GAS could not do it at any price.

For gas heat installed on Sept. 22nd and removed on December 1st, we were billed $70.30 against our 4 year record of coal consumption (by hand firing) for that same period of $38.25. Our bungalow is large with the entire basement beautified for entertainment purposes, all of which we heated to perfection with coal.

We are happy and contented witn a COAL STOKER—which will undoubtedly pay for itself through economy in fuel consumption. The STOKER is thermostatically controlled and operated by an electric clock and we have whatever temperature we desire any time of the day or night just by moving the regulator.

Our basement party rooms which were useless during Gas Heat are warm again and our cost is much less than half.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR COAL and nothing could change us again.

If you want to see the most beautiful and immaculate basement WITH COAL HEAT "Come up and see mine some time."

(signed) Mrs. Emmett M. Flood

Never Had Real Comfort After Changing To Gas Heat, Says South Side Resident

GAS COST $70.30 COAL COST $38.25

"There Is No Substitute For Coal Heat. Nothing Could Change Us Again," Says Mrs. E. M. Flood

It's bad enough to have gas bills coming in that are twice as big as your former coal bills. If, in addition, your house is so badly heated with gas that there is a "peculiar cold wave" near the floor all the time and some of the rooms are rendered useless because of uneven heating, that seems like adding insult to injury.

Experience is a good teacher all right, but it's too expensive a way to learn about heating your home as thousands of Chicagoans have found out. Here is a picture of Mrs. Flood's house. If your house looks anything like hers you can appreciate exactly what would be in store for you, if you were to make the costly gas experiment that has fooled people for a little while in every section of the city. Read Mrs. Flood's letter.

WHY CHICAGOANS PREFER HEATING WITH COAL OR COKE

You've got to get the house warm and keep it warm to get through a Chicago winter. Here are reasons why experienced householders have found coal or coke to be best:

EVEN HEAT—Coal or coke produces a constant flow of warmth every minute of the day or night. No sudden starting or stopping. No unhealthful fluctuating temperatures.

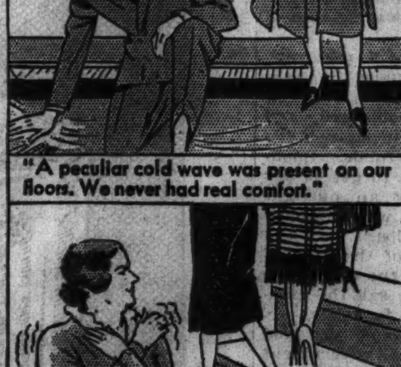
GENEROUS WARMTH—Coal or coke gives all the heat you can stand, whenever you want it; gives a wide margin of heat far in excess of your needs. You may never use it, but it's good to know it's there.

CLEAN HEALTHFUL HEAT—Coal or coke gives you a strong hot flame with body to it. A wind can't blow it out. Solid fuel is wholly contained and consumed in the firebox. No obnoxious odors.

COSTS MUCH LESS—Coal or coke costs much less than gas or oil. There have been many theories advanced to the contrary but when you get down to plain arithmetic you understand why thousands have had gas and oil installations taken out, have gone back to coal or coke.

AUTOMATIC COAL HEATING IF DESIRED—There is no required investment in essential equipment as with gas and oil. However, if automatic heat is desired, regulators are available as low as $19 installed. If self-feeding service is desired, an automatic coal or coke stoker provides this convenience at much less cost than for any other fuel.

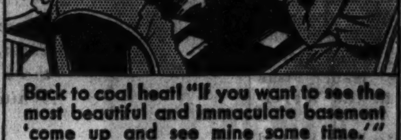
Order winter warmth now—from any member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association. You are assured of honest weight, careful grading, uniform quality.



"A peculiar cold wave was present on our floors. We never had real comfort."

Mrs. Flood couldn't entertain. Had to send guests home. Basement was cold.

Worse and more of it. The gas bill was nearly twice as much as the coal bill.



Back to coal heat! "If you want to see the most beautiful and immaculate basement 'come up and see mine some time.'"

THE EFFECT OF WANING POPULARITY.

Evidence that Mr. Roosevelt is losing ground as a politician is reflected in the activities of the candidates on the Republican side. When men have reason to believe that the man in place is losing his hold and his popularity their ambition to run against him picks up. If Mr. Roosevelt were regarded as a sure thing winner next year the Republican party might have to draft a patriot to oppose him on principle and save what could be saved of a good cause for another time. A man of unselfish aspirations for his country's good would accept the post of honor.

The mission to save the republic from socialistic revolution must be undertaken in just that spirit. If the Republican national convention is to be qualified to serve the country in the most critical times since '61 it must be composed of delegates free from small personal partisanships, attachments, and prearrangements. Ambitious men in the party who are now encouraged by the growing popular distrust of Mr. Roosevelt and increasing dislike of his actions injure the party and ill serve its opportunities by political maneuvers for delegates.

Mr. Roosevelt's popularity is waning because his revealed intentions are not liked. They are feared. As people lose confidence in the will and the ability of the Democratic party to escape from the men who now dominate it they should be given reason to look to the Republican party for their political and social security. They will distrust political maneuvering within the party. The issue demands something far above the rivalry of selfish men. It will be too bad for the country if such becomes the appearance of the Republican party.

LAKE SAILING.

Behind the fact that a fleet of 39 sailing yachts will be raced in the 28th annual Chicago-to-Mackinac Island marathon, which starts from Belmont harbor Saturday, there is the story of yachting's boom on the lake front this year, greater than in any season in the past.

In the famed Mackinac race itself the largest number of windjammers ever to compete has been 28, and that was in pre-depression years. Among the 39 craft to sail Saturday are a veteran cutter from St. Petersburg, Fla., and a schooner from Long Island Sound, N. Y., which mark the first time in many years that salt water vessels have come here for the Mackinac classic.

With all available harbors overcrowded with cruisers, runabouts, sloops, schooners, yawls, and ketches, the lake front is faced with a shortage of yacht moorings for its 1,500 pleasure craft. There were 1,340 yachts registered in Chicagoland last year, which was higher than in 1928 or 1929, which is more than can be said for the popularity of other sports. Yacht building is an industry, as well, that is growing here with the sport. The Chicago Yacht club, celebrating its 60th anniversary with the coming Mackinac marathon, is erecting a $10,000 temporary sailing station [clubhouse] in Grant park. Three new yacht clubs, organized last season, and the new yachting branch of the Lake Shore Athletic club, formed last month, bring the number of clubs in the city to more than a dozen.

It is time that the average conception of a yachtsman as a wealthy playboy is discarded. The majority of boat owners are business men. These yachtsmen will tell you that they race or cruise in their yacht, whether it be sail or power, for the relaxation it affords them, their families, and friends.

THE SENATORS LOOK UP THE WORD MEGALOMANIA.

The intentions of Mr. Roosevelt's supporters in the senate are open to suspicion. They are not dissembling their love, but why do they insist that Senator Schall's remarks be repeated day by day? They return to their objections and each time they make it more probable that any one who did not know what Mr. Schall said will know before they are through with him. They would seem to be striking at Mr. Schall and hitting Mr. Roosevelt.

The Minnesota senator said something about megalomania. Other senators sent out for a dictionary and when they had looked the word up they were so mad they couldn't let the matter rest for a week. So it is gradually getting about.

Usage has softened the word a great deal. It has come to mean a propensity for undertaking things beyond ability or need. There may be delusions connected with it. A general may not be Napoleon. A member of the British ministry may not be Chatham. An American secretary of the treasury may not be Alexander Hamilton. An American statesman may not be Thomas Jefferson. An Indian chief may not be Sitting Bull.

What Mr. Schall said would have had small circulation. The protesting senators have put it on all wires. Was that the purpose?

A ONE-HORSE JUDGE MAKES HAY.

A one-horse judge in New York delivered himself of a long winded opinion the other day as a prelude to annulling the marriage of Clendenin J. Ryan Jr. Young Ryan had married an Austrian countess. The judge found that the bride went to the altar with her fingers crossed. She had a boy friend back home and a mother who fixed up the marriage with a view to grabbing a substantial slice of the Ryan fortune.

There can be no reasonable objection to the judgment of the court, assuming his facts were correct, and no objection to his stating such of the facts as were relevant to the formation of his opinion. But he went far beyond these limits in delivering a top-lofty lecture on the subject of title-buying and gold-digging, with unmistakable references to Barbara Hutton. Thus he made most of the front pages of the country, including ours.

As a publicity man the judge is in the big time. In New York, where they have peculiar standards, he may even be considered a great jurist in view of his success in making the papers. Elsewhere, and particularly wherever there is respect for courts and the judicial process, his opinion brands him as lacking fitness for the office he holds. It is not his business as a nisi prius judge to write essays. He is supposed to confine his comment to the matters directly before him. If any larger explanation of the questions involved is required, the higher courts may undertake to offer it. That is their privilege, not his, and when he invades their domain he is presuming to be something more than he is and should be severely censured both for his presumption and for bringing the courts of state into disrepute.

What he had to say about the morals of title merchandising is as trite as it is true, but it did not contribute in any sense to the decision of the case. It did, however, bring the judge a wealth of publicity. That, in New York, is regarded as success.

LOWER AUTO INSURANCE RATES.

The fine work which State's Attorney Courtney, his staf, and the Chicago police department have done in the last two years to reduce automobile thefts may be old news by now, but it is not stale news. It is freshened every time a Chicago motorist pays his insurance bill, for as a result of the campaign his premiums are 37 per cent lower than they were a little more than a year ago, before the insurance companies made their first reduction in theft coverage rates.

The methods by which thefts in Chicago were reduced from an average of 97 a day in 1931 to an average of 21 a day during the first half of this year furnish a lesson in strategy and tactics which may be applied with profit in the war on other forms of organized crime.

The strategy of the campaign consisted of an attack on the economic front. The profit was taken out of automobile stealing. The legislature contributed by passing the certificate of title bill and measures providing for stricter regulation of dealers in second hand parts and accessories. The state's attorney and police followed through by vigorous enforcement.

The tactics by which the strategic plan was executed consisted first of admirable organization of enforcement efforts, directed past the actual thieves at the crooked dealers who acted as fences, and thereafter of a changed attitude toward the thief himself when he appeared in court. Automobile stealing was no longer regarded as a prank. The thief, despite his frequent youth, was rightly regarded as a dangerous criminal, and so punished.

In brief, this is the lesson and the formula: Make crime unprofitable, not alone in the ultimate prospect of prison, but in the immediate hope of dollar and cents profit; make enforcement organized and persistent, not haphazard and spasmodic; follow arrests by alert prosecution and sure punishment.

Editorial of the Day

TAKE IT EASY.

[Baltimore Sun.]

Former Gov. Ritchie is known to possess poise and a robust sense of humor and it is a very good thing indeed that he is thus endowed. Lacking such qualities, there is simply no telling what would have happened in this July weather when the former governor read the present governor's interview in Chicago in yesterday's paper.

Mr. Nice took high ground in the matter of public finance. He deplored the deficits which have accumulated under Mr. Roosevelt (as also they accumulated under Mr. Hoover, whom the governor proposes to visit while on the west coast). Mr. Nice also shook his head solemnly when he contemplated the "purchased prosperity" of the country under Mr. Roosevelt. All very well and good. But what was Mr. Nice doing a year ago? He was running as something indistinguishable from a Roosevelt Republican and was belaboring Mr. Ritchie as inconstant in spirit to the humanitarian in the White House. Mr. Nice was flatly against shooting Santa Claus. So vigorous and vehement along this line was Mr. Nice that "No Federal Funds Refused" became one of the tags attached to his campaign.

Mr. Ritchie, who has been in politics a long time and has learned on occasion to do a handspring or two on his own account, probably could take all of that without a grimace. And he probably was able to get by without much more than a grunt when he read those safe and sound Chicago words from the lips of Mr. Nice on the subject of bringing expenditures within the income of governments, and remembered that an appreciable part of Mr. Nice's state budget for the fiscal years 1936 and 1937 will show expenditures met with borrowed money. Mr. Ritchie could take all that. But then he must also take Mr. Nice's personal compliment. The Roosevelt Republican of 1934, safe in the job, now says that the lukewarm Roosevelt Democrat of 1934 is one of the outstanding Democrats of the country.

Mr. Ritchie needs his sense of humor in these July days. And if it should by any chance begin to wear thin we suggest that he remember that nobody wishes more ardently to be comfortable and happy than this same Gov. Nice, and very few men ever were more comfortable and happy in a political job than this same Gov. Nice is today. He is having a gorgeous time. But things cannot be perfect for Gov. Nice until he is able to talk like a regular Republican partisan. The job is lovely, but he cannot fully enjoy it if he must talk as he talked while trying to get the job. Some allowances must be made for human nature and human limitations.

WAR AND PEACE.

WAR—1865.

There was the usual afternoon group tilting back in their chairs on the porch of Jim Applegate's grocery store at Boggler's Grove as Hiram Smitters stumped up, whacking the end of his wooden leg with hard whacks on the sidewalk.

"Evening, Hiram!" said Jim Applegate. "Glad to see you. You was pretty badly shot up in the war and I wonder if you would mind tellin' us about it. Some of the boys here have never heerd."

"Well," said the veteran as he settled down in the cane bottomed chair that Jim brought out, "there hain't much to tell. I enlisted better than four years ago, when the war first broke out. We went into a big camp fer instruction down near Springfield. Then the regiment got organized and we marched away. I was in the battle at Belmont when the Johnnies came across the Mississippi and chased us back. That was where Grant was first heard of. I got two bullets through my body and fell down and would have stayed there for all of old Grant; he didn't have any use for a man once he got wounded. But two of the boys picked me up and dragged me down to the steamboat and took me back to the hospital at Cairo. I didn't hitch up with the army agin until just in time fer Shiloh, and I was with Gineral Prentiss in the Hornet's Nest, and the boys allus said it was my bullet that killed Gineral Sidney Johnston. Some of us managed to retreat out of that place, and the whole army would of been gobbled up, and that would have been the last of old Butcher Grant, for he was in command, but at night Gineral Buell's army came across the river and held the rebels back and saved the Union army. But anyhow, Shiloh's where I lost my left ear. A bullet took it off as slick as you please.

"Next I was with old Rosie—that's Gineral Rosecrans—at Stone's River. The Johnnies swooped down on us like a cyclone and run us clear back to the Nashville Pike, and I got that big scar in my chist, see. That was a bayonet did that. I had my leg broken by a spent cannon ball at Chickamauga, and I got that big scar on the side of my face from a shell splinter at Kenesaw Mountain. But as soon as I got patched up I was in the ranks agin trailing along behind old Pap Thomas, who was a greater gineral than Sherman if you ask me. I was in the skirmish line when Hood smashed into us at Peach Tree Creek, the rebels a fightin' like crazy men. We got orders to charge a battery, an' when we got right close up to it they let go a last shot and it took off my leg. When I was being carried back to the field hospital another cannon ball come along and took off my arm. Which finished the war as fur as I was concerned, because I was too trimmed up to do any more marchin' or fightin'. So I come home and here I am."

"Gosh!" said Jim Applegate in an awed voice, "war must be certainly hell all right!"

"You sed it, Jim," sighed the veteran.

PEACE—1935.

A group were sitting around the rearmost table in the roadhouse when Tom Tollivar made his way to them leaning heavily on his crutches.

"Got it again, Tom, did you?" asked Jim Loomis. "Gosh! You certainly have had it worse than any of us fellows here."

"I've had it pretty tough, all right," sighed Tom as he eased himself into a chair and rested the stump of his right leg on another chair. "I got this one at Stony Island and Eighty-fifth. Took my leg right off at the knee. I was driving and a fellow barged into me with a big, high powered car. Say, that bird must have been going eighty or ninety miles an hour. My car did three or four somersaults and landed up against a brick wall with my leg all twisted up in the car so bad they had to amputate."

"Where did you lose those three fingers on your left hand?" asked Bob Buckster.

"That was at the corner of Loomis and one of them fool side streets. I was on the back seat that time and I guess we were going pretty fast, for we had been hoisting a few drinks. It was midnight and dark as a stack of black cats when—zowie—we went right head on into a truck. Three fingers off my left hand that cost me. That scar on my face I got from a Hit-and-Run bird that sideswiped me when I was crossing the street to the drug store. Then last summer when we wuz coming up on Illinois Route One, you know all the right angle turns on that road, I came around one of them corners too fast and couldn't make the grade and smash we went into a tree. I had four or five ribs and an arm broken, but two of the boys on the back seat was killed. I got my face pretty well cut up when we had a head on collision with a farmer out in New Mexico. I went right through the windshield. The man sitting on the front seat with me was killed. Well, I'm tired of talking about all my bumps and bruises. Is there going to be a war in Africa?"

"I suppose so," sighed Jim Loomis. "Won't humanity ever learn nothing? Think of it; another war with all the boys that will be killed and wounded."

"It's an awful thing, war is," sighed Tom. "But listen; what was that big crash down the street just now?"

"Jest a cuppla limoseens wot come together head on a block down the street. Bet somebody got hurt pretty bad; they was both going mighty fast. Who ordered the Martini?"

"Oh, is that all," said Tom Tollivar. "Well, as I was saying, it'll be too bad if they have a war over there. War is certainly hell all right!"

"You said a mouthful," sighed the bartender.

THE HYGIENE OF THE GALL BLADDER.

BEFORE surgery came upon the gall bladder stage to enact its beneficent rôle in removing disease, dietary management was the chief reliance of physicians, and many valuable suggestions grew out of their experiences. The perfection of abdominal surgery to the point of relative safety seemed a simple way of relieving distressing symptoms and, because of the comparative ease with which gall bladders were removed, dietary factors were thrust into the background.

Within recent years, however, due to a better understanding of the chemistry of foods, the dietary management of many conditions [including disease of the bile passages] has been greatly improved. Gall stone attacks [gall stone colic] have been studied in relation to food intake and an analysis of more than 1,000 cases showed that in 60 per cent the appearance of acute symptoms followed the eating of a meal consisting of a substantial quantity of fat.

Just what effect fatty food has on the gall bladder has not been explained, although it is probable that it stimulates first the liver and secondarily the gall bladder. One investigator showed that overeating plus constipation would bring on gall bladder pain in a high percentage of cases. He was able to maintain most of his patients in comfort through the avoidance of too much food and the taking of a considerable quantity of green vegetables. Both the cellulose [fiber] and the iron contained in the green coloring matter of the vegetables aided liver function.

Much has been written about a substance contained in fats known as cholesterol. This is one of the chief constituents of gall stones and, in order to prevent the formation of stones, foods that are rich in cholesterol, such as egg yolk, butter, cream, liver, and calves' brains, are either reduced greatly in amount or omitted entirely. Foods fried in fat of any kind are particularly objectionable. In this connection foods containing vitamin A are important, as the absence of this particular vitamin may favor stone formation.

Many authorities believe that whenever gall bladder disease exists there is an accompanying inflammation of the liver that at times may be fairly extensive. Whenever such a condition is present starches should make up a large part of the diet. Even though protein has a tendency to stimulate the liver, meat once a day is necessary to preserve muscles from destruction incident to body activity.

Sometimes gall bladder patients are thin and will need more food in order to increase resistance and, even at the risk of increasing the formation of gall stones, cream may be prescribed. It has been shown that fresh butter fat is less objectionable than the same amount of fat used in cooking. As soon as possible the supply of cream and fats of all sorts should be reduced to a minimum.

We may say, then, that the diet of the gall bladder patient should be largely fresh vegetables, with starches and sugars and one helping of lean meat per day. In this way the patient can be maintained in excellent nutrition and constipation will be cared for through the increased amount of cellulose supplied by vegetables. [We have a list of permitted foods for those whose gall bladders do not function properly. Send a stamped and addressed envelope for this sheet.]

Exercise is important, because muscular movements stimulate the flow of bile and relieve stagnation within the liver. Walking and all forms of sports in moderation are advocated, and even the old fashioned setting up exercises are of value. If some slight pain and a full feeling occur regularly after meals hot packs over the liver area will relieve the congestion.

Surgery may be necessary if the gall bladder is greatly distended, positively infected, or if it contains stones that are too large to pass into the bowel.

"LUMP" IN STOMACH.

E. R. writes: In one article you described a "lump" in the stomach. I have been bothered with this sensation for three weeks. I know it is a nervous condition, for when I had it about three years ago and took bromides the feeling went away. The doctor called it a spasm or contraction of the pyloric entrance. I understand that rest and quiet are essential. What would you suggest?

REPLY.

If the stomach is unduly active the contractions may be felt as lumps, or waves passing across the abdomen from left to right. Your physician can prescribe some simple sedative that will be effective.

BLOOD PRESSURE.

M. P. A. writes:

1. What should be the blood pressure of a woman of 58?

2. Do you advise taking medicine continually to keep the blood pressure down?

3. Do most modern physicians believe in having people suffering from high blood pressure use a moderate amount of meat, tea, and coffee?

4. Are people suffering from high blood pressure fortunate in having nose hemorrhages so that some loss of blood will relieve the pressure?

5. Where can I get literature on the subject?

REPLY.

1. About 134 [systolic].

2. No. Good hygiene, which includes rest, diet, and exercise, are more effective.

3. Depends upon all the factors involved. With certain patients tea and coffee should be omitted entirely. In others they may be used moderately. Each individual not completely at rest in bed will need some protein food [meat]. On the average the normal body requirement of an adult is 75 grams or 2½ ounces per day. To use less than this will interfere with the protein balance of the body.

4. Nose bleeds in these persons are not harmful unless they are profuse.

5. For years we have been distributing a small booklet on "Abnormal Blood Pressure." Send 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope for it.

RIGHT TO CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, July 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is common law marriage a bar to citizenship, person showing good character otherwise? 2. Has the diversity of state laws got anything to do with this? 3. Would such information be made known to parties witnessing when getting final papers? 4. How does one go about legalizing entry as per the 1921 regulation? G. S.

1. We see no reason why this should be treated as a basis for refusing naturalization, if that is what you mean to ask, but the best way to ascertain the attitude of the naturalization office is to take the matter up with them.

2. Common law marriage is permitted in some states and not in others. A so-called common law marriage relationship entered into in a state which does not permit it would, of course, be simply an illicit relationship and as such would be a more serious objection than the legal relationship entered into in some other states.

3 and 4. Take these questions up with the naturalization office in the new postoffice building.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SUPPORT OF PAUPERS.

Chicago, July 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband is dead over eight years and I had a few thousand dollars which I have spent in paying board to my daughter all these years. I have three sons who are making a living, two are getting along, and one makes a little better than average. My money is gone and my daughter says she can't help me; she is a poor woman. I think the boys ought to give me at least $2 a week each so that I will be able to pay my daughter. How can I make the boys do their part? E. P.

Sections 1 and 2 of chapter 107 of the Illinois revised statutes provide that poor persons who are unable to earn a livelihood in consequence of bodily infirmity or other unavoidable cause shall be supported by the following relatives in the order named, if of sufficient ability: 1, children; 2, parents; 3, brothers and sisters; 4, grandchildren; 5, grandparents. But married women are not required to contribute unless they have separate property. Application should be made to the bureau of public welfare in the county building.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROPERTY SETTLEMENT.

Evanston, Ill., July 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last year my husband started divorce proceedings against me and as we wanted a quick divorce I let him charge cruelty. He made a property setlement in escrow, as a husband and wife can't exchange property in Minnesota where the divorce is pending. Some time back when I left Minnesota my husband had me sign a blank deed as he wanted to dispose of another piece of property during my absence. As far as I know he never had it made out, so I'd like to know whether he can fill that blank deed with the number of my property and in that way get it back after divorce is granted. I did not contest the suit as all I wanted was the home. G. C. H.

We assume that what you mean is that you simply signed your name to a printed form for a deed on which no other blanks were filled in. Obviously, it would be possible to fill up such a deed subsequently and to find a dishonest notary who would take the acknowledgment, and a court might conceivably hold that as between you and a subsequent innocent purchaser you should be the one to lose. The attorney handling the divorce proceedings for you is in a better position to advise you than we are.

BILL 7-19 VENN

Reason, like statistics, can be directed toward predetermined ends and thus be totally unreliable. Probably most of the so-called reasoning done by mankind is of this type. Reasoning is safe only when all the facts are considered, and this is impossible for any man. Reason, then, is dependable only in a relative degree, according to the completeness of the facts which entered into the reasoning process. A thing is not necessarily true because it is reasonable, and vice versa.

PARKING IN SAFETY ZONES.

Chicago, July 12.—Your recent editorial, "No Parking at Any Time," surely must have been instrumental in the drive to clear the loop.

But why stop there? Let's have an editorial on "Parking in Safety Zones." This habit in outlying districts such as Stony Island avenue and South Chicago avenue makes a bottle neck at each corner and obscures vision of the drivers of the moving trafic. F. A. S.

PICNIC FEES.

Chicago, July 12.—The purpose of this letter is to point out the incorrectness of a statement by Mr. A. L. Andresen, published in your paper on July 6.

The forest preserve district has for many years required all picnics comprising more than fifty people to secure a permit and to make a deposit of $5 to insure against damage caused by improper use. If the picnic is properly conducted the $5 is returned.

The permit requirement further insures against too many people attempting to use the same area and permits us to spread the tremendous Sunday load so as to make it as comfortable as possible for everybody. CHARLES G. SAUERS,
General Superintendent, Forest Preserve District.

TWO CONSTITUTIONS.

Chicago, July 12.—Perhaps the President is confusing the constitution of the United States with his own. There is nothing wrong with the former; the latter is probably in need of a spring tonic. L. J. K.

ON SHOOTING SANTA.

Chicago, July 12.—Of course, "You don't shoot Santa Claus." You just grow up and know "there ain't no sech animile." And when you grow up far enough to have dependents you know that in a great many cases you yourself pay for the things Santa brings you. And when we begin to pay for the gifts Santa Roosevelt has brought to us will we love him as a child loves Santa Claus? What do you think?

MAY N. KEHLER.

THE FORD INTERVIEW.

Chicago, July 12.—Today's article, "Henry Ford on the New Deal," by Philip Kinsley, is the most inspiring and intelligent message your paper has printed since the beginning of America's political depression.

I hope you can induce Mr. Ford to further discuss the problems of the day. We need his clear thinking and guidance. MARY E. WHITEFORD.

THE GOVERNMENT'S TERMS.

Adrian, Mich., July 11.—I was interested and astonished in reading an editorial in THE TRIBUNE on July 6 entitled "The Government Tries to Make a Deal with THE TRIBUNE." What especially astonished me was the request that the bid should include a promise to abide by whatever future legislation might be enacted, and the message from the signal corps repeated the same request.

This may be old stuff to others, but it is new to me, and it seems to me that if such practices prevail they should have further publicity. STUART H. PERRY.

PUBLIC SERVICE.

Chicago, July 12.—Yesterday in translating an article from the French language I encountered three unfamiliar words and one highly technical phrase, the translation of which was most important to the meaning of the article. I called Tribune Public Service and the young lady not only gave me the literal translation of each word and the phrase, but also aided me in applying their proper idiomatic meaning in the article.

I should like to compliment THE TRIBUNE on its choice of courteous, gracious employés who fulfill this service, as well as upon the variety of information that is supplied to the public in this way. Tribune Public Service is becoming a byword in our office when any important factual information is desired.

SYLVIA J. GUTSTADT.

QUESTIONS.

Racine, Wis., July 13.—Are we becoming a race of feeble-minded and degenerates that so many kotow to those in high position who have abandoned all but a superficial pretense of being actuated by high principle?

Millions of our fellow citizens have gone completely haywire. They seem to have parked their thinking apparatus and surrendered the parking checks. Can these parking checks be recovered and the dormant apparatus revived and restored to the erstwhile right thinking owners in time to save us, or are we all to go down to destruction together?

MARY WINDSOR.

FORECAST.

Racine, Wis., July 12.—Paul Sinclair, who calls himself a Republican, does not like Mr. Orr's marvelous cartoon, "The Four Horsemen." What he fails to realize is that the people of this nation no longer have the slightest respect for, or confidence in, the man who now sits in the White House, but he will realize it fully when the people of this nation go to the polls in 1936.

MARGARET E. NAYLOR.

DEAR BENITO.

Chicago, July 12.—Here's an open letter to Mr. Mussolini:

"Why don't you jump your Italian soldiers into the Philippine Islands? The Japs have bulldozed and frightened the Americans out of those rich possessions and the pacifist traitors in this country will prevent our government from trying to stop you, and the Japs will not dare to thumb their noses at you."

HENRY J. BARTON, LL. B.

A THOUSAND MILLION.

Gary, Ind., July 15.—Every day you speak of the spending of billions of dollars. In today's paper your first editorial is headed "Four Billion Dollars Talks to Congress." The average person has no more conception of what a billion is than he has of the infinity of time and space. He cannot conceive it. If you would say one thousand million instead of one billion the reader would then be able more fully to understand what a billion means. If this suggestion is carried out I think it will help very much in your campaign against this needless spending of the people's money. H. H. HIGHLANDS.

DESORT OFFERS PLAN TO ABOLISH ALIMONY PRISON

Urges Divorce Be Made Civil Transaction.

"Marriage was a profitable partnership, not a private debauch; it was a way whereby a man and a woman, working together, might be more prosperous than if each worked alone. Wherever, in the history of civilization, woman has ceased to become an economic asset in marriage, marriage has decayed; and sometimes civilization has decayed with it."—Will Durant, in "The Story of Civilization."

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

In line with changing public sentiment concerning the relations of men and women, Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort, who has spent three and a half years in the Divorce court, suggested yesterday a legislative change which would soon reduce alimony row in the county jail to a memory comparable with the cell of Mr. Pickwick. The only persons he would leave in a cell are those men who refuse to support their children.

"Marriage is a civil contract," he said. "Why not settle divorce problems, the alimony problem, along civil lines?

"Under the present law alimony is by court order. If, at any later time, the man's financial circumstances improve after this the woman may come in and claim an increase. In many instances she gets it, as the judge under the law is practically duty bound to give it to her. If the man's circumstances change for the worse, he may go to jail.

"Settle Issue Forever!"

"My proposition is to treat this alimony matter as a civil matter. At the time of the divorce the partnership passes out. The man after that is dead to the woman. If he had really died she would be entitled to one-third of his estate.

"Let the court consider the financial condition of the man at the time of the divorce only. Let a judgment of a gross payment be entered which will settle the matter forever. If the man and the woman have been married for only a few months, let the amount be small. She has done nothing to help his economic welfare. If they have been married twenty-five years, let us say, and has contributed to his success, she may be entitled to an equal division.

"This would be in the nature of a judgment, not a court order subject to alteration. We could put into the judgment that annual payments would be made, or monthly, as it seemed best.

Would Sign Notes.

"The man would give interest bearing notes, which it would be to his advantage to keep paid up. Security could also be demanded in the form of bonds or a mortgage, so that in failure to make payments a civil foreclosure could be taken and the matter settled like any other civil affair.

"This sort of legislation would not affect child support. This is distinct from alimony. Children of divorced couples become wards of the court and the court sees that the payments for support are made. Those who refused to make the payments would still have to go to jail. I think there would be no objection to this, and now that women have rights equal with men and have the same chance of employment, they should be treated in divorce on some such basis as this rather than the present method by which a girl may marry a man without thought of being a help to him and then may get a divorce and be an economic drag around his neck for the rest of his life.

"If women are emancipated, man ought to be, so far as his relationship with his wife is concerned.

"In the great majority of cases I think this would be a better plan for women also. I know that many of them would like to get a lump sum settlement. Under the present plan alimony stops when they remarry. This thought of no more alimony deters many women from remarrying."

Would Free Both Parties.

"A normal settlement would free the man and the woman alike. It would be fair and equitable, like a dissolution of partnership.

"The alimony is a sort of pension which hampers the lives of many women. This new arrangement would free them, make them self-reliant, and give them a new chance. It would promote her happiness and permit her to live her own life, undeterred by the fear of losing an income."

Judge Desort has observed that divorces fell off in number during the depression and since that time have been steadily increasing in number. He thinks that the reason in part is that women preferred to stay in any haven in such a storm and also that many of them decided to wait for divorce proceedings until their husband's financial condition improved.

BEDROOM SCENE ONLY GAG, SAYS LEAH C. SEWELL

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Leah Clampitt Sewell described today as "just a gag" the hotel bedroom scene which precipitated Mae Elizabeth Keaton's divorce suit against Buster Keaton, movie comedian, and her $200,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Sewell.

"I understand Mrs. Keaton charges she walked into a room in a Santa Barbara hotel and found her husband on the bed with me," said Mrs. Sewell.

"I don't know anything about it. I was asleep. There were several other people in the room. They told me that Buster—just kidding—had made a running jump and landed on the bed by me just as his wife walked in the room.

"It was just a gag."

"I want a vacation. I've been 'courting' for a long, long time now."

Mrs. Sewell was in court again today in a hearing on property matters involved in her divorce suit against Barton Sewell, Beverly Hills millionaire. They were co-respondents in the recent marital battle between Walter and Jane Emerson, in which "wife swapping" testimony figured.

Kicked in the Shins—After 40 Years! Charges Husband

After forty years of married life, Mrs. Tamar May Huson, 59 years old, kicked her husband on the shins, threw rubbish on his bed, and then locked him out of their home at 5079 Catalpa avenue, according to a bill for divorce filed in the Superior court yesterday by Benjamin Huson, 61 years old, owner of a florists' supply company at 4300 Armitage avenue. Huson asks the court to issue an order instructing his wife to permit him to return home.

FREED IN INJURY CASE.

Cornelius Rea, 33 years old, 1750 West 14th street, arrested July 3 when he was alleged to have injured the wrist of a boy playing in front of 1544 Roosevelt road, was freed yesterday by Judge J. William Brooks when the complainant did not appear.

SWEITZER GIVEN DELAY TO AUG. 12 IN CRIMINAL CASE

Commissioner Miller Asks New Treasury Audit.

Judge E. I. Frankhauser in the Criminal court yesterday continued to Aug. 12 the deadline for the filing of preliminary motions by the defense for the trial of Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer, on a charge of withholding public funds. A month ago the judge set July 22 as the date on which the motions must be ready for argument, but he allowed the postponement on the request of I. Harvey Levinson, counsel for Sweitzer.

Levinson said that he had been busy in the quo warranto proceedings in which Sweitzer is attempting to regain his office and had had no opportunity to prepare briefs in the criminal case. Assistant State's Attorneys Marshall V. Kearney and Leslie E. Salter made no objection to the continuance. Sweitzer was not in court.

"Not Guilty," Sweitzer's Plea.

Sweitzer has pleaded not guilty to the charge that he failed to turn over $414,129 to Michael J. Flynn, who succeeded him as county clerk last December when Sweitzer became county treasurer. He was ousted as treasurer by the county board on June 6 when he failed to make good the shortage.

Judge Frankhauser said that the case probably would be assigned to another judge on Aug. 12, as he is going on a vacation next week.

Chief Justice Joseph Burke of the Circuit court has the quo warranto case under advisement and is expected to rule within a week. In that case Sweitzer contends that the county board acted illegally in ousting him and asks that Joseph L. Gill, his successor as treasurer, be removed from the office.

County Commissioner George A. Miller yesterday introduced a resolution at the meeting of the county board demanding a new and special audit of the county treasurer's books for past years. Miller said that he has received information that professional taxbuyers, through the complicity of employés in the treasurer's office, made millions of dollars without ever putting up any money in their transactions on tax delinquent properties.

Explains Alleged Practice.

This was accomplished, Miller said, through false entries on the treasurer's books whereby the taxbuyers and employés of the treasurer's office were able to split tax penalties when owners redeemed their properties without the taxbuyers ever having deposited the amount of delinquent taxes with the treasurer.

The resolution was referred to the special audit commission of the county board, headed by Walter L. Gregory, president of the State street council. The commission will meet early next week. A test audit of two of the treasurer's books for past years, revealing inaccuracies and antiquated methods of bookkeeping, already has been made.

FREE PRESS WILL NIP COMMUNISM, SAYS DR. GILKEY

U. of C. Dean Pleads for Constitution.

Neither communism nor Fascism is to be feared in the United States as a substitute for constitutional democracy if the rights of free speech, free thought, and free press are preserved, Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the University of Chicago chapel, said yesterday in an address before a meeting of the Kiwanis club of Chicago at the Hamilton club.

"Democracy is based upon the right of freedom of speech and thought and education," Dean Gilkey said. "Reliance upon the iron fist for the enforcement of unanimity of opinion breeds revolution. The constitutional rights of freedom of expression must not be abrogated."

Sponsors Academic Freedom.

Referring to the recent "Red" investigation of the University of Chicago by a committee of the Illinois state senate, Dean Gilkey declared that academic freedom is as fundamental as freedom of speech and warned that "if the press takes this right from the schools the press soon will lose its rights."

The present situation, in which the University of Chicago has been called a seat of Red indoctrination, is no different, Dean Gilkey said, from that of 40 years ago when the liberalism of theologians on the Midway brought official censure upon the university.

Has Confidence in Youth.

"Questions of theology have dropped into the background," he said, "and today there is a tension over economic, political and social problems. We need have no fear of our young people becoming communists if they have an opportunity to study communism and see its fallacies and shallowness. Americans are too individualistic to embrace communism.

"There is a middle road of the old time, constitutional democracy that can and will be preserved if the constitutional rights of all people are protected."

Fascism, Dean Gilkey declared, is a far greater danger to the maintenance of a constitutional democracy than communism.

Butter Merchant Slain; Letters Indicate Suicide

Bull, 62 years old, a butter merchant and member of the Chicago Mercantile exchange, died yesterday in the Evanston hospital from bullet wounds, believed to have been self-inflicted in the basement of his home at 524 Maple avenue, Wilmette, on Tuesday. Police said letters left by Bull indicated that he intended to take his own life, blaming financial reverses for his act.

GILBEY'S DISTILLED LONDON DRY GIN

NATIONAL DISTILLERS
A MARK TO TRUST FOR QUALITY

THE day that Henry Stanley jumped off into Darkest Africa to find the long-lost Dr. Livingstone, Gilbey's Gin was barely five years old. But even so, its fame was already so great that when Stanley stopped at Bagamoyo for supplies Gilbey's was there on the British traders' shelves.

Day by day, for 69 years, the fame of Gilbey's grew. Where the British flag went, Gilbey's went too. And from placid windows of Piccadilly clubs to crackling campfires at the far corners of the earth, men who loved fine liquors came to know the mellow vigor and rare delicacy of Gilbey's.

Today, the extraordinary quality that made Gilbey's one of the world's great liquors, now comes to you at a most extraordinarily LOW price! For Gilbey's is now made in America . . . which immediately eliminates all tariff duties. And made under the control of America's greatest distilling organization from grain to bottle . . . which effects astonishing additional savings in the price.

When you can have this international quality at the same price you pay now for ordinary gins . . . well, it's your own fault if you don't mix the world's best-tasting gin drinks from now on.

ARMS EMBARGO PLANS STUDIED IN WASHINGTON

Senate Group Considering Neutrality Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Two moves looking toward establishment of arms embargo laws, which have been spurred on by the Italian-Ethiopian crisis, were under way here today.

In the senate a subcommittee of the foreign relations committee was preparing to launch a study in coöperation with the state department of a neutrality program designed to keep the United States out of future wars. Among other proposals they will consider means to curb all arms and munitions shipments to nations at war.

The subcommittee was appointed at the request of Secretary of State Hull. Its members are Senators Pittman [Dem., Nev.], Robinson [Dem., Ark.], Connally [Dem., Tex.], Borah [Rep., Idaho], and Johnson [Rep., Cal.].

Would Prevent Secrecy.

In the house the foreign relations committee was pondering the recommendation of legislation to strip away the "secrecy which surrounds all arms and munitions shipments from the United States" by Joseph C. Green of the western European affairs division of the state department. Green hailed the Pope-McReynolds bill as a step toward enactment of an embargo on arms.

At the outbreak of the Ethiopian-Italian situation the state department made a survey of precedents on army shipment regulation. The survey revealed that the government is practically without control over exportation of war materials.

The only ban, applicable to all countries, is operated under the espionage act which prohibits the shipments of arms on which the army and navy hold patents without consent of the secretaries of war and the navy. Manufacturers of such arms are required to report orders to the cabinet officers. No approval of such shipments has been given by either official.

At this session of congress is pending the Pope-McReynolds bill, the passage of which was urged yesterday by Green. This would create a munitions control board, composed of the secretaries of state, war, navy and commerce.

Licensing Is Proposed.

The board would license all manufacturers, imports and exports. On the theory that "every shipment has a political significance," the bill would give congress information in drafting legislation placing restrictions on arms exports.

The bill would not permit the board to refuse licenses to shippers, a power sought without success by various secretaries of state. The state department believes that enactment of the bill will be a distinct step toward such control.

In his plea for the bill Green said that an embargo feature had been left out deliberately to avoid controversy. He added that it was the hope of the state department that the bill's ending of secrecy would set up a mechanism which would enable the government to carry out an embargo policy in the future.

"Recently there have been reports of the shipment of war materials to Ethiopia and Italy," he said. "I don't know, the state department doesn't know, nobody knows the amount of the shipments, if any, or to whom they went. The bill would give us such information."

Further in support of the bill Green charged that American arms manufacturers had flagrantly violated the embargo against arms sales to Bolivia and Paraguay, which they could not have done had they been licensed.

Quizzed About Ethopia.

The question of arms shipments to Ethopia flared up in a stormy session of the house military affairs committee when Chairman John J. McSwain [Dem., S. C.] charged Joseph Silverman Jr., a merchant, has spent $500,000 to promote his business with the war department. Silverman has been investigated and reinvestigated by the committee in connection with the purchase of excess war goods allegedly below cost.

Silverman said he is still dealing with surplus army goods abroad and was attempting to modify his contract with the war department so that he could sell in this country. Silverman declared that the McSwain estimate of his expenditures covered 15 years and the outlays were largely to a dozen families of his relatives.

"Did you sell goods to Emperor Haile Selassie of Abyssinia?" McSwain asked.

"It would be a pleasure to take his dough," Silverman answered, "but we are not trying to start a war between Italy and Ethopia."

Dental Supply Firms Sue to Avoid Paying Sales Tax

Suit to restrain the state from trying to collect the retailers' occupational [sales] tax from thirty concerns which refine precious metals or manufacture dental supplies, was filed in the Superior court yesterday. The bill declares that since the metals, artificial teeth, and denture and plat materials are sold in bulk to dentists and laboratories, the business therefore is not retail and not taxable.

ENVOYS TO TELL WORLD OF U. S. PEACE POLICIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—In a reaffirmation of the American desire for pacific settlement of the Ethiopian-Italian dispute, Acting Secretary of State William Phillips today revealed that all American diplomatic representatives abroad have been instructed to inform other nations of this country's position.

American ambassadors and ministers in European countries have been advised of this government's peace stand, Mr. Phillips said, and are keeping in close touch with the state department and other governments on all developments.

Phillips' statement was made almost simultaneously with the announcement that the league of nations will meet next week in an attempt to bring about peaceful settlement of the African dispute. The acting secretary said that the United States will not be represented by an observer at the meeting because the controversy is of deeper concern to Europe.

Phillips revealed, for the first time officially, that Secretary Hull had last week notified Augusto Rosso, Italian ambassador, of this country's desire for peace. Following Rosso's visit Secretary Hull summoned the French and British ambassadors to his office to obtain their views and clarify the American position.

In the event of war in Africa American army officers will be detailed as observers with the Italian and Abyssinian troops, it was reported. The war department refused to discuss the report in view of the absence of a declaration of war. The United States has no military aid at the court of Emperor Haile Selassie, although there are two in Rome.

ITALIAN PRESS ATTACKS U. S. AS PRIMITIVE STATE

Irked by America's Lack of Approval for Duce.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NICE, France, July 18.—Attacks against the United States and its institutions appear more and more frequently in the Italian Fascist press.

In today's Gazetta del Popolo a writer who signs himself Bergeret and who was formerly correspondent in the United States for Italian newspapers, writes that America is not yet really a state and that the same ideas which gave rise to lynch law in the south also inspired the league of nations.

The connection between the two is not made clear by the writer, but he says textually that while some may see a connection between sympathy for Ethiopia and lynch law, more clever people see a connection between lynch law and the Geneva institution.

Tirade Against Wilson.

The whole article is a bitter tirade against Woodrow Wilson, who is called a typical President of the southern states, and who for some curious reason is dragged into the Italian resentment against America.

The Fascists always have had a grudge against Wilson for not consenting to give Italy more spoils from the world war.

Bergeret speaks of new cases of lynching in Mississippi and refers to America as a primitive country. His anger apparently is aroused because Washington has not approved Premier Mussolini's campaign against Ethiopia.

The writer concludes with remarks about gangsters in America, with which Italian names are much associated, and asserts:

"Since America is not yet a mature and well organized state, it cannot prevent two dry cleaning establishments from settling their differences about prices with machine guns in a public square."

Bergeret's article illustrates the Italian bitterness at what seems to be felt there as world disapproval of Mussolini's war tactics.

Aims for Absolute Control.

ROME, July 18.—(AP)—The authoritative review Affari Esteri [foreign affairs] today said Italy's aims in Ethiopia were absolute control of Ethiopia's military forces and the right to settle Italians in the African empire.

That disclosure came shortly after Premier Mussolini informed the nation that Italy's military preparations in Eritrea, her colony lying just east of Ethiopia, were already in shape "to face present and future tasks."

He telegraphed to Gen. Emilio de Bono, who for six months has been high commissioner for East African colonies, after receiving De Bono's reports:

"All that is necessary for the life of a population ten times increased and of the metropolitan and native army—roads, water, foodstuffs, barracks, communications, hospitals, and an infinite number of other necessities—have been provided for despite the difficulties, which have been immense.

"In regard to military services much remains to do, but I believe the most difficult period has passed."

Affari Esteri, which often reflects official opinion, said Italy would like to achieve her aims in Ethiopia peacefully if possible. If not, the article said, the nation stands ready to try other means.

JAP ENVOY UNDER FIRE FOR GIVING MUSSOLINI FREE HAND IN ETHIOPIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 19 (Friday).—The Japanese ambassador to Rome, Yotaro Sugimura, who assured Premier Mussolini Monday that Japan has no intention to interfere in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, was the butt of severe criticism in official and other quarters today.

It is held that Sugimura committed Japan without authority, and it is feared Japan's interests in Ethiopia may be jeopardized, in as much as it is plain the Ethiopians will not like Japan's attitude and may make it difficult for this country to make further economic progress there. Sugimura is said in some quarters to face recall.

The foreign office explains that instructions were sent last week to all Japanese diplomats abroad informing them that Japan has important trade and economic interests in Ethiopia and therefore is watching the situation. The diplomats were instructed to act cautiously.

BRITISH NAVY TO QUADRUPLE AIR DEFENSE ARMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18.—The British navy, it was learned tonight, is about to double and eventually quadruple its anti-aircraft armament. This is a tacit admission of the potency of air attacks which are expected to become more and more formidable as the science of aviation progresses.

To date Great Britain's latest battleships and cruisers carried only four 4-inch anti-aircraft guns with the exception of the Nelson and Rodney, each of which have six 4.7 inch guns.

The battleships Warspite and Malaya at present are undergoing large refittings and will, it is understood, have the new standard armament of eight long range anti-aircraft guns, probably of a new caliber and controled as a unit on a director system. The battleships to be laid down in 1937 will each mount 16 anti-aircraft guns of four inch or greater caliber.

ETHIOPIAN KING ISSUES WAR CALL TO HIS PEOPLE

Selassie Pleads for Fight to Death Against Italy.

long efforts to stir up Moslems against Christian Ethiopians have failed. Despite the difference in religion, despite the fact that Somalis and other Moslems are often treated as stepchildren of Ethiopia, they are all determined to fight for freedom.

"We Moslems will be the first to die for the freedom of Ethiopia," declared a scarlet robed Somali leader.

The emperor's determination to resist any encroachment by Italy upon the country is calculated to force European politicians to take a definite stand either for Ethiopia or for Italy. It was a direct challenge to the league of nations to fulfill its vaunted pledge to see justice done.

See Peace Hope Doomed.

There is still a chance for Mussolini to withdraw, though not with honor, and there is still a chance for the league to take action, for the emperor rigorously disclaimed any warlike intent to do anything except seek peace through the league and the Kellogg anti-war pact, but to every one it seems certain that in view of Mussolini's attitude, the dispute must end in war.

It rained, of course, today, as it does every day in the summer in the Ethiopian mountains, but even the heavy rain failed to diminish the enthusiasm of the scene in parliament where all the great of the land gathered to listen to the emperor's thrice deferred and today unexpected speech.

An enormous crowd stood ankle deep in mud to await the emperor's arrival at the parliament house, a severely plain building. Inside, the emperor took his place in a crimson draped box in the balcony facing the president's rostrum and the crimson curtains were drawn back to reveal him in military dress. He began to read his speech almost at once. He made no gestures, never raised his voice, hardly raised his eyes, and he used almost sermonlike tones.

Speech Read to Small Groups.

But this afternoon and evening everywhere in Ethiopia little crowds gathered so that men able to read could read the emperor's speech to their fellows. Little booklets handed out at parliament house took the place of the almost nonexistent newspapers.

There also was a big meeting of young men in St. George's place this afternoon, where the youth of Addis Ababa were urged to do their full duty to their country. There seems no doubt but what they will, but there was not a flag in sight, nor a band, and the only soldiers were poorly dressed conscripts.

LAUNCH 4 MILLION U. S. DESTROYER; FIRST OF FOUR

Quincy, Mass., July 18.—(AP)—The U. S. S. Phelps, $4,000,000 destroyer leader, was launched today at the Fore river yard of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, the first of four such fighting ships ordered by the United States navy.

The 1,850 ton vessel was christened by Mrs. Richard A. Kearny of Washington, granddaughter of Admiral Thomas Stowell Phelps, civil war naval officer.

Navy officials announced that Commander A. H. Rooks, present at the ceremony, would command the vessel.

HILLMAN KILLS 2 DEPUTIES; FLEES POSSE ON MULE

Virginian Tries to Free His Son-in-Law.

Middlesboro, Ky., July 18.—(AP)—Two sherif's deputies were slain today by rifle fire as they led an alleged embezzler from a hill cabin in the Virginia-Kentucky border country.

Their accused slayer, the 77 year old father-in-law of the prisoner, fled by foot and muleback into the hills, eluding bloodhounds.

"We think he's headed for Kentucky, probably Harlan county," Sherif R. F. Giles of Lee county, Virginia, said of the fugitive, Rangy Greene Allan Brooks. "But we've got men out after him and we hope to get him. Whoever catches him will be amply rewarded. I'll see to that myself."

Two of Sherif Giles' men, Arch Redmond, 45, and Robert Bailey, 58, went down before rifle fire from behind them as they led Luther Poore away from Brooks' home. They acted on a fugitive warant from Middlesboro, where Poore was accused of embezzlement. Their bodies lay in the dust an hour until officers got there.

Prisoner Does Not Flee.

Poore did not flee. Brooks, carrying his rifle, slipped out the back door of the place and entered the mountains that ringed it, only 300 yards away.

Giles, helped by Middlesboro police chief, Charles H. Minton, and Sherif J. W. Ridding of Bell county, Ky., took promptly to the trail. Giles organized a posse and sent for bloodhounds.

Poore was jailed at Jonesville, Va., seat of Lee county, on the Kentucky charges. The deputies' bodies were brought to Middlesboro.

Squire Jim Willis called an immediate inquest. Hubert Williams, a neighbor, testified he heard two rifle shots and saw Brooks standing on his front porch. He said he then saw Brooks draw a bead on Bailey, shoot again and Bailey slumped to the dirt.

Testifies to Shooting.

Poore testified his father-in-law shot the officers. Richard Sproles, another neighbor, testified he heard the shots. Squire Willis found that Brooks killed the men.

Meanwhile the posse's bloodhounds bayed on after Brooks. His trail led across broken ground, through winding gullies and rough paths to a cabin far up in the hills. Here, Sherif Giles said, the fugitive got a mule and his trial faded out. The posse concluded Brooks had turned toward Kentucky. Officers there were notified. The possemen kept up their hunt on the Virginia side.

Giles said no reward has been posted for Brooks but that there will be one, if he has to attend to it himself.

Giles held Poore in Jonesville on the Kentucky charges that he failed to report money he collected for a candy firm that hired him.

Park Board Reduces Old Districts' Debts

Quarterly financial statements of the Chicago park district for the period ending June 30, made public yesterday by Robert J. Dunham, president of the park board, showed that during the last three months the board has reduced by $4,722,023 the debts left by the twenty-two districts which it superseded. The district on June 30 had an additional $1,914,634 in cash to be applied against those obligations.

Debts of the new consolidated district increased slightly during the quarterly period from $4,891,193 to $5,629,535. Due to the delay in spreading and collecting taxes, the district has received no tax collections for its current operations, and consequently has had to finance its work through borrowing on tax anticipation warants and from the small amount of miscellaneous revenue earned in the parks.

The debt statement for the twenty-two superseded districts, with comparative figures for March 31, is as follows:

FUNDED DEBT.

		June 30,1935.	Mar.31,1935.
Undefaulted bonds	$88,035,451
Less cash in sinking funds	2,200,512
Net		$85,834,939	$88,236,106
Defaults—
Principal	$ 3,644,666
Interest	2,264,274
Int. on defaulted principal	123,020
Total defaults		$ 6,031,960	$ 5,877,346
Total liabilities on funded debt		$91,866,899	$94,113,452
Less tax collections applicable to debt		2,481,033	1,907,028
Net funded debt liability		$89,385,866	$92,206,424

FLOATING DEBT.

		June 30,1935.	Mar.31,1935.
Unpaid bills	$ 1,015,466
Unpaid salaries	1,445,400
Judgments	14,621
Other indebtedness	607,000
Total floating debt		$ 3,082,487	$ 2,318,042

TAX WARANTS OUTSTANDING.

		June 30,1935.	Mar.31,1935.
In park funds	$ 4,115,042
Held by public (corp. fund)	1,773,315
Held by public (bond and interest fund)	46,963
Total tax warants		$ 5,935,320	$ 8,600,630
Total of all obligations		$98,403,673	$103,125,696

Mr. Dunham's statement also included an account of the receipts and disbursements of the corporate fund of the Chicago park district, from which current park operation is financed. The report, for the period from April 1 to June 30, follows:

RECEIPTS.

Cash on hand April 1	$ 335,153
Sale of tax warants	1,300,000
Miscellaneous revenue	162,212
Total	$1,797,365

DISBURSEMENTS.

Salaries and wages	$1,336,050
Materials and supplies	362,575
Total		$1,698,625
Cash on hand June 30		$ 98,740

The consolidated park district has paid all salaries to date. Its only outstanding obligations aside from tax warants are unpaid bills, which were reduced from $851,193 to $289,935 during the quarter.

ALDERMAN OPENS DRIVE TO HUSH UP NEEDLESS NOISE

Grealis Seeks Ban as Health Measure.

Cotton in the ears won't be necessary to lessen noise in the loop and residential districts of Chicago if the city council can accomplish what Ald. John J. Grealis [44th], chairman of the police and municipal institutions committee, proposes that it should.

Yesterday the alderman was preparing the way to modernize and enforce the city's anti-noise ordinance and regulations. He intends to introduce a resolution at Monday's council session requesting the corporation counsel to acquaint his committee with the provisions of the existing ordinance. The committee will undertake to include bans on new noise makers, strengthen the ordinance, and propose methods of enforcement.

Causes Family Quarrels.

Ald. Grealis' purpose, he said, is to do something for the general comfort and good health of all Chicagoans as all would benefit from a reduction in the daily clattering and screeching that impinges on the ear drums. Noise, Ald Grealis pointed out, is credited by physicians with being one of the causes of that tired feeling, a contributory factor in irritability and displays of bad temper, and because of that an agent in the domestic quarrels.

"There is a wear and tear in the effect of noise on one's energy and physical and mental strength," said Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the city board of health. "It causes mental exhaustion and a breakdown in nervous stability. The good rest one has during its absence aids in the rejuvenation of the nervous system."

Mayor Kelly already has taken steps to eradicate much of the avoidable noise. Under his orders the city's fire fighting companies do not use sirens when returning from fires, and observe zones of quiet around hospitals. Acting on his suggestion the police try to curb impatient motorists who think that horn tooting will straighten out trafic jams.

Courtesy Urged as Remedy.

"Courtesy and consideration for others will do much toward eliminating noise," said the mayor. "With the coöperation of persons who believe that one's behavior and thoughtfulness should be the same whether sitting in the house or driving in the streets, our ears would be saved considerable annoyance."

The mayor also mentioned the noise from the operation of the elevated lines, street cars, and buses. He held out hope that in the new transit ordinance there would be provisions calling for use of the less noisy type of equipment that is now available. Noise caused by holes in the streets will be eliminated, he said, through the street repair program for which he has asked federal government funds.

PARIS FINES U. S. DANCER $25 FOR NUDE 'ARTISTRY'

Joan Warner Told Tiny Panties Don't Count.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 18.—Panties so tiny and so thin as those worn by the blonde Joan Warner, erstwhile Chicago dancer, in the smart Bagdad cabaret in Paris at tea time on a Sunday several months ago do not count before the French law, especially when they are compromised by publicity announcing that "the dancer is integrally nude."

Consequently, Miss Warner was ordered to pay $25 fine for "outraging public decency." Louis Faudrin, the cabaret manager, could not prove any artistic ideals whatsoever. Furthermore, he was not backed up by a bevy of eminent French theatrical folk protesting in the name of art. So he was fined $100. Miss Warner announced she would appeal.

Judge Speaks of Panties.

Judge Rebrassiers' decision said in part:

"Makeup and panties equally tiny and invisible cannot wipe out the character of nudity. Furthermore, intensive publicity announced that the presentation was entirely in the nude and every means was taken to give that impression. Furthermore she removed her garments one after another before the public and the dance took place, not on a theater stage, but close to the spectators."

Regarding Faudrin the judge declared he knew fully what he was doing and it was purely in the interest, not of art, but money. Furthermore, he failed to put a sign on the door of the cabaret warning Sunday tea drinkers, accompanied by young daughters, against the nature of the entertainment.

The complaint against the American dancer was brought by M. Bauverat, vice president of the National Association for the Increase of the French Population.

Josephine Baker Wins.

To make it a field day for American dancers in Paris courts, Josephine Baker, colored dance artist, who has for many years been the idol of the Paris music hall public, won the first and perhaps final skirmish in the suit against her for the price of a portrait made of postage stamps.

A dentist who dabbles in art, Sacha Kaminsky, laboriously manufactured the portrait of 3,000 stamps in many colors. It then stood in the lobby of the Marigny theater, the Champs Elysees showhouse where Miss Baker is playing the lead in "The Creole."

Kaminsky insisted she promised to pay $1,300 for the portrait. The dusky actress retorted:

"If that was so, why did it have a sign 'For Sale' while it stood in the theater lobby?"

Kaminsky asked the court to sequester the picture. The judge announced his refusal.

JAPAN ENGAGES IN CONFLICT WITH CHINA, MONGOLIA AND RUSSIA

TOKIO, July 18.—(AP)—Japan, steadily expanding her influence in continental Asia, came into conflict with Mongols, Russians, and Chinese today.

A new crisis was reached in negotiations for settlement of border disputes between Manchukuo, Japanese dominated empire, and independent Outer Mongolia, Rengo (Japanese) News agency reported, with the possibility that Manchukuo might demand demilitarization of part of Mongolia.

Earlier Rengo dispatches from Harbin, Manchukuo, said Japanese seeking alluvial gold in the Amur river July 9 were fired upon by soviet guards and the engine of their small river boat was disabled. Manchukuo's foreign office announced its intention to protest energetically to Moscow.

Meanwhile reports from Kalgan, Chahar province, north China, said the Japanese Kwantung army had demanded that Japanese advisers be placed in all departments of the Chahar government. Chinese termed this an indication of further Japanese expansion in north China.

Japan's clash with Outer Mongolia occurred at Manchuli, when the Japanese member of the Manchukuoan delegation delivered "representations." These were said to insist on "an exchange of resident representatives between Manchukuo and Outer Mongolia, with freedom of facilities to communicate with their respective governments, in order to prevent a misunderstanding in disputes between the two countries."

Russia Places $2,000,000 Order for 7 Ships in Britain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18.—An order for seven cargo vessels, valued at more than $2,000,000, has been received from the soviet government by the Furness Shipbuilding company of Haverton-on-Tees. The order, which is on a cash basis, will keep the shipyard fully employed for over two years. It is the first shipping order from Russia received in this country.

TOURISTS LAUGH, LEARN FROM FEDERAL BEARS

Awesome Yellowstone Park Tells Earth's Story

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., July 18.—[Special.]—There are snow capped peaks reflected on the waters of spring fed lakes. There are young volcanoes erupting steam through mineral tinted waters. There are canyons 750 feet deep.

The home or office neighbor returning from a vacation in Yellowstone probably will want to tell you about the bears. The bears are the clowns of these 3,426 square miles of wonderland. They are comedy relief of much that is awe inspiring. So this report from THE TRIBUNE roadster, participating in this year's record tourist movement to the west, would not be complete without some mention of the bears.

Bears Will Be Bears.

A government pamphlet, issued when the fee of $3 per car is paid on entering the park, reads on this subject as follows:

"It is unlawful and extremely dangerous to molest, tease, or touch bears. If you feed or photograph them, you do so at your own risk and peril.

"It is best to suspend food supplies in a box between two trees so as to keep it out of reach of bears."

But the bears are everywhere, generally either annoying or entertaining tourists. In driving over the 145 miles of highway in the park, in the pine forests or skirting the geyser basins, a brown or black fellow with the deportment of a hitch hiker, will waddle on to the roadway at the approach of a car to beg for a cracker, candy, or what have you.

In the cities of tents, trailers, and cabins that house an estimated 90 per cent of the quarter million summer visitors, the bears prowl into any automobile window left open overnight.

Watch Bears at Dinner.

They hang around garbage cans to ask for scraps. Each evening at 7 o'clock about a thousand tourists watch the rangers feed the grizzlies, which are more timid and more treacherous than the black and brown bears. But no one drives around trip of 3,000 miles to see what might be seen in less natural surroundings in a Chicago zoo. And Yellowstone has much more to offer.

The Yellowstone river has cut a canyon through various rock formations 750 feet deep and 1,500 feet wide. While not as large as the Grand canyon of the Colorado river, its size is impressive and its coloring more brilliant. The dominant color is a light yellow or, in sunshine, a dazzling white, tinted in blotches of various hues. There is a waterfall twice the height of Niagara. Much of the park is a volcanic plateau with holes and crevices blowing steam or boiling pools of water. Old Faithful, with its major display every five minutes, is perhaps the best known of 3,000 geysers and hot springs in the park. Silica borders of some of the pools are the colors of the rainbow.

Tell Story of Earth.

Some of the geysers have built high terraces of mineral deposits that have buried tall trees. There are fossil forests where lava flows of a more violent geological age have buried woods and then replaced organic cells with silica and ash.

There are exposures of rock that with the aid of informative guides tell the story of the formation of the earth. Perhaps as of much interest as the sheer beauty of this reservation on the continental divide. The plateau has an average elevation of 8,000 feet above sea level with peaks and ridges heavily forested rising another 2,000 or 4,000 feet. Deer, moose, elk, buffalo, antelope, and mountain sheep may be seen on the trails, and trout may be caught in the streams formed by cold springs and by melting snow.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Cloud, Stay Away!

July 18, 1935.

If the weather man will kindly refrain from staging any heavy rainstorms accompanied by strong winds until after the oats are harvested, everybody here on the Yorkville experimental farm will be greatly obliged. The oats are so tall and heavy this year that a real downpour would beat them to the ground. That is the one position not wanted by the harvester because you can't cut oats successfully when the grain stalks are flattened out. So all the boys are keeping their fingers crossed when they talk about the weather. Clarence went to town several days ago to get the canvases on the binders repaired to handle the oats.

Silver Victor, the big white Shorthorn bull, has been mixed up in a sort of a barnyard feud here on the farm. This good looking animal [friendly, too] was not getting along very well with a big boar, but apparently the bad feeling between the two has passed.

I noticed the other day that the two animals were in the same lot in the barnyard. Then Clarence related the story of the feud between them, which resulted in the boar's going after Silver Victor and sinking his tusks in one of the bull's legs. Silver Victor came right back with a few well placed rights and lefts to the boar's ribs.

One can imagine the punch that a big bull has when he puts his head down and shoves his horns into another animal, so it is not surprising that the boar has called quits on the fighting. Silver Victor is the king of the lot right now, and I doubt if his reign will be challenged.

The spring down in the lowlands is a beautiful spot these warm July days since it was cleaned out by Charley. The watercress spread so luxuriantly this spring and summer that the spring hole was completely covered. When I looked at it a short time ago you couldn't see the water coming out of the sand. Now it is in excellent shape. Charley cut all the growth away from the pool so that again one can sit in the cool shade of the oak and ash trees and see the sparkling clear water bubble out of the earth.

Starting at the edge of the watercress zone, the tall plants of the jewel weed or touch-me-not grow thick these midsummer days. But the pickerel weed, an aquatic plant that bears purplish flowers, still finds room to grow there, too.

The barns near Clarence's house look spick and span now. The painters have been busy.

Annabelle, the nanny goat, is on a new diet and consequently in more trouble today. This inquisitive goat had not more than finished chewing the "No Smoking" signs on the buildings near Louis' house, than she found something else to go after.

This time Louis found her enjoying an afternoon snack in an old buggy that stands in the barnyard. Annabelle was getting a wonderful meal by chewing the stuffing out of an old seat in the buggy. The goat's recreational program called for a few chews on the seat stuffing, then a jump to the front springs, and then a leap to the ground.

When this cycle was completed she made the rounds again. Louis put a stop to this game. Not that the old buggy is very valuable, but nanny goats must be disciplined once in a while.

'I KILLED LILLIAN,' IS GOODRICH ADMISSION; CALLS SELF INSANE

Detroit, Mich., July 18.—[Special.]—The state's case against Merton Ward Goodrich for the murder of 11 year old Lillian Gallaher was completed today. Court, adjourned until tomorrow. Goodrich then will take the stand.

As court adjourned Goodrich told newspaper men that he killed the girl and that he would not deny it.

"I was under such a terrible mental strain in New York," he declared, "where I was arrested two weeks ago, and upon my return to Detroit, that I was in no condition to give a coherent statement. If I did all the things they said I did I must have been insane. I killed Lillian—but I was insane at the time."

The state had closed its case with the reading of Goodrich's confession.

APPROVE HOTEL'S QUARTER MILLION TAX CASE OFFER

In full payment for a delinquent tax bill of $286,000, owed by the Aquitania apartment building, 832 Argyle street, the county board will accept $245,000 in cash and a vacant lot next to the building if it follows the recommendation of a subcommittee made yesterday.

If the board accepts the offer it will mean the end of extensive litigation that has been pending in many courts. The county sought to take title to the building in the Superior court through a tax sale. The United States District court, however, enjoined the action and this has been affirmed by the United States Court of Appeals.

County Commissioner Peter M. Kelly, who headed the board's subcommittee, asserted that the cost of further court fights undoubtedly would be greater than the loss the county would take by accepting the compromise offer.

SEES POLITICAL CRISIS BETWEEN U. S. AND PEOPLE

Report to Bar Points to Collectivism March.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—(AP)—A prediction that a "political crisis cannot long be deferred on the existing major points of contact between the government and the people" was carried to the American Bar association today by its committee on commercial law and bankruptcy.

The committee stated it was the "present policy of the government to escape coming to grips with the excess debt problem and, through the expedients of moratoria and conciliations, to move the crisis point along through gradual steps to the indefinite future," adding:

"If the inherent recuperative powers of the country, which have not failed in the past, should bring about recovery, these policies will be vindicated."

Unleash Present Currents.

In its conclusions the committee stated that "the steady, almost unperceived march toward collectivism in the management of wealth, debtor and creditor relations, and dependency status either will compel amendments to the constitution to unleash the present currents and trends from further restraint or some effective means for the preservation of constitutional government on the traditional American plan will be wrought out.

"A fair and intelligent analysis of this picture will lead to the inevitable conclusion that the scaling down of debt superstructure must lie at the foundation of any plan which offers hope of success."

The committee said that the recent Supreme court decision in the NRA case, while turning back the tide of expansion of the commerce clause of the constitution, "will accentuate legislation under the bankruptcy clause for the rearrangement of debtor-creditor relations."

Expansion of Currency.

Declaring inflation of existing wealth to balance liability totals can be accomplished only by expansion of the currency, the committee stated: "Impending fear of resort to such an artificial and dangerous expedient has proved to be an obstacle in the way of recovery.

"Economists are agreed that a forced balance through inflationary measures or expanded currency is temporary and unsound. Debt scaling, on the contrary, is a scientific and permanent solution, although more difficult to accomplish."

"There is the increasing concentration of wealth in a small number of corporations," the report read by Jacob M. Lashley of St. Louis stated. "It is estimated that 200 corporations, excepting banks, managed by about 1,000 executives, owned one-half of the corporate wealth.

"While these figures may be an overstatement, yet a small number of corporations exercise a dominant influence over price control and trade practices, and virtually control the production and distribution economy of the country.

"Thus by loans to corporations, the federal government is able, to a certain extent, to exercise control over these corporations."

TAN Evenly— the NORWICH way!

Here's the truth about Sun Tan:

You can't enjoy the sun's health-giving rays, and get tanned, without exposing yourself to the sun's burn rays . . . because the health rays, the tan rays and the burn rays are all one and the same!

But you can protect yourself and be evenly tanned if you use Norwich Sun Tan Oil. It contains a scientific sun screen that keeps out part of the sun's burning rays—a sort of "bottled sun-shade" that positively reduces sun scorch—and makes possible a healthy, evenly distributed tan. Norwich Sun Tan Oil keeps the skin soft in texture, pinkly golden in color, avoiding bad burn in the beginning and leathery skin afterward.

Antoinette Donnelly Tells How Noted Beauties Keep Charm

Unity in Club Action Urged at Convention

Women Seek Equality in Labor Legislation.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Seattle, Wash., July 18.—[Special.]—A significant step in organized feminine activity was taken here today when representatives of seven of the country's most influential women's organizations declared for coöperation and unity of purpose wherever possible. The gathering was sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in connection with its biennial convention now in session here.

Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar of Portland, Ore., newly elected first vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, sounded the keynote when she said: "The work of womens' organizations in the future is to find and operate through common goals. Most of us are headed for the same place, but, like a highway system, part of the time we have been on a detour."

Mrs. Dunbar advised frequent councils of the various organization leaders as the first step in accomplishing such a program. The seven organizations represent more than half of the 12,000,000 organized women in the United States.

Besides Mrs. Dunbar and Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, president of the business and professional women, there were Mrs. W. A. Carlson of Tacoma, president of the Washington State League of Women Voters; Miss Emma Hirth of New York City, representative of the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Malbone Graham of California, representative of the American Association of University Women; Mrs. Neil Haig of Seattle, president of the Washington branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Miss Effie I. Raitt of Seattle, leader of the American Home Economics association.

Although no unified action was taken today it was recognized that the Federation of Business and Professional Women was soliciting coöperation in its stand for equality of opportunity and economic parity between the sexes and for the establishment of just and humane labor standards to cover all types of wage earners irrespective of sex.

In line with this the board of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs today went on record as opposed to legislation affecting the working conditions of women which does not also affect the working conditions of men. It is expected that the federation's delegate body will approve the board's move tomorrow.

The resolution embodying the action and presented by Mrs. Rosa E. Cunningham of Des Moines, Ia., chairman of the legislative committee, was defeated by the board a year ago in Colorado Springs. Mrs. Cunningham said that passage of it today was prompted by the mass of legislation discriminating against women entered in more than 40 state legislatures the last year.

In Illinois the State Federation of Business and Professional Women recently led the fight to defeat the eight hour bill for women.

"State groups have done notable work the last year in defeating these discriminatory measures," Mrs. Cunningham points out, "but a great deal more can be accomplished with the backing of the national federation. It may be that the Lucretia Mott or equal rights amendment is the final and legal solution of this situation, but right now we are interested in voicing the stand this federation and perhaps others that they may carry weight both locally and nationally."

If there is opposition to the resolution on the floor of the convention, it is expected that it will be led by Miss Mary Anderson, who has come here from Washington, D. C., as head of the women's bureau of the department of labor.

To this Mrs. Cunningham replies: "Labor bills for women are always introduced on the basis that the woman is the weaker sex. This assumption is not supported by either scientific or biological fact and is fostered only by groups who would for selfish, ulterior motive seek to close the economic door to women.

"Surely no one can gainsay that if an employer is so consumed with greed for profit that he exploits his women that he does not also abuse his men. Therefore, it is only sensible that any legislation when necessary and proper should apply to all workers."

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Washington, D. C., chairman of the NRA consumers' advisory board, attacked this stand in addressing the convention this afternoon, saying: "On the one hand women would ask the same right to be exploited and sweated as men, on the other hand women want for women what men do not have, special protection. As between the two I am for protective legislation for women. But why accept the man made standards. It would take no more time and work to get a constitutional amendment giving congress the right to legislate hours and wages than to get the equal rights amendment."

Some business and professional members criticized Mrs. Blair's stand as typically Democratic. The Democrats have indicated opposition to our program all along the line," they said. "The legislatures that have introduced discriminatory legislation are all Democratic. With Frances Perkins the Democrats have furnished the window dressing as far as women are concerned."

According to the report of the nominating committee presented at this morning's session, Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman of Richmond, Va. is a candidate for a third two year term in the federation's presidency. Mrs. Bowman is opposed by Miss Char! Williams of Washington, D. C., now first vice president. Mrs. E. Pearl Warwick of Chicago and Champaign, adviser to the woman's department of the Household Finance corporation, is unopposed for a second term as treasurer.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace crossed the country to give the business and professional women tonight practically the same message that he delivered a few weeks ago before the general federation in Detroit. He was heard at a banquet in Seattle's Civic auditorium.

Defending governmental direction of business and industry, he said, "all constitutions are designed and must be interpreted and administered so as to fit human rights. There was once a time in history when the limitation of governmental power meant increasing liberty for the people. In the present day the limitation of governmental power, of governmental action, means the enslavement of the people by the great corporations who can only be held in check through the extension of governmental power.

"Most of us have always assumed that the prime purpose of the constitution was 'to form a more perfect union' and to maintain in such a union the rights of man and the democratic processes. Have we been wrong all this time? Was the freedom for which our forefathers battled merely the freedom for large scale business and finance to do as they pleased?

"Now that the nation is approaching maturity, we face the necessity of discovering that principle of unity which will allow abundant room for diversity within it and which will permit simultaneous centralization and decentralization—centralization of certain powers to permit a national approach to national problems, decentralization of certain administrative functions to permit a rebirth of democracy in every township in the land."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—[Special.]—After a tour of the wardrobe building of any of the big movie studios you emerge with your woman's heart broken and bleeding. You'll have seen thousands of the most beautiful and the most exquisitely fashioned gowns in the world, gowns you'd give your eyeteeth for. And there they hang, having been seen for perhaps eight minutes on the movie screen and never to be seen, at least in their present form, again. There ain't no justice.

You can't fake fabric or costume workmanship in the movies. The camera is merciless to that sort of two-timing. So the sky is the limit when it comes to the gowns worn by the stars. You can take our word for it that this is the truth.

All gowns that Garbo wears, for instance, are of imported fabric. If embroidery is called for it's handwork. All seams are hand turned. Satin is satin, not sateen. Quilting is done by hand. Lace is the product of nuns in a French convent, not curtain material.

Adrian, the designer for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer (who incidentally has sneaked off to Mexico just when we wanted to see him), has himself one glorious time when a big production is ordered. First he makes sketches; then he selects the fabrics and the colors. The wardrobe department does the rest. Adrian loves period things; he has the taste for the lavish.

We have just seen, after seeing the picture, the gowns worn by Garbo in "Anna Karenina." They're enough to make you forget that covetousness is one of the seven deadly sins. Tea gowns, evening gowns, a velvet wrap trimmed with sable. An army of needlewomen worked for days on the embroidery of just one gown. Another, of white organdy, with a skirt composed of tier on tier of plaited ruffles, each tenderly fashioned by hand, will never even be seen by the outer world. The scene in which it was worn was cut from the picture. The wedding gown worn by Maureen O'Sullivan in the same picture is a fortune in satin, a dream in design.

And what happens to these? In this studio none is sold. The more practical things are bundled up and evenly distributed to Los Angeles charities. The rest hang and hang and hang, but may some day be remade. A silver and jade belt buckle specially designed for and used in "The Painted Veil" might do perfectly on an extra's gown a year from now. The hand embroidered gown Garbo wears when she plays croquet with Fredric March in "Anna Karenina" might be used two years from now in a period mob scene.

But to one who never knows where the next dress is coming from it all seems cockeyed!

Place 5 More Names on List of Debutantes

Four of Newest Buds Live in Winnetka.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF there were a barometer made to register the degree of amusement or boredom in store for human beings, instead of just the weather, the indicator certainly would be advancing to a new high in the amusement quarter, for the list of prospective debutantes is swelled to between forty-five and fifty with the addition this morning of five new names.

This means more entertaining for the debutante set, more work for caterers and dressmakers, and brings joy to the heart of the Service club officers and the St. Luke's fashion show committee who will have all the more material for their fall productions.

As it has been doing for the last few years, Winnetka again is supplying a goodly percentage of the debutantes. Four of the newest additions will bow in that suburb. They are Miss Ellen Allen, Miss Esther and Miss Elizabeth Bucher, and Miss Katherine Bulger. The fifth lives in Lake Forest, Miss Barbara Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton M. Morse.

Miss Allen is not a native Winnetkan, nor does she live there yet, but her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Allen, will move from their Evanston house on Asbury avenue to a new home at 550 Cedar street, Winnetka, on Aug. 1. That Miss Allen will be widely entertained during the season is not doubted, for her parents have made many friends during the four years they have lived here. They came west from Sewickley, Pa., in 1931. The debutante, who is visiting in Canada and Maine until the end of August, is a graduate of the Shipley school at Bryn Mawr. Mr. and Mrs. Allen have not decided what kind of a party they will give for their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Morse are not quite certain if they will present Miss Barbara this fall or wait another year, but if they keep to their present plans she will bow at a tea at home just as her elder sister, Miss Priscilla Morse, did last year, Otherwise Barbara, who attended the San Luis school in Colorado Springs last year, will go east to enter Sarah Lawrence college.

Bucher Sisters Will Bow on Sept. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bucher have chosen the afternoon of Sept. 7 to present their daughters at a tea in the gardens of their Winnetka home. Both are graduates of the North Shore Country Day school and both will continue their scholastic activities this winter, Esther at Bryn Mawr, where she will be a sophomore, and Elizabeth at Pine Manor, where she will return for her second year. Because the sisters will resume their studies in the fall they are having a gay summer gadding about the country to visit friends. Esther is now in northern Wisconsin with Miss Julie Walcott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Walcott, whose debut tea will take place Sept. 4 at her parents' Winnetka home. Elizabeth will leave in a few days to visit Miss Ann Burnham, who is with her parents, the Gerald Burnhams, at their summer home at Columbus Beach, near Petoskey, Mich. It is likely that Miss Burnham will make her debut this fall.

Miss Bulger is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Bulger, who have planned to introduce her at a tea in their home at 400 Sheridan road, Winnetka, the afternoon of Sept. 4. She is a graduate of the North Shore Country Day school and of the Sacred Heart convent at Noroton, Conn. She returned to Winnetka last night from her parents' cottage at the Wausaukee club, where she was hostess at a week's house party. Miss Frances Price, the Edwin P. Prices' daughter, returned with Miss Bulger. Miss Price will bow at a tea on Sept. 11 in her parents' Winnetka home. She attended the Country Day school and was graduated from Mount Vernon seminary last month.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thompson Jr. tentatively have set the date for their eldest daughter's debut for Dec. 21, at which time Miss Eleonore Thomp-

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

This is Bernard Shaw week in the Chicago park system, and thousands of the plain people who like to see a free show, whether they understand it or not, are giving respectful attention to a production of the witty old satirist's short play, "Androcles and the Lion," by the Richard B. Harrison group of Negro amateurs. Last night's performance on the terrace of the refectory in Humboldt park was attended by 3,000; Monday night's performance in Washington park had an audience of 8,000.

The Harrison players give a good account of their zeal for the modern drama. Their early Christian martyrs, Roman soldiers, gladiators, patricians, and imperial Cæsar are costumed with a degree of accuracy and pleasant pictorial effect. Their lion is perhaps too small an imitation man killer to impress the imagination and enforce the comic points in Shaw's treatment of the old story; moreover, his roars are too weak to persuade observers that the martyrs were in much danger when they entered the arena. But he was a passable pantomime lion for all that, and the urchins of the Humboldt park regions were gleeful when he recognized his old first aid friend, Androcles, and became his bodyguard instead of his devourer.

Shaw is notoriously a verbose dramatist, and amateurs are chronically slow of speech. Therefore the pace of the performance is a determined dawdle, even in the hubbub around the Colosseum on Christian killing day. But the players speak their lines with intelligence, and sound amplifiers communicate the dialog to the fringes of the open air throng.

The play, written in 1912 and infrequently revived, tells the familiar story of a runaway slave and the grateful lion from whose paw he had removed a painful thorn. Shaw used it as a basis for satirical references to religious prejudices, imperialism, and other topics about which he has been arguing for a long lifetime. The tale has its source in the first century Latin of Seneca and Aulus Gellius.

The performance will be repeated on Saturday night in the south plaza of the band stand in Garfield park.

Black Sheers Are Smart for Daytime Wear

White Accents Provide Touch of Coolness.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Successfully dramatic, these midsummer street clothes of black sheers are going places! Lovely, mysterious black chiffon suits and ensembles, cooled with just the right amount of sheer white accents, seem the coolest clothes in town.

Even when the temperature is unmentionably high nothing equals an inky black, filmy sheer for smartness. Topped with transparent black hats, large or small, you have the ideal street and afternoon costume. After days of pastels, all kinds of cottons, and the monotony of all-white clothes you will appreciate the slender smartness of black as never before.

There's a grand collection of these summer time "blacks" ready for your inspection. These summer sheers will flatter, and they are so fashioned that they will keep even a plump shopper slender.

There's a stunning black and white redingote ensemble with an underdress of white crêpe made with a trick back section of black that reaches the waistline. The long, sheer coat is black, faced with snowy white and also with facings of white at the cuffs of the long sleeves.

A tucked black chiffon one piece dress has long, loose, wide sleeves. Still another dress of black chiffon has long, pointed sleeves, a snowy white, very narrow vest, and bows of crisp white organdy at the neck and the beltline. You can find stunning black sheers with pale flesh accents, all kinds of black with white, and just as many all black . . . all of them just what you need to keep you cool and distinctively dressed in dark colors.

Fashion photograph . . . A square cut white organdy collar contrasts a dark tucked chiffon ensemble. The skirt is tucked from waist to hemline. The separate jacket has long sleeves and is not tucked. The white hat has a veil tied in a short perky bow right in front. Ensemble and hat are available in a Chicago shop.

Nine Artists to Hold Shows at Institute

Nine one man art shows will open in the east wing galleries of the Art institute next Thursday and continue until Oct. 13. The artists are Francis Chapin, Carl Hoeckner, J. Jeffrey Grant, Walter Krawiec, Aaron Bohrod, William S. Schwartz, Peterpaul Ott, Julio De Diego, and Robert J. Wolff.

Chapin, who is at present teaching in the Art institute summer school at Saugatuck, Mich., is proficient in oil and water color and his work is modernistic.

Hoeckner's exhibit of canvases is large, vivid, drama colorings, recognizable for their suggestion of certain subterranean qualities. He asserts that his paintings are representative of his emotional records caused by the world war, the steel age, and the jaz age.

Eighteen large pictures and eight small sketches are included in the exhibit of Grant which pertains largely to scenes from Gloucester, Mass.

Krawiec has identified his show with scenes of circus life, particularly circus horses. In the same gallery with Krawiec's pictures, his wife, Mrs. Harriet Krawiec, will show a number of her paintings, principally of still life.

Bohrod says many of the pictures in his exhibit were inspired by numerous automobile and bus trips, mainly between Chicago and New York, and a hitchhike trip to New Mexico. Schwartz, who was born in Russia, is known for his rich coloring. Julio De Diego, born in Spain, will exhibit oils and water colors. Wolff will show five pieces of sculpture.

Ott will display painting and sculpture.

The Palette and Chisel Academy of Fine Arts, 1012 North Dearborn street, is conducting an exhibition of etchings, lithographs, book block prints, and drawings in observance of the 40th anniversary of its founding. The exhibit opened Sunday and will run until Labor day.

INVITE WORKMEN AS FIRST GUESTS IN W-G-N STUDIO

Exterior of Broadcasting Theater Being Finished.

With the finishing touches being put on the exterior of the new half million dollar studio building of W-G-N, just north of Tribune Tower, Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, yesterday announced that the invited guests at the first broadcasting show from the new studios would be the workmen who constructed the building and their families.

"These men deserve this credit," Col. McCormick said. "Their spirit has been fine, and their work has showed their appreciation of the idea behind the building. Their hearts have been in the job, and the first concert and show will be dedicated to them."

Col. McCormick expressed particular esteem for Louis Terebesy, the artist in charge of all the finer stone carvings on the building. Told to place his name on the building at the completion of his work, Mr. Terebesy carved his name as ordered, but in small, plain letters and in an inconspicuous place.

Rush Work on Interior.

The interior of the new structure is rapidly taking form. It will contain some of the finest radio studios in the country and the only theater in the world designed and constructed solely for broadcasting show purposes.

"We expect the broadcasting from the new studios to begin about the middle of September," said Holmes Onderdonk, manager of THE TRIBUNE buildings. "We now have practically completed the exterior, almost all of the scaffolding is down, and we can devote all of our attention to the interior work."

Details of the first broadcast are now being worked out, said Quin Ryan, manager of W-G-N. The program will be announced a week in advance of the show.

Plan Opening Show.

"One thing is certain," he said, "and that is that the opening show from our new studios will be compatible with the quality of the theater and studios. We are getting radio, stage, and screen stars, and intend to present one of the most complete shows ever on the air."

After the first few performances the 485 seats in the soft silver, blue and maroon theater, in which simplicity is the dominating idea, will be free to the public. At no time will there be a charge for the seats. At sponsored broadcasts the sponsor will handle the seat distribution, and at programs initiated by THE TRIBUNE station the tickets will be distributed by THE TRIBUNE.

JOSEPH COLTON, NOTED SEA FOOD CHEF, IS BURIED

Joseph Colton, known more often by the name of "Finnan Haddie Joe," who left Rector's in New York in 1904 and became sea food and chafing dish chef in the College inn of the Hotel Sherman, was buried yesterday in Rosehill cemetery. He was 59 years old when he died of heart disease last Tuesday in his home at 2031 Le Claire avenue.

"Finnan Haddie Joe" was widely known among celebrities of the stage. He worked over his steaming pots in the hotel kitchens until a year ago, when he became ill. The hotel management sent him on a vacation, but "Finnan Haddie" could not keep away from the work he loved and he returned often to the kitchen.

His wife died several years ago. They had no children.

Head of Women Preachers Says Race Needs Monogamy

The Rev. Madeline Southard of Kansas City, Mo., president of the National Association of Women Preachers, declared at the annual meeting of the association in Aurora yesterday that civilized peoples must adhere to the monogamous marriage or the races face extinction. "Primitive tribes and savages which have no restraint in social relations have been losing in numbers steadily," the Rev. Mr. Southard said.

Mrs. J. C. Aschenbrenner, Wife of Rail Official, Dies

Mrs. Catherine Aschenbrenner, wife of J. C. Aschenbrenner, 3653 Greenview avenue, an official of the Chicago and Alton railway, died yesterday of a heart attack in the Taft hotel, New York. Accompanied by their daughter, the Aschenbrenners went to New York on July 15. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Aschenbrenner fainted and was dead before the house physician arrived. The body was being brought to Chicago last night.

Annie Smith Peck Dies; Noted Mountain Climber

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Miss Annie Smith Peck, 84, noted as a mountain climber and one of the early leaders in the fight for women's suffrage, died late today in her suite at the Hotel Monterey after an illness of two weeks. She began climbing mountains when she was 45, topping Mount Carcovado in Brazil, Mount Huascaran in Peru, and Mount Madison of the Presidential range, among others.

White Boy Gets Annapolis Appointment from Mitchell

William Carney, 19 years old, 2848 Emerald avenue, has been appointed to the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, it was announced yesterday by Arthur W. Mitchell, colored congressman from Chicago. Congressman Mitchell said the appointment was in line with his policy of alternating his appointments between white and colored candidates. Carney is white.

Mrs. H. C. Wimple Dies; Funeral Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Wimple, wife of Harry C. Wimple, member of the Chicago Mercantile exchange and for more than thirty years identified wtih the Chicago butter and egg business, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the family residence in Crystal Lake. Mrs. Wimple died Wednesday night following an illness of several weeks.

Robertson, 52, postmaster of Minneapolis and former managing editor of the Minneapolis Star, was found dead in his hotel room here today a few hours before he was to have been installed grand treasurer of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. Death was attributed to heart disease.

W. C. ROBERTSON. [Associated Press Photo.]

Robertson was attending the Elks' grand lodge here and was elected treasurer last Tuesday. He served three terms as exalted ruler of the Minneapolis lodge.

He had been engaged in newspaper work for 30 years prior to his appointment as postmaster of Minneapolis in November, 1933. He had been connected with the Minneapolis Star from 1923 until he took over the duties of postmaster. Before 1923 he was managing editor of the Minneapolis Daily News.

MEXICAN YOUTHS MOVE ON CITY; TROOPS CALLED

MEXICO CITY, July 18.—(AP)—The 8th infantry regiment including a machine gun section, was ordered tonight to Villa Hermosa, Tabasco, where students' organizations are engaged in a movement to overthrow the power of Tomas Garrido Canabal, radical dictator of the state. The troops left aboard a special train a few hours after students of the capital had paraded through the streets in solemn tribute to three of their dead comrades who were slain in Villa Hermosa.

More than 3,000 youths of the National university and preparatory school marched side by side with nearly 100 American summer school students to the National university law school. There the bodies of Cesar Pedrero, Juarez Medina, and Manuel Brito Foucher lay in state. After brief ceremonies the bodies were placed in herses and escorted back to the French cemetery for burial.

As the youths paraded the total of deaths resulting from the clash in Villa Hermosa between students and Garrido followers was brought to five with the death of Pedro Priego. Priego was a member of the expedition seeking to overthrow Garrido. Students from all parts of the country are converging at Villa Hermosa.

STRIKE RIOTERS FIRE STREET CAR AND ATTACK BARN

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 18.—(AP)—A crowd of 150 strike sympathizers here tonight attacked a street car barn, set fire to three employés' cars parked in front of it, and routed the employés after shattering every window glass in the barn with bricks.

The attack on the car barn came at about the same time a mob of several hundred persons knocked an Omaha-bound street car off the track here and set fire to it. Nonstriking operators of the tram were threatened with bodily injury, but both escaped by outrunning their pursuers.

Police said telephones within a three block radius of the car barn were out of order, and that the mob apparently had knocked down the wires. An automobile parked in front of the car barn was destroyed by a barrage of bricks.

Employés within the car barn were forced to shut off the lights and flee for their lives, Council Bluffs police said.

All available police and firemen were rushed to the scene of the violence and firemen soon quelled the car fires.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Morton Downey is reported due back on the air the first week in August. The top tenor plans to play his own accompaniment on the new style Hammond electrical organ which is equipped with tubes instead of organ pipes. The Downey programs, according to present information, will be heard on CBS on Wednesday evenings and on NBC Friday nights.

Rudy Vallee and Singin' Sam are also reported planning to give the electrical organ a place on their programs this fall. The Court of Human Relations hour has used the instrument for several months on its CBS broadcasts.

The story of John Dillinger's reign of terror and its dramatic finish with the killing of the outlaw in Chicago will be the first of the new series of "G men" dramatizations to be launched by a motor maker over WMAQ-NBC tomorrow evening. This will be the federal bureau of investigation version of the Dillinger story, the manuscript written by Phillips Lord, who is also radio's Seth Parker, having the express approval of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau.

Selection of the Dillinger story as the first in the series was laid to the automobile industry's special interest in the writing of the Dyer act, making it a federal offense to transport stolen cars across state lines. It was this law that enabled the "G men" to take up the pursuit of Dillinger. The cases of "Pretty Boy" Floyd and "Baby Face" Nelson will be presented in subsequent broadcasts.

Ruth Etting will arrive from New York tomorrow morning. She's on her way west for movie making—and to help dedicate the new postoffice in her home town, David City, Neb., on Monday. Postmaster General Farley is to be on hand to give assistance to the town's most distinguished daughter. Miss Etting will continue her College Prom broadcasts over NBC on Friday evening from the west coast.

Charlie Correll and Freeman Gosden relaxed a rule the other evening they have enforced rigidly ever since they've been on the networks. That's the no visitors edict. Bill Hay, Harriette Widmer and the engineer at the controls are said to be the only persons who have watched them broadcast as Amos 'n' Andy. Not even their wives have seen them in the studios since the old days at W-G-N. A man by the name of M. H. Aylesworth came along the other night and asked to get in with a party of friends. He got in, too. Aylesworth is the president of the National Broadcasting company.

RESULTS OF CITY CRIME CLEANUP PRAISED BY IGOE

Michael L. Igoe, United States district attorney, praised Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney for the decrease in major crimes in Chicago and Cook county in a luncheon talk yesterday before the Chicago Bar association. He was introduced by his predecessor in office, Dwight H. Green.

"Mayor Kelly recently has shown a decrease in major crimes in Chicago," said Mr. Igoe. "That is a much finer tribute to his administration than to show that more hundreds of persons were sent to jail than before. The same is true of the fewer indictments in the Criminal court. The reason is that the officials are getting at the causes of crime, and are uprooting them.

"It is just as important to prevent the commission of a crime as to pursue and jail the criminal afterward. We should try to keep the boys from 15 to 21 years of age from the temptations of crime."

Airman Reaches Montreal on N. Y.-Norway Flight

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 18.—Thor Solberg, Norwegian-American flyer, landed here tonight on his projected flight by easy stages to Norway. He took off today from New York. Solberg is seeking to back-track Lief Erikson's trail to America more than 900 years ago. He was accompanied on today's flight by Paul Oscanyan, his wireless operator.

[ADVERTISMENT.]
WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS
Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes
Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.
Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

CECIL LEAN, 57, MUSICAL COMEDY STAR, SUCCUMBS

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Cecil Lean, 57, famous musical comedy actor, singer and author, fell dead this afternoon in the heart of the theatrical district. He was hurrying from a consultation about a play he just had completed, to meet his wife, Cleo Mayfield, waiting in an automobile in front of the Booth theater. He collapsed just as he reached her side.

CECIL LEAN. [White Photo.]

"He waved as he started to cross 65th street," Miss Mayfield said. "Then I saw his legs buckle under him. I thought he was clowning," she sobbed.

The comedian had been ill yesterday in his Hotel Warwick apartment, his wife said, but arose today in excellent spirits.

Cecil Worthington Starr Lean was born in London, Ont., the son of John V. Lean, who later moved to Detroit, Mich., where he founded a preparatory school and where Cecil at 13 began his stage career.

At 19 he went to Chicago, gained fame in a long series of musical comedies produced in the La Salle theater, the best remembered of which is "The Time, the Place, and the Girl." Later he became associated with the late Flo Ziegfeld. In recent years Lean had leading parts in "No, No Nannette," "The Blue Paradise," "Big Hearted Herbert," "Everybody's Welcome," "Of Thee I Sing," and "The Bishop Misbehaves." He was also well known as a radio comedian.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow night at Campbell's funeral church on Broadway. The Rev. Frederick W. Cooper of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension will officiate.

MOTHER LEAVES $85,000 TO SON AND RELATIVES

The will of Mrs. Lydia F. Watkins, 237 Hazel avenue, Highland Park, who died June 14, was filed yesterday in the Lake county Probate court at Waukegan. It leaves most of her $85,000 estate to a son, Frederick A., and other relatives and friends. The Highland Park Hospital association is the beneficiary of a $5,000 trust bequest.

Two other wills were admitted to probate in Waukegan. That of William E. Bletsch, 382 Moraine road, Highland Park, former member of the Lake county board of supervisors, left a $40,000 estate to his widow, Caroline. Mrs. Florence Brewster, Waukegan society matron who killed herself last Friday, left her $15,000 estate to her two children, Derry Brewster, and Mrs. Don Brinkman.

"Pantry Shelf Dinners," a booklet of menus and recipes for unexpected guests, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and the Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

One of the most pleasant ways we know of slipping that daily quart or pint of milk down the throats of children and adults alike is to introduce it in fruity milk sherbet. Especially during the warm months does the "eating" of milk prove a positive godsend to weary menus.

Besides their nutritional content, both from the milk and fruit juices, these sherbets boast the added charm of utter simplicity. Making them is simply a matter of combining a few easily obtained or prepared ingredients, and letting your refrigerator or your ice cream freezer finish up. Here are some examples of both kinds that we're casting our vote for. [By the way, don't always make these a dessert treat. With cold meats, roasts, chops—almost any summer meat course—they go a long way in adding interest to a meal.]

LEMON SHERBET
2 cups sugar
6 lemons
2 oranges
1 quart milk
1 quart thin cream
4 egg whites

Chill the blended sugar and the juices of the lemons and oranges in the freezer. Add the milk and cream, fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, and freeze in a 1:8 salt-ice mixture.

LIME SHERBET
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup water
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
⅓ cup lime juice

Boil the sugar and water until it forms a thin sirup. Add the salt, cool, and mix with all the ingredients in the freezer. Freeze in a 1:8 salt-ice mixture.

STRAWBERRY SHERBET
2 cups crushed strawberries
⅓ cup lemon juice
2 cups sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 cups milk

Add the crushed berries to the lemon juice, in which have been dissolved the sugar and salt. Add the milk, mix well, and freeze rapidly in a refrigerator tray, stirring twice during the first hour.

RASPBERRY MILK SHERBET
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 cup raspberry juice
¼ cup lemon juice
Few grains salt
1 cup evaporated milk

Boil the sugar and water to form a thin sirup. Add the fruit juices and salt, and when cool pour into the chilled milk. Freeze with a 1:8 salt-ice mixture.

APRICOT SHERBET
2 cups canned apricots
1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
½ cup water
¼ cup lemon juice
½ pint heavy cream

Drain apricots and add to the liquor the sieved fruit. Mix with the sugar, milk, and lemon juice, and freeze until a mush in the tray of a refrigerator. Remove and fold in the stiffly beaten cream, and continue freezing.

FRUIT CAKE, SUMMER STYLE

Fruit cake, summer style, has little in common with the winter variety. It's made of layers of white cake flavored with lemon extract, put together with orange filling, and swooning in boiled frosting. Orange sections from which every speck of membrane has been removed are the flattering decoration.

Overripe Fruit Can't Be Made Into Jelly

Fruit that is overripe or is boiled too long cannot be made into jelly.

Tribune Recipes

JELLIED VEAL.
1 knuckle of veal
½ onion
Few slices carrot
Stalk of celery
Salt and pepper to taste

Place the veal in boiling water, and let it simmer until it is tender, together with the carrot, onion, and celery. Remove the veal from the liquid and cool both. When the meat is nearly cold, remove it from the bone and chop finely. Skim the fat from the broth, reheat the liquid and stir the veal into it, adding the salt and pepper and other seasoning, such as lemon juice or cloves, if desired. Place the hot mixture into a mold, cover it with a buttered paper, place a weight upon it and let it stand until set. Serve it cold, in thin slices.

RICE FLUFF
1½ cups cooked rice
5 tablespoons sugar
¾ cup whipping cream
½ cup chopped nut meats
1 teaspoon maraschino

Mix the cooked rice with the sugar, fold in whipped cream, flavored with maraschino. Chill and serve in tall sherbets, sprinkling each serving with nuts.

CRISP COOKIES SEEM TO FIT COOLING DRINKS

Booklets Tell Other Food Facts.

Tinkling iced beverages call for small crisp cookies. This refreshing combination is all that the guests will ask between meals during the hot summer months.

To make entertaining simple, the cookies should be the kind which are kept in the refrigerator and sliced off for several minutes' baking at any time of the day. Ten such recipes, including pinwheel refrigerator cookies, filled ones, butterscotch, mincemeat, ginger, and peanut bran cookies, are in Mary Meade's booklet, "Refrigerator Cakes and Cookies." The book also includes recipes for 16 delicious refrigerator cakes.

CANNED FOODS MAKE CAMPING TRIP VACATION

Solve Many Problems for the Cook.

Camping is an ideal vacation, costing little, if any, more than living at home. Mrs. Ruby Mendenhall Smith, extension economist in food preservation, University of Arkansas, is full of ideas to make it a real vacation for the mother of the house, even if she still has to feed a brood hungry from a day fishing and swimming.

Food is of first consideration on a camping trip. An interesting and varied daily menu miles from a food market of any kind is an accomplishment, but canning foods suited to camp meals has gone far toward solving the problem, and canned fruits, vegetables, and meats, have become a very important part of the "camp pack."

It is real economy to include only containers that hold just enough food needed for one meal. Leftovers are hard to take care of. An assortment of different size containers will solve the problem.

Be Sure You Have Plenty.

"Be sure to allow for plenty of additional jars of food," says Mrs. Smith. "What could be more nerve racking than to have the food supply run short the day before you are ready to go home. Remember camp life is noted for its effect on the appetite, so be sure to carry along plenty of food. After half a day in the open the first cry of a camper at meal time is 'grub,' plenty of it, and right now. It is then that the cook appreciates the ease and speed with which she can prepare almost an entire meal from canned ready to serve food.

"Nothing could taste better to a bunch of hungry campers than a big bowl of canned beef stew to which plenty of vegetables have been added, or a dish of sauer kraut and sausage and a mixed vegetable salad followed by some canned fruit for dessert. Eating out of doors is a real tonic, but it is no task to serve meals that satisfy when they are prepared from a variety of good quality canned foods from the pantry."

The amount of canned food needed for four hearty grownups for a week's camp, according to Mrs. Smith's budget, includes 14 pints of No. 2 tin cans of fruits, 21 of vegetables, 7 of vegetable soup mixture, 14 of meats, 7 of pickles and relishes, and 7 of an assortment of preserves, jams, and jellies.

Take Food Easy to Fix.

It is best to include foods which can be prepared with the fewest and simplest utensils. Such vegetables as tomatoes, beans, both string and lima, corn, English peas, kraut, and asparagus are excellent and may be used in many combinations. The fruits best suited to camp meals are figs, peaches, pears, apples, cherries, and berries. Canned chicken, either stewed, fried, or minced for sandwich use, sausage, pork chops, liver paste, stews, steaks, and roasts are all easily prepared for the meat dishes.

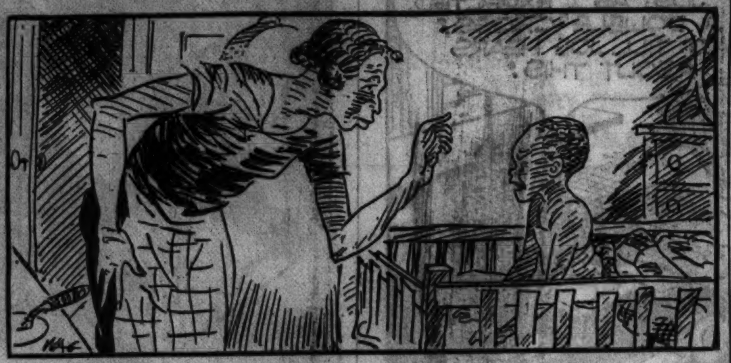
Canned fruit juices and tomato juice are excellent to use for beverages and may be substituted for a part of the canned fruits. It will be possible to take small children on a camping trip, too, if canned strained vegetables and fruits are added to the menu.

Duck Eggs Preserved 3 Months as India Dish

Chinese are not the only persons who prefer "aged eggs." In India duck eggs are preserved for three months by a special method. The Filipinos make a product called 'balut" of duck or hens' eggs, specially treated for 18 days.

Li'l Sugahfoot Sho' Hongry

(By Edward F. Younger.)



Baby chile, Ah wisht yo' quit dat moanin' eroun',
    Yo' gits me all obfusticated, a cryin' dat-a-way,
Yo' sho'ly 'min's me ob a hongry ol' bloodhoun'
    Atter he bin sniffin' f'r some tracks all day.

Folkses dat's runnin' erway knows dat a houn' kin smell
    Onlest he gits sumpin' pow'ful in he's nose,
So dey rubs turkentine on dey feets and shoes ontwell
    Ol' houn' sniffs h'it; dat's fur as he goes.

Atter dat ol' bloodhoun' smells dat turkentine
    He cain't smell nuthin' else an' he mighty mad;
He jes' run 'roun' an' 'roun' an' yelp an' whine
    An' dat po' man runnin' erway, he pow'ful glad.

Honeybug, doan' pesticate yo' Mammy, sobbin' dat-a-way;
    Ain't gwine he'p yo' none, mekkin' all dat fuss.
Ah cl'ah, us et up ev'thin' in de shack t'day,

Yo' Pappy gwine grin' us some cohn meal bimeby;
    Taters an' a li'l cohn meal all us is got.

Ah knows mah baby hongry, but Ah cain't he'p dat,
    But airly t'morrer yo' Mammy she gwine try
T' git sumpin' dat tastes good an' mek yo' fat;
    Yo' Mammy gwine mek yo' a gran' huckleberry pie!

THRONGS BRAVE HEAT TO PROFIT BY DOLLAR DAY

Despite high temperatures, thousands of persons jammed the loop yesterday to set new sales volume records for the first downtown "dollar day" in two and a half years. Fifteen hundred loop stores and shops took part in the bargain offering which attracted the largest crowds seen in the downtown shopping district since the World's Fair.

Added cars on the surface and elevated lines and extra buses brought the shopping crowds into the loop where special police details under Capt. David Flynn handled the increased flow of trafic. Restaurants, hotels, and theaters all reported heavy business throughout the day.

"The unprecedented one day movement of merchandise from shop shelves to consumers' homes will have a nation-wide effect," said Walter Gregory, president of the State Street council. "There will be an immediate need for replacements in store inventories with the result that this sale will stimulate busines in ever widening circles."

The effect of the bargain day will be felt in the cotton fields of the south, in factories scattered over the country, and throughout the nation's transportation system, Mr. Gregory declared.

Store owners were unanimous in terming the sale a success and many said that the sales equaled any previous one-day business.

Although $1 bargains were featured, substantial reduction in the prices of more expensive articles were offered by merchants. Vacation clothes and sporting equipment were the chief sellers, but merchants reported a surprising increase in shoe and furniture volume.

PINEAPPLE PIE DE LUXE.

1 fresh pineapple
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup pineapple juice
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
Salt
2 eggs
2-3 cup milk

Cut the pineapple into cubes and cook gently with one-fourth cup of the sugar and a tablespoon of its own juice. Stir in the lemon juice and let cool. Over the remaining sugar pour one-fourth cup of hot pineapple juice. Dissolve the flour in the remaining pineapple juice, left cold. Combine these two mixtures, add the milk, butter, and beaten eggs, and cook in a double boiler until thick and smooth. Cool. Now mix the drained pineapple with the custard, and turn into baked pastry shells. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

SARDINE AND TOMATO SALAD.

¼ cup mayonnaise
¾ cup sardines
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon horseradish
⅛ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
Dash of cayenne
12 slices ripe tomatoes

To mayonnaise add other ingredients except tomato slices. Blend thoroughly. Spread this mayonnaise and sardine mixture evenly on tomato slices. Serve two tomato slices to a portion. Serve on crisp lettuce with additional mayonnaise, thinned with a little tomato juice. Serves six.

DISH BREAKING POINTS WAY TO BETTER KITCHEN

Slam, bang, crash, went several dishes. Mrs. Homemaker stood back and looked at the pieces on the floor. She had tried to reach over one pile of dishes in her cupboard for a plate on the bottom of the stack in back. Right then and there she resolved to do something about it.

Large, inconvenient cupboards, with deep shelves far apart are usual in old houses. However, this inconvenience is not necessary if someone in the family is handy with a saw and hammer, says the New York State college of home economics.

To decide on the size and distance between the shelves requires planning. One way is to sort the dishes according to size and to place the tallest and the largest, like dinner plates, vegetable dishes and water pitchers, in a single row at the back of the bottom shelf. Directly above this row of dishes place a shelf just wide enough for saucers, sauce plates and other small dishes. Over this, place a still narrower shelf for tumblers and cups.

One end of the cupboard may be partitioned off so that platters may stand on end; this arrangement makes it easier to get the platters and saves space in the cupboard. It also does away with accidents that come when the platters are stacked back of other dishes.

Dishes seldom used may go on the higher shelves, but the ones used every day should be within easy reach and placed in a way to avoid waste motions.

A sorting bee may disclose dishes that need to be put in the "kitchen graveyard."

PEAPOD SOUP.

2 quarts fresh peapods
1 small head lettuce
1 small onion
½ bunch parsley
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
6 cups water
1 cup cream or top milk

Scour the pods. Quarter the lettuce head and run water through the sections. Skin and slice the onion. Wash the parsley thoroughly. Now add all these, together with the seasoning and butter, to the water. Cook gently until the flesh of the pods becomes tender. This will take between one and two hours of slow cooking. Now turn all through a sieve, pressing as much of the pulp through as possible. All should go through except the skeletons of the pea pods. Season further if necessary. Heat and add the cream or top milk. Continue simmering for several minutes, then serve with small toast cubes.

COCONUT ANGEL PIE.

1 cup sugar
5 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon salt
Grated rind of 1 orange
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 cups finely shredded coconut
3 egg whites
1-3 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 baked pie shell

PORK SAUSAGES WITH SOUR CREAM.

12 pork sausages
1½ cups sour cream
2½ teaspoons prepared mustard

Pan-fry the sausages until browned. Drain off nearly all the fat, then combine the cream and prepared mustard and pour over the sausages. Simmer over a slow burner until thickened and serve on a hot platter—the sausages first and the sauce over all.

MARKET ROADS TO COST MILLIONS FOR MICHIGAN

Lansing, Mich., July 18.—[Special.]—Announcement was made today by Harry Lynn Pierson, state works progress administrator, that about $20,000,000 federal funds will be spent to link rural roads to the highways, giving better connection between "farm and market."

The expenditure will be about 90 per cent for labor, Pierson said, for persons taken from the relief rolls. Though no pavement will be laid, some of the roads will be graded, graveled, or provided with oiled surfaces. No grade separations or bridges will be built.

DATE BROWNIES.

1-3 cup butter, softened
3 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sugar
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon sifted flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup finely chopped dates

Cream the butter and sugar together and add the eggs. Beat until well blended. Add the melted chocolate and then the flour, salt, and baking powder which have been sifted once together. Add the vanilla and chopped dates and when thoroughly mixed, turn into a shallow greased pan about 8 inches square. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for about 40 minutes. While still hot cut into squares or bars.

Don't Be Overweight!

Irene Rich, past forty, still has the same slim, lovely figure she had at 16.

"Eat Sensibly—Drink Welch's Grape Juice" says IRENE RICH Lovely Star of the Screen

Don't let extra pounds make you dull and unhappy and old-looking! Here's a new pleasant way to reduce! And it has good common-sense back of it. Scientists have discovered now that those starvation, low-calory diets fail to reduce correctly because they do not supply enough energy.

You must add to your diet an easily-burnable sugar, such as is found in Welch's Grape Juice. So eat sensibly and drink 4 glasses of Welch's every day—one glass before every meal and one before retiring. Then see how weight goes down as energy stays up. For in the Welch process the sugar in the juice is natural—the same kind the blood uses for energy. This sugar is easily and quickly burned; it actually helps the body burn up that ugly, excess fat. And it keeps energy up, too!

Satisfies Hunger

More than that, Welch's satisfies the craving for sweets and rich, fattening foods—it helps you lose weight naturally, with no feeling of strain!

Gives Pep and Energy

Welch's pure grape sugar gives new energy and vitality—restores a lovely natural color to your cheeks and sparkle to your eyes, without adding burdensome extra pounds. Reduce the Welch Way, and you'll not only have a slender figure, you'll look and feel ten years younger too! Get Welch's from your dealer today. You'll be glad you did.

BEWARE OF CHEAP SUBSTITUTES

Get genuine Welch's. For the secret Welch Process retains the essential healthful properties of ripe Concord Grapes. Welch's absolutely pure and unadulterated; is Certified-Pure, Pasteurized; contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no preservatives, no added water. Always full strength. Can be diluted with ¼ water and still be delicious. Hence Welch's goes farther. Ask for it by name. And get what you ask for!

We offer a new soap and a new method that cuts 1/3 off dish washing time

Now there's a quick and easy way to do dishes!

WOULD you like to know a quick, easy way to do the dishes? There is a very simple way to do them.

Silver Dust, the remarkable new soap, dissolves as easily as snow. The instant it touches water it bursts into millions of tiny bubbles that surround the particles of dirt and grease and float them away. There's no waiting for suds with Silver Dust. No worry about soap particles that don't dissolve. And best of all, you'll find that Silver Dust is kind to your hands.

So if you would make dish washing an easy job, by all means get two boxes of Silver Dust from your grocer today and then follow these three simple dish washing rules: First scrape dishes thoroughly. Second, use Silver Dust and hot water in the dishpan. Third, dry the dishes with the free Silver Dust towel. This towel does many times the work of an ordinary towel and it leaves no lint.

Once you have washed dishes this way you'll be delighted to find how quick and easy it is. Silver Dust and the free towel are waiting for you at your grocer's now. Get them today!

A FREE DISH TOWEL

A big dish towel comes packed with every two boxes of Silver Dust in a handy introductory carton.

BUTCHER SHOPS SHAVE PRICES ON LAMB, BROILERS

Peaches and Tomatoes on Bargain Counters.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Butchers found it necessary to turn to broiler chickens and leg of lamb yesterday in their weekly effort to get week-end bargains for the meat counter. Broilers have been reduced substantially in price since last week and a few cents have been shaved off the retail price of leg of lamb in most shops.

Other lamb cuts may come down soon in line with lower prices being paid for live lambs and fresh dressed lamb. Packers are paying prices ranging from "steady to 25 cents a pound lower" for lambs compared with last week. Dressed lamb now is costing the butchers from 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds less than it did a week ago, according to federal reporters at the stockyards.

Beef Generally Higher.

Retail beef prices are either the same or higher than last week. THE TRIBUNE weekly survey of butcher shops revealed that steaks, for example, are about the same as a week ago, but rib and pot roasts of beef are higher in many stores. Wholesale beef prices are about the same as a week ago. With a scarcity of beef cattle in the country, no relief apparently is in sight. High grade heavy steers are selling at about the same level as last week. Yearlings are 25 cents a pound higher. Cattle finished on grass are 25 to 50 cents lower because of a temporary over supply.

Pork cuts in retail butcher shops remain at the high price level. Fresh pork in the wholesale market, however, is from $1 to $1.50 a hundred pounds lower than it was this time last week. In contrast to the lower wholesale pork prices, live hog prices climbed higher and higher all this week, reaching the highest July price paid in nine years. With the federal government processing tax added, hogs sold at Chicago yesterday for $12.75 a hundred pounds.

Fresh Fish Prices Increase.

In most retail shops today and tomorrow, shoppers will find frying and stewing chickens and most kinds of fresh fish higher than they were last Friday and Saturday.

Liberal supplies of home grown beans, beets, and cabbage have resulted in lower prices in most stores. New cooking apples from Illinois and Indiana orchards still are plentiful on the markets and prevailing low prices are expected to drop still further. The heaviest apple crop in years is reported from the best fruit sections of both these states.

Fresh peaches are down from last week and wholesale shipments are increasing, especially from Georgia. Most of the fruit is considered of good quality. Many kinds of fresh berries in increasing quantities are coming from sources near Chicago in Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin. The strawberry crop is about gone and only a few stores are handling the berries, which are mostly of poor quality.

Tomatoes Plentiful and Cheaper.

Increasing wholesale supplies of fresh tomatoes are forcing prices down in the retail stores. The bulk of the shipments are from Tennessee, but these are being heavily supplemented by arrivals from several regions that do not normally send tomatoes to market in this territory. Some of the central Atlantic states, which ordinarily fail to supply their own demands and those of the eastern cities have a surplus this year that is being shipped to midwestern markets. This is true of several fresh fruits and vegetables that have produced unusually large crops in the eastern states this season, due to an abundance of rain.

Price tags have been marked up since last week on butter, sugar, lemons, and head lettuce. Raspberries and green peas also are higher in many stores. Local supplies of head lettuce are about gone and dealers again are turning to California and Washington gardens to meet most of their demands for this product. The recent warm weather is said to be the cause of higher lemon prices, which usually go up when the weather is warm and down when it is cool because of the variation in demand. Many stores will sell lemons this week-end for nearly double the price asked last week.

Household Hints

Custards should be baked slowly and taken from the oven as soon as they are done or a watery product will result. Test them by inserting a silver knife in the center. When the blade comes out clean, the custards are done.

* * *

Fresh cherries should be sweetened and heated to the boiling point before they are used for a shortcake. Blueberries, too, need to be heated with a little water, sugar, and a lemon slice, for shortcakes.

Stuff a five pound roasting chicken with bread stuffing, truss, tie, and sear in a hot oven for 15 minutes [500 degrees F.]. Then decrease the heat to moderate [350 degrees F.] and roast covered 1½ hours, or until nearly tender. Baste frequently with a mixture of butter and hot water. Spread ½ cup of currant jelly, finely broken with a fork, over the chicken and roast uncovered 30 minutes longer, or until well glazed, basting frequently.

SUMMER CAMP WILL SHOW ITS VALUE TO BOYS

The camp fund of the Young Men's Jewish charities, to which among other boys' activities the Golden Gloves fund recently made a contribution, is conducting a summer outing at Camp Wooster on Wooster lake, near Round Lake, Ill.

Next Sunday [July 21] has been set aside as the annual Guest day at the camp. In a brief, informal program, to start at 2:30 p. m. that day, an effort will be made to show just how the camp benefits hundreds of underprivileged boys, many of whom are now there.

J. Kraus is president of the Charities which conduct this camp, and its executive director is Albert J. Glusker.

Foot Wide Thin Wafer Staple Bread in Syria

"Markouk," Syrian bread, is a staple food in Syria and is made in thin wafers about one foot wide.

Tribune Recipes

JELLIED FISH COCKTAIL.

1 cup flaked fish or crabmeat
½ cup mayonnaise
2 teaspoons granulated gelatin
2 tablespoons water
4 tablespoons tomato catsup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 egg white

Soak the gelatin in cold water and melt over hot water. Mix with the mayonnaise, catsup, and seasoning. Add the finely flaked fish and fold in the beaten egg white. Chill until firm, cut into cubes, and serve in cocktail glasses.

UNCOOKED LEMON PIE FILLING.

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
6 tablespoons lemon juice
1¾ cups boiling water
2 egg yolks

Combine the gelatin, sugar, salt, and lemon rind with 3 tablespoons water. Add the egg yolk and stir well. Add remaining water and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Cool and add lemon juice. Chill. When slightly thickened turn into a cold baked pie shell. Chill until firm and serve topped with whipped cream.

ROAST OF VEAL, POT ROAST BEST WEEK-END BUYS

For the guidance of housewives purchasing meat in Chicago retail meat stores the committee on marketing information of the Meat Council of Chicago yesterday issued the following report: "Pot roast of beef is recommended to the housewives of Chicago as an unusually attractive meat buy over the coming week-end. Shoulder roast of veal also is recommended."

DOUG FAIRBANKS AND LADY ASHLEY REACH ENGLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18.—Douglas Fairbanks and Lady Ashley arrived at Southampton today aboard the liner Empress of Britain.

"I refuse to discuss my personal and private affairs," Fairbanks said when asked if he intended to be married in the near future.

He said he and Lady Ashley will attend a house party in the country, then will spend a week together in London.

Fairbanks told a story of a young Englishman living among cannibals and head hunters in the bush on the island of Mallikolo, New Hebrides. The Englishman, named Harrison, who is an ornithologist, went to the island on behalf of the American Museum of Natural History to study bird life and stayed there. He lived in the interior with the natives where no white man previously had penetrated. Fairbanks said he got in touch with Harrison, who arranged for the actor to take 40,000 feet of film showing the life of cannibals.

Fairbanks said he intends to go to Japan, where he will interest himself in Japanese film production.

PROVE AT OUR RISK THAT THE NEW WONDER BREAD
is best for your children!

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU DO NOT AGREE!

MORE than a million mothers are now serving this new Wonder Bread, baked for their children. Without one exception they agree that Wonder Bread is everything we say it is!

"Congratulations!" one mother wrote. "Your new Wonder Bread is better than I thought any bread could be. My children love it. I can easily see why you spend 17% extra for ingredients to give us such perfect bread."

"I have always known how good milk proteins and milk minerals are for children," said another, "because of their body-building qualities. It is welcome news that the new Wonder Bread gives this goodness in extra quantity. This is the kind of bread I have always wanted for my children."

Many mothers talk about the superb flavor and creamy, fluffy texture of the new loaf. They agree that we were wise in choosing, from the 24 kinds of flour available, the one that makes Wonder Bread best for children . . . the flour from the very heart of the wheat-berry, so much richer in nourishment and energy.

They say that the millions of dollars spent in perfecting our famous slo-baking method have been well invested. And laboratory tests prove this, for they show that slo-baked Wonder Bread is far easier to digest than fast-baked bread. Thus children get greater benefit from Wonder Bread and get it quicker and more completely.

Do as a million mothers have done—discover the facts at our risk. Get a loaf of the new Wonder Bread, baked for your children, from your grocer. Serve half of it to your family. If you do not agree that Wonder Bread fulfills every promise we make for it, write a short note telling us why. Mail the note with the unused half-loaf in its original wrapper to us at the address below. You will get back twice what you paid, at once!

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Chris Jackson is sent by Bill Benton, new sherif of Monterey county, in early Spanish California, to put an end to the Ortega-Alvado feud, which has resulted in many murders. Chris encounters Guido Ortega, Ramon, his dare-devil son, and Ysabel, his beautiful sad-eyed niece. He falls in love with Ysabel at first sight, and has a quarrel with Ramon and publicly spanks him. He receives a note from Ysabel, hinting of a mysterious danger and begging his aid. Chris camps in a canyon on the northern boundary of the Alvado ranch. He is advised by Rocky, an old Indian hunter, to leave the country. Next day Chris meets Francesca Alvado, flirtatious Spanish beauty. He tells her of his encounter with Ramon Ortega. It wins him welcome at the Alvado ranch. He is invited to a rodeo to be held there in a week. During the rodeo the warring families hold a traditional three day truce. Ysabel Ortega is facing a forced marriage with her cousin, Ramon. Her uncle refuses to tell her the secret of her birth, as he had promised to do on her 18th birthday. She appeals to Rocky, who promises to delay the priest's arrival. Chris, masquerading as Rocky, comes to the Ortega ranch. He is captured. Ysabel rescues him. He returns to the Alvado ranch. They become suspicious of him and he is forced to remain with them, an unwilling guest, under threat of his life. José Alvado, in love with Ysabel, ventures to the Ortega ranch and is held a hostage. The Ortegas arrive at the Alvado ranch for the rodeo. Francesca is jealous of Ysabel. The first night of the rodeo Chris dances with Ysabel and wins a fleeting kiss. Next day at the rodeo Chris is taunted into riding a killer and saves the life of Ramon Ortega. Francesca hints to Ysabel that she is engaged to Chris. Chris is bewildered by Ysabel's coolness.

INSTALMENT XXXV.

THE RODEO BALL.

"But look here!" Chris protested, "what's happened? Why did Ysabel run away like that? I'm going after her!"

Rocky put a detaining hand on his arm.

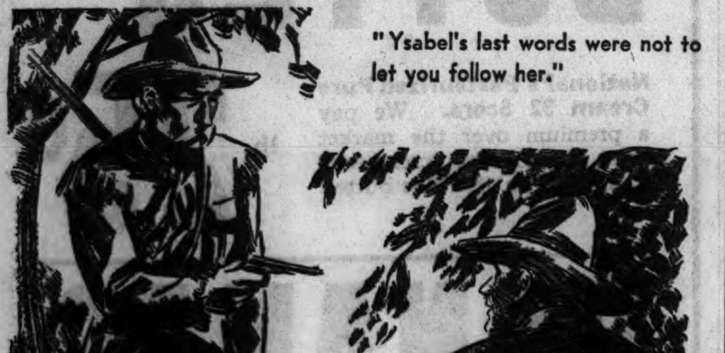
"Better not!" he warned. "Ysabel made it mighty clear she wanted hands off, as far as you were concerned."

"But why?" Chris exploded, as bewilderment still held him rooted to the spot, detained more by the memory of Ysabel's cool dismissal than Rocky's hold on his arm.

Had he offended Ysabel by that impulsive kiss in the dark? Surely she had felt the inevitability of it, as he had! But if she hadn't felt it was the seal of the feeling that he was confident she shared with him he must explain to her!

"I must see her!" He tried to wrench his arm away, but found it clutched in the vise of Rocky's grip.

"Ysabel's last words were not to let you follow her," he answered, and the next second Chris was facing a gun which Rocky had drawn with



"Ysabel's last words were not to let you follow her."

"Let go!" Chris' voice was dangerously low, but Rocky met his eyes without flinching.

such lightning rapidity with his free hand that Chris had had no inkling of his intention.

He shrugged in acceptance of defeat.

"You win! Put it up. I won't go after her if she feels that way about seeing me!"

Rocky slipped the gun back. "I don't know what it's all about," he admitted, "but at the present moment I'm taking orders from Ysabel."

Deeply hurt and bewildered as he was, Chris accepted the inevitable, for the moment at least. After all it would be better to wait until tonight at the dance. He would waste no precious moments then, he resolved, in drifting inarticulately with the tide of his feelings as he had last night, but would tell her at once that he loved her, and beg her to go away with him to the nearest mission, where they could be married, and defy Ramon and her uncle for all time.

Chris came back from his thoughts to find Rocky's eyes fixed on him with an indulgent expression, in spite of having been obliged to thwart him.

"You would do well to walk alone, as I do," he observed. "Women and peace of mind do not go together."

"At least tell me that she is in no danger until after the rodeo!" Chris demanded.

"She is in good hands," Rocky answered. "I can tell you no more, now."

With this final word he turned to leave, and Chris watched him make his way down the slope with his stealthy, swinging stride.

A slight rustling of underbrush caught his ear, and Chris looked over to his left, from where it seemed to come.

Instantly all was silent again, and dismissing the incident with the thought that it must have been Rocky he had heard, and that he had been fooled as to the direction of the sound, Chris slowly climbed back to the ridge, where he had left Bingo.

. . . .

The strains of a slow stately waltz announced the first dance of the rodeo ball, and Chris stood back against the wall watching the brilliant company in which he found himself with a sense of utter unreality.

Everyone, with the exception of Señor Alvado, and the stately older lady with whom he was dancing, lined the walls, awaiting the moment when the host would lead his partner to her seat, and the ball would be formally opened.

Chris found his eyes drifting from the older couple in search of Ysabel. He had seen her only from a distance and not once had he succeeded in catching her eyes, but he could not keep his own off her.

Her creamy taffeta, with its pattern of tiny flowered nosegays, was cut low across the shoulders, with a soft lace fichu outlining them, and caught in a knot at her breast.

Nestling in the folds of the knot was a brooch of flashing diamonds that fairly took Chris' breath away. He'd never seen anything like them outside of a jeweler's window, and they far eclipsed any of the jewels worn by the other women.

In addition to the brooch, Ysabel wore a necklace with a diamond and emerald pendant, and long earrings to match.

She was standing between her uncle and Ramon, who were flanked, one on each side of her. Her eyes were fixed on Señor Alvado and his partner, but a faint pink colored her cheeks suddenly, and Chris felt sure that she knew his eyes were on her although she gave no sign of it.

Calculating on how soon he could hope to get Ysabel to himself, Chris frowned at the position he found himself in.

At dinner he had sat again beside Francesca, but this time on her right. When he had taken the time to think of it, her manner had been most peculiar. There had been a certain possessive familiarity to it that he had instinctively shied away from, but Francesca had seemed gayly unconscious of his withdrawal.

She was in high good humor and kept the whole company laughing at her sallies. Chris had done his best to keep up his end of it, but he had been aware every moment of Ysabel, beautiful, white and aloof at the far end of the table.

Chris had felt that he could hardly wait to get her to himself and try to bring back the Ysabel of the night before, but all his schemes had been frustrated by Francesca, who announced that she had a plan for the dance.

Every one was to dance first with the two nearest them at dinner before choosing partners of their own. There was general laughing agreement and Chris found himself bound for the first two dances before he could seek out Ysabel.

A sudden rustle about him brought Chris back to the scene before him and he saw Señor Alvado bowing low before his partner as he left her.

The next minute a white hand was laid on Chris' arm and he swung Francesca out onto the floor.

He tried to catch sight of Ysabel, but lost her in the sudden rush of dancers who poured on to make up for the lost time of that first formal dance, which custom demanded must always open the rodeo ball.

"Why are you so silent?" Francesca gazed up into Chris' eyes.

"Just nothing much to say, I reckon," Chris answered, with a sudden exasperation at her manner. What was she up to, anyway? Trying to make people think there was something between them?

Francesca's eyes flashed dangerously at his ungracious response, but she kept her temper as she leaned nearer to him and whispered. "There is no need to say anything when you dance the way you do."

Chris mechanically responded with a compliment for her dancing, but his mind was flashing back to that last inspiration of his.

Was Francesca trying to give the impression that there was something between them? And had she succeeded in giving that impression to Ysabel?

If so, that explained everything! Resolving to find Ysabel the moment his second enforced dance was over, and straighten everything out, Chris resigned himself to the inevitable present.

Ysabel, meanwhile, rigid in the arms of Ramon, who had been the partner on her right, was moving in a trance of rebellious despair.

Resolutely keeping her eyes away from them during dinner, she could still hear Francesca's high laugh, and catch significant looks of the others.

An overwhelming feeling that it would be more than she could bear to actually hear the engagement announced swept over her as she caught the look Francesca flashed at Chris as they drifted past them.

"I have a bad headache, Ramon."

Ysabel stopped by the door and Ramon swung her away from the circling couples.

"I think I'll go to my room and come back later. Will you explain to that young man who sat on my left?"

Leaving him, she ran across the court and gained her room.

Shutting the door behind her, she stood a moment in the grateful darkness, absently fingering the pendant at her neck.

How differently she had pictured this evening! And now, not even her mother's jewels could lighten the heaviness of her heart!

Place 5 More Names on List of Debutantes

Four of Newest Buds Live in Winnetka.

son officially will meet her parents' friends at a tea in their Astor street residence. Miss Thompson, who is observed several times a week as one of the prettiest young women on the Post and Paddock club terraces at Arlington, and her mother and the "baby," 9 year old Pauline Thompson, will go west for August. Miss Thompson was graduated from the Girls' Latin school last month, and plans to enter Vassar in the fall. Another younger sister, Lois, will remain at home next winter.

Miss Nancy Forgan, whose parents, the junior James B. Forgans, will present her Dec. 21 at a dinner-dance at the Casino, will have a month or more in England before returning to plunge into the debutante activities this fall. She and her mother, who are visiting along the eastern coast, and Mr. Forgan and his elder daughter, Miss Louise Forgan, who have been spending the summer at the Onwentsia club, will sail next week for the British Isles.

Cornell Wedding Postponed One Week.

The wedding of Miss June Cornell to Kellogg Fairbank Jr., which was scheduled to take place Sept. 21 in Lake Geneva, has been postponed one week so that the bride-to-be's mother, Mrs. John Francis Cornell, will be able to come from New York for the ceremony.

The date, which now is Sept. 28, is the only detail of the wedding plans that has been changed. The service still will be read at the Episcopal church in Lake Geneva followed by a reception at the Kellogg Fairbank country place, the Butternuts.

French Author Will Be Guest in City.

Arriving in Chicago today to be guests of International house until next Wednesday are Prof. Andre Siegfried, French author, and Mme. Siegfried. In the absence of Dr. Ernest B. Price, director of International house, and Mrs. Price, Mrs. Quincy Wright will serve as hostess to the visitors. Prof. Siegfried is author of "America Comes of Age."

Members of International house and the students and faculty of the University of Chicago will hear Prof. Siegfried discuss "French Civilization versus Problems of the Twentieth Century" at 8:30 o'clock Sunday evening in International house's assembly hall.

The following afternoon from 4:30 until 6 o'clock the professor and his wife will meet members of the Friends' group of International house and members of various French organizations in the city at a tea and reception to be given by the board of governors of International house. Mrs. Moise Dreyfus is in charge of a luncheon at the Tavern club which the Alliance Française will give for Prof. and Mme. Siegfried Tuesday.

The John W. Roots, Louis C. Sudler, Mr. and Mrs. August Kochs, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Briggs, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lynch are among those entertaining at dinner tonight in the new continental room of the Stevens hotel, where Lydia and Joresco, dance team, are opening an engagement.

Evanston's younger set is being enlivened by the visit of two former young Chicagoans, Mollie and Carolyn Holland, who are visiting their father, John F. Holland Jr., and their paternal grandmother, Mrs. John F. Holland, at the North Shore hotel. Mollie and Carolyn have been living with their mother, Mrs. Mary Taylor Holland, in Brockport, near Rochester, N. Y., since last summer.

Mollie has been a guest of the Walter Wilsons of Winnetka during part of her stay. She will leave Sunday with her father and sister for a motor trip to Canada, via Castle Park, Mich., on their way back to Brockport.

Kirk Daughters to Return Soon.

Within a few weeks Mrs. Hambleton Kirk will have both of her daughters at home again. Mrs. Lawrence Williams, the former Barbara Kirk, returns the end of this week from Desbarats, Canada, where she and her husband have spent the last few weeks, and Mrs. C. Ross Cuthbert, the former Beatrice Kirk, will be at home some time in August. Capt. and Mrs. Cuthbert are now in Scotland, where they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Smith Grant.

Mrs. Heaton Owsley, who has been in Massachusetts, has gone to the Virginia Hot Springs to spend the rest of the summer. Her daughter, Mrs. Sterling Morton, and Mr. Morton are abroad and are expected to return home early next month. Their daughter, Miss Suzette, preferred to do some studying at Vassar college to accompanying her parents abroad and she, too, will return to Chicago early in August.

Miss Bonnie-Jean Clark has with her as her house guest in Barrington her young sister-in-law, Mrs. Carrington Clark of Kansas City. Mrs. Clark will be here until next week, and shortly after her departure Bonnie-Jean is going to Tarrytown, N. Y., to visit her former roommate at Dobbs Ferry, Miss Cornelia Scott.

Mrs. Ralph H. Norton is going to her country home at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., the end of the week to be with her daughter Beatrice, whose engagement to Robert V. Dilley of Cleveland was announced recently. Miss Norton will stay in the east until the middle of September, when she will return to complete her plans for an early autumn wedding.

Mrs. Robert Bartlett and her daughters Audrey and Beverly have gone to Falmouth Heights on Cape Cod for the summer. The Bartletts, who spend most of each winter in Phoenix, have a cottage at Malibu Beach on the Pacific coast where they usually summer, but this year they decided to spend the warm weather months on the Atlantic seacoast. Miss Beverly will be at the Westlake School for Girls in Los Angeles next winter.

College Frats New Field for Film Business

Make Movies for Showing at Conventions.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—The movies have entered the college Greek letter society field. There is a film corporation with offices here and in New York which specializes in taking amateur footage shots by college fraternity men or sorority sisters, cutting it, editing it, titling it, sound-"dubbing" it, and turning it back to the Greek brethren and sisters for their own showings during the rushing time or at conventions.

The new corporation is Films, Incorporated, an offshoot of Films of Commerce company, which in itself is an offspring of the old Pathe outfit.

When R. K. O. [now Radio-R. K. O.] bought ou the original Pathé company seven years ago, R. K. O. took over the Pathe trademark, featured contracts, old pictures, franchises and other working assets. But when the question of Pathe's educational department—meaning such films and activities as the Harvard classics—arose, R. K. O. decided it didn't want to be tied into that field. Don Carlos Ellis, who had been head of Pathe's educational department, accordingly was out of a job but only momentarily, for he at once formed Films of Commerce company.

He continued shooting and showing the "Harvard Classics," which are literary or classical subjects presented in popular film form. He supplemented this class of short subjects with others of similar type, showing for instance a legislature or a mine, or a visit through a college.

Such short subjects went so well that Films, Inc., took over the field represented by colleges and their campuses and activities along with such allied subjects as the Campfire Girls.

Now the new concern with H. V. Hoagland as president and general manager and Stanley Grady of New York as part owner—a pair of Phi Gamma Deltas from University of Pennsylvania—are conducting their novel-film business from Los Angeles.

They recently "covered" the Zeta Tau Alpha convention in Pasadena, Cal., with all-color sound movies recorded on a 16 millimeter camera. It was the first time sixteen millimeter negative in full color and with sound was ever done. Kappa Delta followed with the next special movie.

Kappa Alpha Theta sorority then asked and was given a "scenaro" of what a film about the "Theta's" would be like. About this "scenaro" Messrs. Hoagland and Grady are versatile. They write the film script outlining what shots the collegians ought to have in order to get an interesting short reeler developed.

Among the fraternities which have negotiated with the young men have been Sigma Chi, already possessing its own 35 millimeter film glorifying Sigs everywhere; Beta Theta Pi, Delta Kappa Epsilon and Zeta Psi.

"We can dub sound—cheers, college songs, a spoken explanation of the scenes—onto a silent film the college boys bring us," Hoagland explains. "We take the footage they supply, pick out the highlights for them, discard what isn't dramatic or entertaining, put in subtitles where necessary, edit it and give them back 400 feet of footage which is equivalent to about 1,000 feet of the 35 millimeter. That means 15 to 18 minutes of entertainment.

"If the fraternity hasn't its own sixteen millimeter camera we can supply a man to shoot it for them or tell them where to get a competent man. We can give them sound film and with our recent venture with Zeta Tau Alpha turning out so successfully we can shoot sound movies in natural color with the sixteen millimeter camera at a cost so cheap it will cause surprise."

Films, Inc., gets a $25 fee from a college fraternity for editing the film. The concern's profit comes from selling members, chapters or provinces of a fraternity completed single prints, ready for showing, at $25 each. "If we sell twelve prints we get our money back. More than twelve and we profit," Hoagland says.

That's the price on an ordinary black and white film. If sound film or all-color film, or a special cameraman is supplied the initial cost is moderately higher but the prints still will sell around $25.

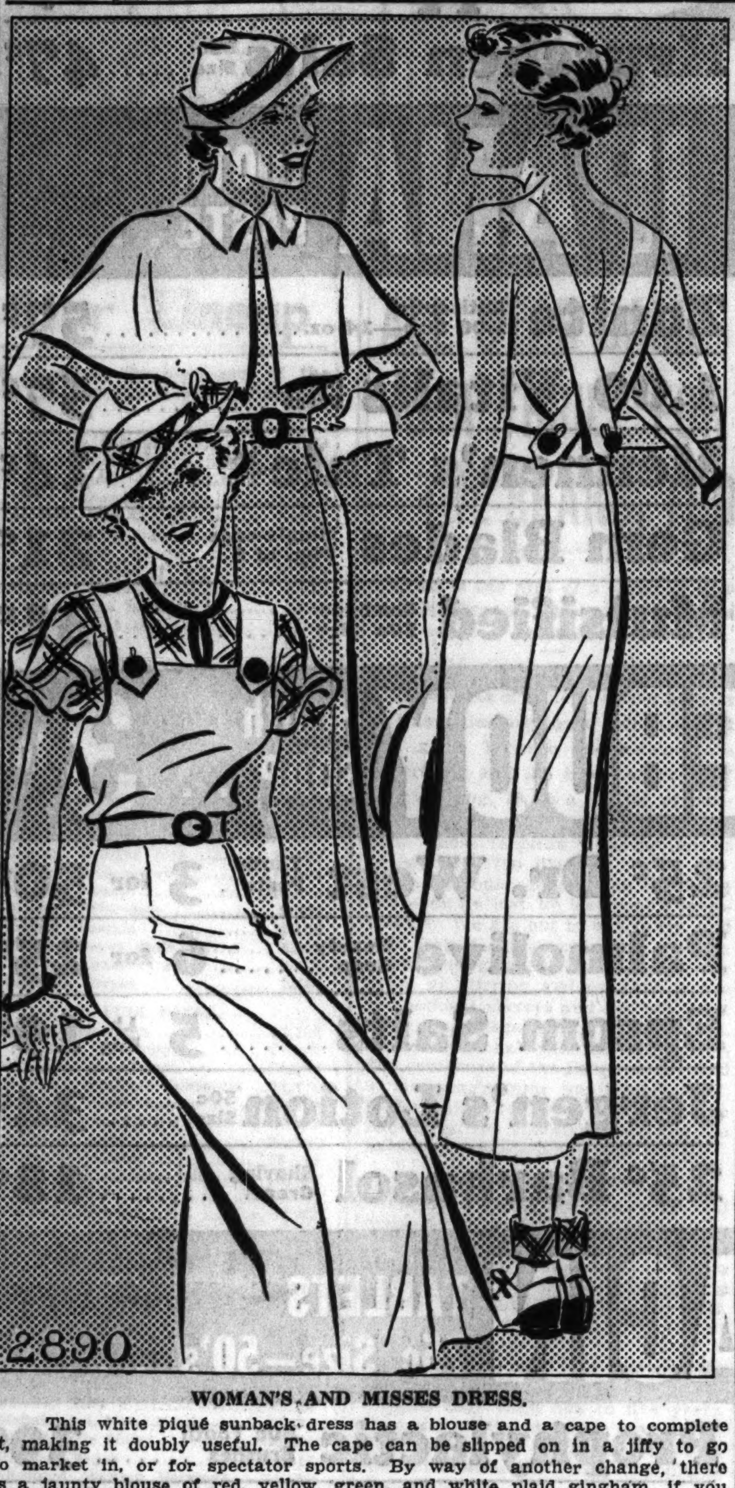
Three Faiths Plan Loyalty Day to Offset "Savage Paganism"

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths will unite in holding a national "go to church" week-end Oct. 5 and 6, the national committee for religion and welfare announced today.

The week-end will be known as "Loyalty day" and will be set aside for religious thought, Walter W. Head of St. Louis, chairman of the committee, said.

The purpose of the movement is to offset the "savage paganism that is beginning to inundate the world," the council said.

Cape or Blouse for Change



WOMAN'S AND MISSES DRESS.

This white piqué sunback dress has a blouse and a cape to complete it, making it doubly useful. The cape can be slipped on in a jiffy to go to market in, or for spectator sports. By way of another change, there is a jaunty blouse of red, yellow, green, and white plaid gingham, if you copy the original ensemble.

The pattern, No. 2890, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 2½ yards of 39 inch material for the dress; 1¼ yards of 39 inch material for the cape, and 2 yards of 35 inch material for the blouse.

Urgent Suitor Must Be Ready to Support Girl

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am 21 and the girl I love is 18. Her mother knows how crazy we are about each other and doesn't want her girl to keep on going steadily with me for fear we'll marry. Her mother wants her to take a business course and work a few years before thinking of marriage. Dorothy doesn't know what to do because she loves her mother, too, and doesn't want to hurt her. I am making $21 a week but could call on my mother and dad to help out if we married." Frank.

Now, Frank, is that being a man? Talking marriage to a girl with intent to call upon your dad to finance the venture? Don't you imagine your dad may be having his own troubles trying to finance his own family expense? Your plan surely isn't to invite the young woman in to live under your dad's roof? That would be no kind of break to be offering her and certainly none to be giving yourself.

Twenty-one dollars a week no one is scorning these days but as a marriage prospect for a young lady it's not enticing. Out of it right now how much do you manage to save after you've bought your own clothes, paid your board, and spent for amusement on your lady love? Probably not a penny. No doubt you have to graft off dad all the time.

But something inspires you to think that if you married, money would just arrive out of nowhere—that is, if you think at all that you need money at all when you marry. Young men who sit down and ponder the problem seriously begin to realize for the first time in their lives that it takes real money to buy groceries, to pay rent, etc. Heretofore, Dad's magic pocket kept the knowledge from them. But when one reaches such man's estate as to contemplate marriage he's no little boy any longer, expecting dad to pay his bills and to act as buffer all the time.

A wife is somewhat of a luxury under any circumstances, Frank. She has to be fed, clothed, taken here and yon. She wants furniture for her home and linen and silver and oodles of things I bet you never thought of. It's all right to want to marry when you're young. But it isn't all right to talk it to a young lady until you realize what it's going to cost. You may want a car terribly—but you've got to wait around and figure out where the money for it is coming from.

Use your head on this marriage business, son. Have it in mind—but plan and work and save for it.

Bainum's Band Scores Again in Park Series

Herbert Johnson, Pianist, Is Soloist.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Glenn Cliffe Bainum and his remarkably good band were back at the band shell in Grant park last night to play before another large and enthusiastic audience. Beginning and ending with works by Coates, Mr. Bainum showed considerable originality in the construction of his program and a fine flair for its performances.

Some of the other numbers were a transcription of Dukas' "Sorcerer's Apprentice," three items from the second "Arlesienne" suite by Bizet, and some excerpts from Tschaikowsky's Sixth Symphony.

In the second part of the program Herbert Johnson, pianist, appeared with the band, which was an uncommon enough combination. The justification was that he made a hit. He played a comparatively minor part with the band in Cesana's "Negro Heaven," then "Dark Eyes" and Poldini's "Japanese Etude" as solos, then back with the band in Ketelbery's "Clock and Dresden Figures," all pleasant numbers and deserving of the loud applause they got.

The Chicago Grand Opera orchestra will play tonight with Isaac Van Grove as conductor and Lucia Diano, Sonia Sharnova, John Pane-Gasser, and Frederick Jencks as soloists. The program:

1. Overture to "The Barber of Seville" .... Rossini
2. "O Don Fatale" from "Don Carlos". Verdi
3. Bacchanale from "Samson and Delilah" .... Saint-Saëns
4. "Aïda" .... Verdi
   a. "Celeste Aïda."
   b. Duet from Act IV.
   c. Triumphal March and Dance.
5. "Pagliacci" .... Leoncavallo
   a. Prolog.
   b. Ballatella.
   c. Intermezzo.
   d. Duet.
   e. Lament.
6. Intermezzo from "The Jewels of the Madonna" .... Wolf-Ferrari
7. Players' Dance from "The Bartered Bride" .... Smetana
8. Indian Dance from "Natoma" .... Herbert
9. Prelude to "Die Meistersinger" .... Wagner

Rudolph Ganz and Mollie Margolies played a two piano program in the Chicago Musical college series at the Sonotone theater yesterday morning. They are two highly capable and interesting players considered either as soloists or in their ensemble relations of the two instruments.

Beginning with Bach in the Bauer arrangement and Schubert, they progressed to the Haydn-Brahms Variations, and for a final appearance played a group of three, Ravel's "Mother Goose," Debussy's "Linderaja," which Mr. Ganz explained that he played for two years before he knew what the title meant, and Lee Pattison's transcription of the Coronation scene from Moussorgsky's "Boris Godunoff."

OPERA BOARD ELECTS

Attorney George I. Haight was elected president of the Chicago Grand Opera company yesterday at a meeting of the board of directors held in Civic Opera building. Mr. Haight, who was absent from the city, notified the directors by telegraph of his acceptance. Mrs. Ernest Graham was named secretary and treasurer. Paul Longone, artistic director for the opera, said that plans for the coming season would be announced later officially by Mr. Haight.

Declares 140 Opera Principals in N. Y. Are Living in Want

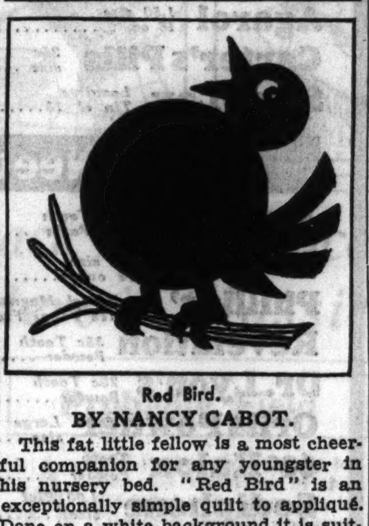
New York, July 18.—[Special.]—There are 140 principals of grand opera companies, ranging from the greatest to the smallest, unemployed and in need in New York City, according to Miss Elizabeth Hoeppel, president of the Grand Opera Artists' association, and they must have relief that will save their self-respect as artists.

"I cannot give you their names," she said, "but 140 of the 175 members of our organization are not employed. They are suffering in silence."

[ADVERTISMENT.]

YES, IT'S TRUE! There's a new kind of sanitary napkin now—one that really is accident-proof. It's the new "Certain-Safe" Modess. Its longer tabs can't pull loose from the pins. It can't strike through. And it's not only safer—it's softer, too. No harsh, papery layers. Try it!

Twelve Birds Sit Cheerfully on a Juvenile Quilt



Red Bird.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This fat little fellow is a most cheerful companion for any youngster in his nursery bed. "Red Bird" is an exceptionally simple quilt to appliqué. Done on a white background it is suitable for any boy's room. The more delicate pastels are reserved for the little girls. Pink, blue, or yellow on white are the most youthful color schemes suggested. Twelve birds are required for one quilt. The clever quilt diagram shows an interesting block arrangement which is carried out by reversing the birds when they are appliquéd to the white ground.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Sally's Guests Cheer Victory of Cubs Team

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

We came, we saw, and the Cubs conquered. They defeated Philadelphia, 11 to 3, which was just the sort of score we wanted!

Although it was an extremely hot day my 100 guests forgot all about the heat and the humidity as soon as they were comfortably seated in our nice box seats, sipping pop and watching their heroes in action.

Thrills began immediately when young Phil Cavarretta, the first baseman from Lane Tech, who's making good in the big league, came over to greet us. He's an awfully nice young chap and the kids were all delighted to see him. Then we met Bob Elson, the radio announcer, and some of the youngsters were permitted to talk over W-G-N. Maybe they won't be bragging about that on their block!

The game started and when "Gabby" Hartnett came to bat he got a big hand from our group. He seems to be the particular pal of every kid there, and when he waved to us my guests were positively ecstatic.

Came the fourth inning and time for ice cream. Strawberry, and very refreshing. Then Camilli of Philadelphia batted a ball which soared over in our direction, and young Myron Rush, a 12 year old guest, caught it with his left hand and was allowed to keep it.

We had plenty of chances to cheer the home team and the score was perfectly satisfactory to us. We're very grateful for a grand afternoon, Mr. Wrigley!

Preventive Creams Make Bad Sunburn Definitly Passe

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It's amazing the way some women will nurse and tend their skin carefully the rest of the year and glory in the good looking skin they have and then in a week's time, or maybe even in one day's time, simply ruin it with overexposure to the sun.

I saw a woman just the other day whose complexion heretofore has been one of her best assets. But it was one raw, red mass of a burn away down on her chest that will take months to clear off. Why do it this year especially with all the sunburn preventive preparations available. Of course, you say: "But I didn't expect to burn like that or I never would have stayed out so long!" Naturally, if you've been an indoor worker and haven't trained your skin to weather exposure on week-end jaunts or on the tennis courts or golf, you have to approach this sun theme cautiously.

I have heard of more bad burns this year than any other—in spite of the fact, I repeat, that preventive lotions never were more easily available. I know three people under medical care at this moment because of their reckless sun courting. Incidentally, it is wise to bear in mind that a bad sun burn, like any other bad burn, should be treated by a physician. Serious things may happen if the condition is not properly attended. If the blisters happen to become infected, watch out!

For the milder burns, which may be no end painful, there are simple methods of relief. A boric acid ointment is excellent. Or, that old timer whose efficacy I can give personal indorsement, equal parts of linseed oil and lime water, will soothe and heal the inflamed skin. Its odor is none too pleasant, but the odor isn't as hard to bear as the discomfort of the burn. Pure olive oil, if it is handy, may be used with success, too. Or, olive oil with one per cent thymol added, is good.

There are some people, you know, who can't endure sun exposure at all. The name of these is "heliophobe" and these must resort to the use of sunburn cream or lotion, and be extra cautious about both wind and sunburn.

The windburns, incidentally, can be just as vicious in consequence as the sunburns, so if you are interested before you set out for a long country spin, even though the sun may not be shining brightly.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

UNDERLEADING.

Once the insidious drug of underleading gets a hold on you, it is virtually impossible to shake it off. There is a fascination, for example, about playing the six spot from a holding of A, K, Q, J, 10, 6, and having your partner win the trick with the nine.

Here is a hand that was played in a recent duplicate:

♠9-7
♥A-K-x-x-x-x
♦Q-x-x

WEST
♠A-K-J-x-x
♥J-10
♦5-4

EAST
♠Q-10-x-x
♥x
♦K-J-3-3

SOUTH
♠x-x
♥Q-9-x-x
♦A-10-9-x
♣8-3-2

The bidding:

WEST	NORTH	EAST	SOUTH
Pass	1 Ht.	Pass	2 Ht.
2 Sp.	4 Ht.	4 Sp.	Dbl.
Pass	Pass	Pass

Neither side was vulnerable. A non-vulnerable game in a major suit counts 420 points. Therefore, North determined to set West three tricks, or 500 points.

He started his campaign by playing the ace of clubs. South naturally put on the deuce. North continued with the king of clubs. He then went through a palpable mental struggle, while South sat there, bland and imperturbable as Buddha. South knew full well what was going through his partner's somewhat devious mental processes. Since South held both the ace of diamonds and the queen of hearts, South was not worried.

North finally ignored the singleton on the board and underled the ace and king of hearts. South went up with the queen and played back a club. North trumped. We fear there was a bit of old fashioned coffee house in North's next hesitation. When North came out with a low diamond, West went up with the king. The ace took, and a diamond was played back.

Those who had set four spades one trick were, for the rest of the evening, demanding to know how this North and South had gleaned the 500 points.

And subsequently, South was able to return the favor with this hand:

♠x-x
♥J-9-x-x-x
♦Q-x

WEST
♠A-K-Q-x-x
♥10
♦K-10-x-x
♣K-J-x

EAST
♠J-9-x
♥x-x-x
♦x-x

SOUTH
♥A-K-Q-x
♦A-J-9-x-x
♣A

The bidding:

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
1 Di.	Dbl.	Pass	2 Cl.
2 Ht.	2 Sp.	3 Ht.	Pass
4 Ht.	4 Sp.	Pass	Pass
Dbl.	Pass	Pass	Pass

North opened with the queen of diamonds. South overtook with the ace, laid down the ace of clubs, and underled the ace, king and queen of hearts to put his partner in with the jack. The ensuing ruff in clubs set the contract.

Remembering Own Youth Is Good for Adults

Gives Parents Tolerance and Perspective.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

What we need in order to get a better perspective on our children is to remember our own young days. Youth—its exuberance—its high spirits—its distaste of authority—its adventurousness—its "custard pie" sense of comedy—does not vary much from generation to generation.

Were our young days guiltless of broken windows? Weren't they often filled with such passionate longing to play that chores or homework or duty had no validity? Weren't they often peppered with comic strip antics which were quite unappreciated by the grownups?

"With no trouble at all I can look back on incidents in my youth that were expressions of adventure, thrill, and humor," said a woman of my acquaintance. "And not one of their perpetrators ever landed in jail, and most of them grew up to be fine men and women."

"Tell me," I said.

"Well, there was the episode of telling the drug store man that we could get no chocolates out when we put the pennies in the slot. The fact that we had put no pennies in only added to the piquancy of the situation. It was an experiment only and no criminal tendency developed."

She went on: "There was the mischievous child who solemnly took a bag of sand to the church as her contribution for the poor at Thanksgiving. It was done, not with any spirit of irreverence, but to confound the minister's small helper who was a sanctimonious little neighborhood brat. The donor did not turn out to be selfish or irreligious—in fact she is now one of the most kindly and charitable of women. And I could tell you of several other funny stunts we pulled.

"Once when our neighborhood was unduly wrought up over some broken windows, one of our worthiest and most respected citizens remarked that when he was young his gang used to do exactly what these boys did unintentionally and yet they all grew up into decent, self-respecting citizens.'

When you're a child and do a thing it looks so different from the way it appears to the grownup who is looking on. Of course, we must hold up standards to our children, and explain the reasons why we object to some of their acts. But in the days of our parenthood we need to remember the days of our youth.

It is the inbetweens (children from 6 to 12) who are most often offenders in the eyes of grownups. Our fully written booklet on this age will help you to understand them and their behavior. A stamped, self addressed envelope will bring it to you.

SCIENCE FINDS HOTTEST STAR, 180,000 DEGREES

Sun Is Cool by Contrast; Tests Are Told.

Cambridge, Mass., July 18.—(AP)—An unnamed far off star, whose surface temperature is 180,000 degrees Fahrenheit, the highest heat ever measured anywhere, was described to the conference on spectroscopy today at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The sun's surface is barely 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The hottest temperature previously reported, all on stars, were 35,000 to 40,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Displays Strange Rays.

A blue rainbow—the distant star's ultra-violet light — revealed the inferno. This star is a peculiar object. It is a sun surrounded by a nebula, which in the telescope looks like a halo — a star surrounded by something like the ring around the moon.

It was this ring or nebula which made it possible to read the temperature with new instruments and new methods. These were described by Dr. I. S. Bowen of the California Institute of Technology. The temperature reading, he said, was made by Zanstra, a Dutch astronomer.

The thermopiles widely used to read the heat rays of distant stars fail at excessive temperatures, because the heat rays are so weak that they would show practically no difference between 100,000 and 200,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

How Heat Is Tested.

The new method calculates the heat in a fashion analogous to studying a fire hidden under a tent but hot enough so that some of its light might be dimly seen through thin spots in the enveloping fabric.

The star tent is the nebula around it. This nebula is believed to be a cloud of gas.

Only the invisible rays from this gas cloud are used to calculate temperatures. They are ultra-violet and the new instrument which makes this clear detection possible is an aluminum coated mirror, a device perfected at Cornell university.

Aluminum catches ultra-violet rays better than anything previously used. Some of the ultra-violet rays caught in the aluminum mirror are exceptionally strong.

Shows Hidden Energy.

This means that there is something behind them which pours out energy that they absorb and translate into an extra glow—"emission lines"—in astronomical language.

Calculations show that the source behind this hidden energy is ultra-violet rays streaming off the surface of the star. These driving rays are exceedingly energetic—they are the radiations some astronomers have called the "death rays."

They are so named because if the earth's atmosphere did not completely screen them out they would be lethal to some small forms of life. They might even give man a bad time.

Though unseen, these rays are quite accurately calculated by the aid of the star tent. It is the calculation of their energy which reveals the enormous heat of the star's surface.

Dr. Bowen said that Mr. Zanstra has observed what he thinks are still higher temperatures running up to 270,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

HANGS SELF IN HIS ROOM.

George Green, 35 years old, 447 North Clark street, hanged himself yesterday in his room at that address.

GOES TO PRISON

Sentenced to 20 years for $200,000 kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser, Mrs. Harmon Waley (left) remarked in Tacoma that the sentence would make it easier to wait for husband, who got 40 years in the same kidnaping. With her is federal court matron.

ORDER DR. FERNEL HELD TO JURY ON MURDER CHARGE

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Dr. Jean Paul Fernel, plastic surgeon at 677 North Michigan avenue, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murder by abortion as a result of the death of Mrs. Virginia Donley, 21 years old, 4036 North Mozart street.

Also ordered held as an accessory was Mrs. Donley's husband, David. Donley has told the police that he took his wife to Dr. Fernel's office where he said she was given a medicine. She died on June 19 at the Swedish Covenant hospital.

After the inquest, which was held in the County morgue, Dr. Fernel and Donley were taken into custody by the police and sent to the bureau of identification, where their fingerprints were taken.

BLAZINE GETS HEAVY VOTE FOR ALL-STAR PLACE

Wesleyan Tackle to Face Bears.

BY ARCH WARD.

There will be at least one representative of the so-called smaller schools on the squad of the College All-Americans that plays the Bears at Soldiers' field Aug. 29. He is Tony Blazine, 220 pound tackle from Illinois Wesleyan university of Bloomington, Ill. Few nationally known players, perhaps none, have received a greater vote of confidence from fans in their home communities than Bloomington has accorded Blazine.

The Wesleyan star already has received 18,980 votes out of Bloomington in the national poll which will be concluded Sunday by THE TRIBUNE and 105 associated newspapers. Thousands more, which are not included in today's standings, have reached this office from other downstate centers where fans apparently are making a concerted effort to put a Little Nineteen conference man into the big game. His total today is 52,841, good for sixth place.

Sure of Place on Squad.

It is unlikely that Blazine will finish ahead of Bengston of Minnesota, Lee of Alabama, or two or three other nationally prominent tackles, but he has made such a remarkable race that THE TRIBUNE will invite him to join the squad any way. Blazine will play professional football with the Chicago Cardinals this fall.

The national vote now totals 462,000. At least 75,000 ballots, which arrived too late yesterday to be added to this morning's figures, are being checked by a corps of 20 young women who until recently never realized there were so many football players in the world. It appears that the final standings, which will be printed Tuesday morning, will exceed 700,000. There has been nothing like it in sport before.

10,000 for This Lineup.

Ten thousand votes were turned in by a Chicago group yesterday for the following lineup: Ends, Leeper, Northwestern, and Borden, Fordham; tackles, Lee, Alabama, and Bengston, Minnesota; guards, Monahan, Ohio State, and Bennis, Illinois; center, Patterson, Chicago; quarter back, Warburton, Southern California; half backs, Melinkovich and Hanley of Notre Dame; full back, Stancook, Army.

An organization called the Ed Whalen Booster club came in with 2,000 for the Northwestern guard. William Lee, superintendent of the Chicago Upholsterers Supply company, Chicago, turned in more than 2,500 from employés of the plant. The vote was fairly well divided, but the principal

DON'T BE SORRY!

You'll want to see the finest sight in football's history:
When Star meets Bear that August night,
You know you'll want to be Among the thousands, row on row,
Who cheer them to the end—
Remember, if you plan to go,
You'll need a seat, my friend.

Tickets for the College All-American-Chicago Bears game at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 29 are in heavy demand, but there still are thousands available in all price classes. Mail money order or check, payable to The Chicago Tribune, to the Football Ticket Manager, Chicago Tribune. The prices: $1.10, $1.65, and $2.20.

ALL-STAR GAME IS A THRILL FOR THE BEARS, TOO

[This is the fifth of a series of articles by George Halas, president and head coach of the Chicago Bears.]

BY GEORGE HALAS.

Statements of mine in earlier articles in this series may have indicated that the game between the college All-Americans and the Bears at Soldiers' field on Aug. 29, is a matter of business life or death to professional football. Those remarks were not meant to be taken too literally.

We do count definitly on regaining the prestige lost by last year's scoreless tie. We are out to win fairly, and will protect ourselves in the clinches.

But the game itself is a sporting event as stirring and exciting to the professional players and coaches, as it is to the college stars and spectators. The professional calmness and unruffled demeanor of the Bears on the field at last year's game was largely front. Underneath they were stirred by the pageantry, the gigantic crowd and the excitement surrounding this classic.

Bears Feel Honored.

The Bears consider it a very real honor to be invited to participate.

Do not doubt that the game will be played for keeps and devil take the hindmost. But it will be played in a manner thoroughly in keeping with the standards of the grand old game of football.

Most of the boys who compose the pro teams have been away from the campus only from one to five years. They are college men who have a genuine respect for and real loyalty to the universities for whom they played football.

They're Not Rivals.

The National Football league has nothing but friendly feeling toward college football. We do not consider our clubs rivals, in any sense, of the college teams. The members of the league have built up their own followings. Any controversial assertion regarding the relative strength of college and professional football comes from outside the professional organization.

One of the by-laws of the league constitution prohibits any club from using a college player until after his class has been graduated. That makes it impossible for a sophomore or junior star to drop his college work to take up the professional game.

Helps the Bank Roll.

Professional football can be used by a college player, after graduation, as the means to an end while he devotes the other months of the year to the job or profession which he expects to make his life work. Among its advantages are that it offers practical preparation for coaching; too, it provides a living and funds for many members of professional teams while they are taking post-graduate work in law, medicine, or other professions.

Last, but far from least, professional football provides employment during a time when jobs for college graduates, however, talented, do not grow on bushes.

Omaha and Black Helen Face Speedy Outsiders in Classic

BY FRENCH LANE.

Unheralded and unsung, there may be a colt munching oats and hay out at Arlington Park this morning, destined to spoil the big championship party which will bring Omaha and Black Helen together in the renewal of the Classic stakes tomorrow afternoon.

It may be Mrs. John Hertz's Count Arthur or it may be Roman Soldier, the iron horse among this year's 3 year olds. Maybe it is fleet St. Bernard, the colt which everybody believes will at least run speedy Black Helen off her feet during the early stages of the battle.

Tearout might have just one more race in his system like the one he ran when he won the Latonia Derby. Malbrouk could be a better colt than any one suspects him of being. He's the one horse in the field about which little or nothing is known. Blackbirder might arise to supreme heights on this one occasion and become the rowdy who will run off down the alley with the ice cream and cake and thus spoil the party.

Look for Long Shots.

The big betters who think themselves wise laugh at such a possible outcome to this year's Classic. Yet those fellows who believe themselves to be turf wise may be in the minority in the great throng which will look on while the race is being run.

Most of the people in this crowd are coming out to see Omaha and Black Helen struggle for supremacy. To be true they want to run a small wager into a profitable afternoon while they are doing it. They can't roll up a dividend of any consequence by making a small investment either on Omaha or Black Helen. So they're going to try and pick a long shot that can beat the two famous leaders of the division.

There are no wild claims for victory among any of the owners of the outsiders. Trainer Phil Reuter, however, never will believe that Omaha and Black Helen are better horses than Roman Soldier, the star of his stable.

Roman Soldier Formidable.

Still, he is not standing up on the top of the Arlington grand stand shouting about it. "Just wait and see for yourself," he tells his friends. Reuter was highly confident that Roman Soldier would beat Omaha in the Kentucky Derby. Roman Soldier ran second and he had some bad luck.

It isn't necessary to linger around the Hertz barn long to learn from the persons employed there that they are unanimous in their belief that Count Arthur will run a powerful race in the Classic.

They don't go so far as to say that he will beat Omaha, but if it is a question of beating Black Helen for the rich prize they believe the big celebration will take place right in their midst.

Black Helen and Count Arthur have come together three times this season. Black Helen scored two victories and Count Arthur finished in front of the Bradley mare in the other. Still both were beaten that time by Black Helen's stable companion, Bloodroot.

St. Bernard Has Speed.

Because he hasn't won any races of great importance this year, Count Arthur gets quite a pull in the weight arrangement for the Classic. Omaha and Black Helen both must concede him eight pounds, although Black Helen actually picks up only three pounds more than the Hertz colt because she is entitled to a five pound filly allowance.

St. Bernard is just as mysterious as is his trainer, Alex Gordon, the canny Scot. There's no denying St. Bernard's ability to run fast. He was the first horse to run a mile in 1:36 in Chicago this year and he could have gone faster. Count Arthur was one of his victims in that race.

"Yet how far can he go?" ask the skeptics in the advance guard of Classic visitors.

Trainer Gordon says he can run to Saratoga, but a lot of the Omaha and Black Helen admirers are of the opinion he may be slowing up a bit by the time he reaches Albany.

SENATORS SCORE FIVE OFF TIETJE IN EARLY INNINGS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—The third place White Sox, who are not easily discouraged, did a swell job of trying to get back what Les Tietje had given away this afternoon, but their efforts availed nothing. They whittled feverishly on an early lead taken by the Senators, but at the finish were behind by 6 to 4 in the opener of a five game series.

Tietje, whose misfortunes were thought to be a thing of the past, willingly withdrew at the conclusion of four innings, none of which was peaceful. He was beset by no fewer than eight hits during his limited reign and five of the hits were bunched in two innings for a total of five runs. The youthful righthander also assisted his enemies with a bad throw. After his retirement the pitching was handled by Johnny Salveson, the bespectacled ex-National leaguer, and he gave up one run which merely served to double the Senators' winning margin.

Sox Weak at Bat.

The Sox found themselves more or less stumped as hitters because of various deceivers dispensed by the somewhat famous Buck Newsom, who returned recently from a long vacation necessitated by a fractured leg bone. The ex-Cub was a high class workman during the first three innings when there were no hits and also during the last two when only one safety was produced. In between there was a gap of four innings in which he was riding a rough sea, but the best the Sox could extract from each of these four promising situations was one run at a time.

Despite difficulties in the first two innings, Tietje escaped damage until the third when the Senators made two runs on two hits. Bluege started it with a single to left and was bunted to second by Newsom. Kuhel spanked a long fly over Simmons' head to score Bluege. As Kuhel rounded second he stumbled over Piet. Umpire Bill Dinneen, regarding it as unnecessary interference, ruled that Kuhel was entitled to third base.

There was more than an ordinary squawk from Manager Dykes about this. He lectured for five minutes, his point being that Piet was standing where any good second baseman would have been to receive the throw in. As a matter of fact the throw was headed for Piet, but Appling cut it off. Dinneen refused to be convinced. A moment later Kuhel scored from third on Stone's fly to Radcliff.

Sox Get a Run.

The Sox, after being stopped for three innings, did all sorts of things to Newsom in the fourth, but collected only one run. Piet beat out a single with one out. Haas singled to right, and when Stone fumbled the ball Piet took third. Bonura doubled off the distant left field wall, Piet scoring and Haas stopping at third. A hit or even a fly ball from Simmons' bat would have been helpful, but he popped to

HACK, DEMAREE, KLEIN HAMMER OUT HOME RUNS

Henshaw Relieved by Root.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs yesterday put on a long range hitting fiesta as they attended to the heartening business of spanking the Phillies in the final of the series. The score was: Cubs, 11; Phillies, 3, and included in the assorted slugging were homers by Stan Hack, Chuck Klein and Frank Demaree, a triple by Gabby Hartnett and doubles by Bill Jurges, Phil Cavarretta and Bill Herman. Herman's cleared loaded bases.

The Phillies, though severely outpointed in runs, did some long smacking themselves. Ethan Allen doubled his first three times up and Lou Chiozza made a homer. Two of Allen's shots figured in the scoring.

Root to the Rescue.

Charley Root was the winning pitcher. It was the third victory he has accomplished as a reliever in two series and it was his sixth victory of the year. Four of the six Root victories have been won as a reliever, one against the Giants, two against Boston and the one yesterday. Root entered the arena with the bases full, two runs in and the score 4 to 3 in the fifth inning. He got the side out and held the Phillies to two singles and no runs in the remaining four innings. Roy Henshaw, who made his second start of the series, was one put-out short of getting credit for being the winning pitcher.

The day's outcome enabled the Cubs to split the series with the Phillies, but left them in arrears for the season. The Phillies have won 7 games and the Cubs 6.

Cubs Start with Two.

In the first three games of the series the Cubs made one run in the first inning and in two contests the Phillies overcame the lead to win. So yesterday the Cubs made two runs in the opening inning by way of variety. After Moore had made a nice catch of Galan's drive, Herman reached first on Vergez's bad throw. Cavarretta flied to Allen, but Hartnett crashed a triple off the front of the jury box bleacher in left center, Herman scoring. The temperature on the field was 98 degrees and that made it a great uphill sprint for the portly Mr. Hartnett. After Hartnett had regained his wind, Demaree drove him home with a single. Demaree reached second on a wild pitch and Klein walked, but Hack grounded out.

Klein walked with two out in the third and scored on Hack's No. 2 homer of the season, a drive into the right field bleachers.

Chiozza opened the fifth inning with a homer into the right field bleachers and Todd followed up with a single to left, after which he went to second on Jorgens' sacrifice. Allen knocked his third straight double, a smack to left center, scoring Todd. Watkins fanned for the second time but Moore beat out a slow bouncer to Herman, Allen going to third. Camilli walked, filling the bases, whereupon Root replaced Henshaw. Vergez sent a high fly to Galan.

No. 14 For Klein.

Jorgens walked Hartnett to start the Chicago fifth and when he threw three straight wide ones to Demaree Bivin replaced him. Bivin threw two strikes past Demaree and then Frankie flied to Moore. Klein drove a homer into the right field bleachers, scoring behind Hartnett. It was Chuck's 14th of the season. Hack flied to Moore. Jurges doubled off the left field wall. Root popped to Camilli.

Chiozza was robbed of a second homer when Klein leaped high against the right field screen and pulled down Lou's drive with one hand. The catch was made more than a foot above the top of the screen. Todd fanned.

Pezzullo was the Philly pitcher at

MORELAND BEATS EATON, 5 AND 3, IN WESTERN GOLF

Goodman Loses, 2 Up, to Goldman.

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 18.—[Special.]—Gus Moreland, formerly of Dallas, but who now works for a label firm in Peoria, sent Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City, the defending champion, out of the 36th annual western amateur golf tournament today at the Broadmoor Golf club. Moreland defeated the Oklahoman, 5 and 3, in the second round of match play.

Moreland, twice a member of America's Walker cup team and who had already defeated Eaton this year—in the Houston invitational tourney—was in great form this afternoon after a shaky round this morning against Bob Conliff Jr. of Oklahoma City, whom he eliminated, 1 up, in 19 holes.

Birdies Help Moreland.

Gus was one up at the turn. His medal score on the first nine was 38, three over par, but he proceeded to rectify that coming home. He got three birdies on the six holes that were played coming in. Eaton's card on the out nine was 40.

Dave Goldman of Dallas, runner-up to Eaton at Twin Hills, Oklahoma City, last year, upset Johnny Goodman, former open champion, 2 up.

Rodney Bliss, Omaha, tourney medalist with a 142 score, also reached the quarter-finals. Bliss defeated Neil Smith of Dallas, 3 and 1, in the second round, the same score by which he disposed of Charlie Reasor, Oklahoma City, this morning.

Yates Beats Leslie.

Charlie Yates of the East Lake Golf club, Atlanta, defeated Paul Leslie, the former Missouri high school champion, 2 and 1, and will join the quarter-finals parade tomorrow which will be over the 36 hole route.

Husky Jack Gaines of Los Angeles had the toughest match of the two rounds today. He was forced to go 20 holes before eliminating Howard Creel, Pueblo, the only southpaw in the tourney, 1 up.

Jack Malloy of Princeton university, whose home is in Tulsa; Walter Emery, Oklahoma City, and Don Edwards, a slim, blond youth from Leland Stanford university, were the others to survive second round play.

Moreland Plays Yates.

Malloy beat Jackson Bean of San Francisco, one of the three who survived the qualifying playoff this morning, 3 and 2, while Emery, who was whipped by Yates in the first round of this year's national intercollegiate tourney, eliminated M. L. Massingill, Fort Worth, 4 and 3. The latter also got into match play by winning in the playoff this morning. Edwards defeated Leland Hamman, Paris, Tex. star, 4 and 2.

In tomorrow's 36 hole quarter-finals, Moreland tackles Yates and Malloy meets Gaines in the upper bracket. In the lower half, Bliss and Goodman are matched and Emery meets Edwards.

FIRST ROUND.

Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City, defeated Nathan Grimes, Denver, Colo., 5 and 4.
Gus Moreland, Peoria, defeated Bob Conliffe Jr., Oklahoma City, 1 up [19 holes].
Paul Leslie, Jefferson City, Mo., defeated Logan Van Zandt, Tulsa, Okla., 4 and 3.
Charles Yates, Atlanta, defeated Harry Strausburger, Broadmoor, 2 and 1.
Jack Malloy, Tulsa, defeated Paul Jackson, Oklahoma City, 6 and 4.
Jackson Bean, San Francisco, defeated Larry Trickett Jr., Kansas City, 1 up.
Howard Creel, Pueblo, defeated E. J. Rogers, Oklahoma City, 1 up.
Jack Gaines, Los Angeles, defeated Ed Anderson, Houston, Tex., 4 and 3.
Rodney Bliss, Omaha, defeated Charles Reasor, Oklahoma City, 3 and 1.
Neil Smith, Dallas, defeated B. H. Cowdrey, Omaha, 3 and 2.
David Goldman, Dallas, defeated Robert Thompson, Stanford university, 4 and 2.

Murphy Beats Halstead in State Tennis

Two Tilden Tech stars, Chet Murphy and Joe Zukas, ushered another pair of seeded favorites in the Illinois state tennis tournament to the sidelines as play reached the semi-final round yesterday at Chicago Town and Tennis club.

Murphy, co-holder with his twin brother of the state interscholastic title, routed the defending champion, Thane Halstead, in straight sides, 6-4, 6-1.

Zukas Beats Parkhill.

Zukas' string of upsets, started when he eliminated the No. 6 listed player, Norman Bickel, in the third round, was extended as the blond lad methodically pulled out a 6-1, 2-6, 6-2, triumph over his coach, the third seeded Bill Parkhill. The two youngsters will meet in the upper bracket semi-final this afternoon.

The other semi-finalists are MacNeill Smith and Bobby Harmon. Smith needed less than an hour's time to trounce Charlie Steineman, 6-2, 6-1, and Harmon, former National boys' leader, dropped the first game of his match with Karl Kamrath, then won a lengthy sequence of twelve consecutive games to produce a 6-1, 6-0 victory.

Mrs. Kamrath Advances.

The top-seeded Eugenie Sampson Kamrath gained a semi-final position in the women's field as she set back Josephine Scarnavack, 6-3, 6-2. Marge Stiel, seeded second to Mrs. Kamrath, established herself as a prospective finalist by defeating Virginia Winston, 6-2, 6-4.

Blazine Gets Heavy Vote for All-Star Place

beneficiaries were Kawal of Northwestern, Hutson of Alabama, Blazine of Illinois Wesleyan, Beynon of Illinois, Shotwell of Pittsburgh, and Howell of Alabama.

Omaha Votes for Meier.

Franklin Meier, Nebraska center, is polling a heavy vote in Omaha, where the World-Herald is conducting the poll. He is running about 40 to 1 ahead of Jack Robinson of Notre Dame, who is second choice at that position. Larson of Minnesota leads Hutson of Alabama 2 to 1 as the popular end, and George Maddox of Kansas State gets first place among the tackles. Lund and Kostka are overwhelming Omaha favorites in the backfield.

Regis Monahan of Ohio State, leader nationally among the guards, runs second to Bevan of Minnesota in the Toledo News-Bee poll. Beynon of Illinois, however, is backed almost solidly at Champaign where the News-Gazette returns show him 53 to 1 ahead of Warburton for quarter back.

Yesterday's returns from the Gary, Ind., Post-Tribune, one of the hottest spots outside Chicago in the football poll, gave Ward, Michigan's colored end, a slight lead over Larson of Minnesota and Hutson of Alabama. Schiralli, Notre Dame guard, and Yards, Ohio State tackle, are the Gary heroes. Yesterday's vote from Gary totaled more than 5,000.

Lund Leading Howell.

Pug Lund of Minnesota has a slight lead over Dixie Howell, Alabama firebrand, in the Des Moines Register and Tribune vote and Stan Kostka is running away with the full back job. Robinson of Notre Dame is far in front at center in the Des Moines poll. Klewicki, Michigan State end, and Steen, Syracuse tackle, are the leading vote getters at Lansing, Mich., where the State Journal is handling the poll. Houghton, Mich., is piling up a huge lead for Herman Gundlach, Harvard guard, and Vairo, Notre Dame end, home town boys. Robinson and Melinkovich of Notre Dame are riding along with Gundlach and Vairo.

Two Alabamans, Lee and Hutson, are the most popular players in the St. Louis Globe Democrat returns. Bevan of Minnesota and Robinson of Notre Dame also are pulling a heavy vote there. Down in Oklahoma the fans are going along with state athletes. Cash Gentry of Oklahoma university tops the tackles in the Tulsa World poll and Rudy Prochaska of Tulsa university leads the centers. Roy Berry of Tulsa is running with Howell and Lund at half backs.

Ed Shave, sports editor of the St. Paul News, reported yesterday that votes for Minnesota players were coming into the office in bushel baskets. Kostka, Lund, Bengston, Larson, and Bevan were the leaders.

Ray Morse, Oregon end, is running away with other candidates in the Portland Oregonian vote. Yesterday's returns there gave him 2,762 against 67 for Bescos of Southern California, who was second. Larry Seimering, San Francisco center, is leading Shotwell of Pittsburgh and Devine of Oregon State, 65 to 1, at Portland, and Paul Sulkosky of Washington is a top-heavy favorite at full back.

The national poll closes Sunday. All votes must be in this office by noon Monday in order to appear in the final standings Tuesday morning.

Vote on Coaches Next.

The coaches' poll will open Sunday and will last two weeks. You are invited to name the three men you would like to see handle the College All Stars in the order of your preference. First place will count three points, second two, and third one. The coach who finishes with the greatest number of total points will be named leader of the squad. The second and third place men will be invited to serve as his assistants.

Kirchmeyer and Cox Draw on Western Stadium Mat

Roland Kirchmeyer and Joe Cox wrestled to a one hour draw in the feature event of the all-heavyweight wrestling show at Western stadium last night. Ray Richards won in the semi-windup from George Kuberly when the referee disqualified Kuberly for rough tactics. Other bouts:

Paul Harper threw Don Koch [15:00].
Bob Burns threw Jack Galanis [10:04].

300 Men and One Woman to Sail in Race to Mackinac

Who sails in this Mackinac yacht race? Almost 300 men, young and old, and one young woman, will participate in the event starting tomorrow. Some of them have come from Miami, Fla., Long Island Sound, N. Y., Omaha, Neb., Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Grand Rapids, Cincinnati, and Benton Harbor. Ninety-five per cent of the skippers and crews are Chicagoans, however.

Among the skippers in the three day, 331 mile race on Lake Michigan are five doctors and dentists, a commissioner of streets, professional photographers, lawyers, public school teachers, department store officials, cartoonists, contractors, loan company officials, editors and publishers and printers, railroad station managers, drug store chain officials, the owner of a group of barbecue stands, a board of education official, a beer company owner, and machine shop owners.

The fleet is to be divided into two divisions, racing and cruising. Nine boats are in the racing class. The Chicago Yacht club, race sponsor, has twelve entries, Columbia Y. C. has eleven, Jackson Park Y. C. has nine. Three boats are coming from the Milwaukee Y. C. and one from the South Shore Yacht Club of Milwaukee.

Two cutters, Valkyrie, Robert Benedict's 47 footer, and Sis, Art Horton's 37 footer, will be wearing those new quadrilateral jibs [Greta Garbo's, they were called at the last America's cup races].

Milton Friend's ketch, Betty Bro, will have in the afterguard Ike Atwood and Lieut. Frederick Steinbauer, U. S. N., who is in charge of the Chicago office of the navy's Hydrographic office.

Edith III., Commodore Robert Williamson's schooner, and Gaviota, the Frankenstein-Ahern syndicate schooner, are the two flagships in the race. Commodore Williamson is chief flag officer of the Jackson Park Y. C., and Richard D. Frankenstein Jr. of the big Gaviota, is commodore of the Chicago Corinthian Y. C.

The only yachtswoman in the race this year, as in 1934, will be Miss Elizabeth Scholle, owner-skipper of the 43 foot schooner Picaroon.

The 40 foot ketch Bonnie Breeze, to race tomorrow, is owned by Ray P. Johnson and Sumner W. Scott, son of Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university. Dan Williams, tackle on the Lake View High school football team, is to be one of the crew on Kenneth Brown's racing schooner Fortune.

Solid for Beynon

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 18.—[Special.]—The Dillavou family of Champaign is 100 per cent for Jack Beynon for quarter back in the second annual college All-Star-Chicago Bears football game. The clan, all twenty-six of them living here, got together today and signed a petition for the Illini signal caller. Three generations were represented on the petition.

FAVORITES REACH SEMI-FINALS OF MIDWEST GOLF

Favorites advanced to the semi-finals of the midwest public parks golf tournament at Lincoln park yesterday. In one quarter-final match Mike Yansick, Chicago Meadows, and Dick Travett, Northwestern, were considered about equal, but Yansick won, 3 and 1.

In other quarter-finals Al Andereggen, Big Oaks, easily disposed of Bill Ennis, Jackson park, 6 and 4; Chuck Boywid, Mid-City triumphed, 7 and 6, over Jake Knanishu, Lincoln park, and Charley Smead, Sportsman's, the defending champion, won, 4 and 3, from Tony Diana, Indian Boundary. All four matches furnished the widest margins of the week.

In today's semi-finals Andereggen meets Yansick and Smead and Boywid play in the lower half in what may be the feature of the week. In the first flight Frank Campbell, Lincoln, won, 1 up, from Dave Wolfe, Mid-City; Nels Gustafson, Big Oaks, defeated Walter Feddern, his clubmate, 2 and 1; Ray Koopman, Lincoln, defeated Paul Lovgren, Jackson, 4 and 2, and George Kornacki, Glendale, won 6 and 4, from W. M. Brooks, Garfield. In today's semi-finals Gustafson plays Campbell and Koopman meets Kornacki.

Mary Hoerger, 11, Wins U. S. Diving Title

New York, July 18.—(AP)—The big and the little of it—husky Lenore Kight of Homestead, Pa., and Tiny 11 year old Mary Hoerger of Miami Beach, Fla.—ran off with the show today in the opening performance of the four day national women's swimming meet at Manhattan beach.

Miss Kight, queen of the distance mermaids, opened the defense of her three national titles by setting a new American record of 24 minutes 20.4 seconds for the mile.

Youngest U. S. Champion.

The baby member of the cast, 74 pound Mary Hoerger, flipped off the 3 meters springboard with such ease, confidence, and agility, that she won both the hearts of 5,000 spectators and the points of six judges to capture the event and become the youngest national champion in the history of the Amateur Athletic union.

Olive McKean, Seattle, Wash., opened the title day by winning the 100 meters free style for the second straight year in 1 minute 10.2 seconds, considerably over Helene Madison's mark of 1:06.8 set in Los Angeles in 1932. Miss McKean passed Katherine Rawls, Miami Beach star, in the last 50 meters to win by about four feet, with Mary Lou Petty of Seattle third, and Miss Kight fourth.

Scores Close Victory.

Little Miss Hoerger, who finished third in both of the last two national diving meets, was consistently good on all the required and more difficult optional dives.

She scored a total of 128.59 points, just enough to beat her closest rival, Janice Lifson of New York, who had 127.80, by less than a point. Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill, high board champion, finished third in the field of eleven with 125.93 points.

It was all very thrilling to the youngster, but it never did faze her. Asked her ambition, after the crowd had roared their approval of the judges' verdict, she said:

"Some day I'd like to be a good diver."

Summaries:

100 METERS FINAL, CHAMPIONSHIP—Won by Olive McKean, Seattle; Katherine Rawls, Miami Beach, Fla., second; Mary Lou Petty, Seattle, third; Lenore Kight, Homestead, Pa., fourth; Betty Lea, Seattle, fifth; Alice Bridges, Whitinsville, Mass., sixth; Dorothea Dickinson, New York, seventh. Time, 1:10.2.

3 METERS SPRINGBOARD DIVING CHAMPIONSHIP—Won by Mary Hoerger, Miami Beach, Fla., 128.59 points; Janice Lifson, New York, 127.80, second; Dorothy Poynton Hill, Los Angeles, 125.93, third; Marion Mansfield, Chicago, 118.67, fourth; Ruth Jump, Los Angeles, 116.57, fifth; Ruth Nurmi, Los Angeles, 113.97, sixth; Cornelia Gillissen, New York, 112.43, seventh; Claudie Eckert, Chicago, 112.20, eighth; Velma Dunn, Los Angeles, 109.34, ninth; Lodema Dunbar, Battle Creek, Mich., 106.74, tenth; Elizabeth Harrison, New York, 105.10, eleventh.

MILE CHAMPIONSHIP—Won by Lenore Kight, Homestead, Pa.; Susan Robertson, New York, second; Evelyn Rawls, Miami Beach, Fla., third; Louise Clark, Homestead, Pa., fourth; Eleanor Lewis, Los Angeles, fifth; Jackie Nicholson, Chicago, sixth. Time, 24:20.4 [new American record].

Scrivani Moves Up in C. Y. O.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Andy Scrivani has complicated the struggle for places on the Catholic Youth's organization's intercity boxing team by putting on several additional pounds of muscle in the last few months to step up from the featherweight to the lightweight division. Andy holds the 126 pound C. Y. O. title, but now he has become involved in a battle with Lorenzo Lovings, 135 pound champion, for the right to the first call in the heavier division in the fights with a New York team July 31 at Wrigley field.

ANDY SCRIVANI.

Scrivani, a 19 year old boy from St. Charles Borromeo parish on the west side, is generally considered one of the best boxers ever developed in the C. Y. O. He as acquired much prestige by his performances in Golden Gloves competition. In the semi-finals of the Tournament of Champions he stopped Jerry Mulcahy in the second round and went on to win the featherweight title by gaining a decision over Pat Kelly of Cleveland after one of the most vigorously fought bouts of the finals.

Whips New York Opponent.

He continued in top form during the intercity Golden Gloves bouts to defeat his New York opponent, John Cabello. By the time the international bouts with Italy came around, Scrivani was beginning to outgrow the featherweight division and would have had to train down to make the limit. So he was replaced by Al Nettlow.

Now that Andy has entered the heavier division he is free from all worries about making weight and can train in such a way as to develop his maximum strength. He has been doing regular work recently in the C. Y. O. gymnasium under Paddy Kane and Dick Fitzpatrick, and he'll settle down to even more serious business when the squad goes to camp near Lockport for ten days of intensive training.

Punches Carry Sting.

Scrivani has developed his boxing skill to a high degree in the course of his two years of fighting. He maneuvers with the coolness of a veteran and his opponents have found him mighty hard to hit. His own punches have always carried considerable power and in his more recent bouts he has displayed a particularly punishing wallop.

Scrivani's withdrawal from the 126 pound class has opened the way for a wide open battle in that division with Tony Carlucci, Jimmy Diamico, Joe Minneci, Johnny Kelly, and several other courageous fighters struggling for the two places on the team.

Harridge Expects to Resume Work Next Week

William Harridge, president of the American league, who has been in the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, nearly two weeks with a kidney ailment, expects to return to his office early next week.

King Levinsky Sets Up Camp at Round Lake

King Levinsky worked out at Trafton's gymnasium yesterday and then made preparations to leave for Round Lake, Ill., to establish a training camp for his ten round bout with Joe Louis at Comiskey park Aug. 7. He made the trip to Round Lake last night accompanied by managers and trainers.

The King will begin drills this afternoon. He will start boxing tomorrow against Jack Redmond, Indianapolis, and Jim Maher, Tulsa, Okla., heavyweights. Roy Williams, Chicago light heavyweight, will be added to the sparring staf next week.

Louis is expected to resume workouts at the Savoy arena on the south side tomorrow by sparring several rounds with Willie Davies.

Ticket Manager Sol Katz announced yesterday that $33,000 has been taken in since the tickets went on sale Wednesday.

Barney Ross, welterweight boxing champion, will attend a dinner tonight in honor of Fred Caserio, former Golden Gloves titleholder, at 1904 South Wabash avenue. Caserio recently returned from France, where he directed a team of American amateur boxers.

Two matches at five rounds will head the amateur card tonight at Northwest stadium, 4348 Irving Park boulevard. Sam De Pasquale, west side junior lightweight, will oppose Art Brewer, south side, and Jackie Reed and Elzie Mott will be opponents in a welterweight fight. Other encounters will include those between Chet Levere and Tom Johnson, Pete Andrews and Russ Nyberg, and Pat Heneghan and Robert Brooks.

Al Williams and Paul Miller yesterday were signed to meet in the windup bout of the wrestling show Monday at White City. . . . Bobby Pearce and Al Woznica will wrestle in one of four preliminary encounters.

Jimmy Christy, Catholic Youth organization battler, returned from a visit to Utica, N. Y., with an attack of boils and so he has been forced to cancel his scheduled ten round battle with Lew Feldman at Mills stadium, July 25. Bobby Pacho, who fights Tony Canzoneri in the ten round main event, will resume workouts this afternoon, after resting yesterday, by stepping six rounds against Al Pahl and Lou Vine. Bob Tinsley, west side lightweight, has accepted a six round preliminary engagement against Virgil Bemi.

Chuck Hefner, Denver middleweight, and Mickey Balaban, Buffalo, N. Y., have been matched for a ten round bout at Western stadium Tuesday.

HORSES FALL IN ARLINGTON RACE; 2 JOCKIES HURT

Jockies F. Ritz and Charley Corbett were injured yesterday when four horses went down in a spill in the second race at Arlington Park.

Jocky Ritz, who was riding Ralph C., suffered a broken collar bone, several fractured ribs, and a possible fracture of the skull. Corbett received a deep cut on his chin and a severe shaking up. The other riders, L. Bagur and L. McDermott, were not injured. Ritz was taken to the Lutheran Memorial hospital in Chicago.

The accident occurred as the field wheeled out of the back stretch. Red Bo, ridden by Corbett, fell, and Koley Bey, Inference, and Ralph C. tumbled over him.

TREEST POUNDS BRIDGES TO GAIN 8 ROUND DECISION

Dave Clark Wins from Johnny Phagan.

Billy Treest, 1934 Golden Gloves middleweight champion, whipped Clinton Bridges, 1935 Intercity and International victor, in eight rounds, and Dave Clark, this year's Golden Gloves 160 pound monarch, won in six rounds over Johnny Phagan, 1933 International welterweight title holder at White City last night.

The winner in each bout was uncertain until the last round had ended, but the verdict was unanimous in each case. Consequently 1,144, who paid $1,505 to see the show, cheered continously.

First Defeat for Bridges.

Treest, 169½ pounds, handed Bridges, also 169½, his first professional defeat in five starts. He pounded Bridges in the body in each round and then brought up his punches to the jaw. Clinton, who made use of a left jab to the mouth, followed by rights to the jaw, was unable to solve Treest's attack, especially his left hook to the head.

Clark, 165 pounds, floored Phagan, 152, for the count of two in the first round. Johnny attempted to rally on several occasions and scored occasionally with a long right to the head.

Little Pal Primich, East Chicago, Ind., 133, beat Sailor Born, Atlanta, Ga., 133, six rounds.

Dixon Stops Irving.

George Dixon Jr., Chicago, 128, stopped Ben Irving, La Grange, Ill., 125, in the sixth and last round of the opening bout. Al Tremaine, San Diego, Cal., 160, beat Ernie Kirchner, Berlin, Germany, 154½, in six rounds.

Mrs. Bachman Wins, 4 and 3, in County Golf

The youngest of the favorites in the women's Cook county golf tournament at Jackson park, was eliminated in the quarter-final round yesterday when Josephine Souchek, 17 year old Big Oaks star, was defeated by a home club veteran, Mrs. Mae Bachman, 4 and 3.

In the other feature quarter-final match, Mrs. Rose Long of Jackson, medalist, triumphed, 1 up on the eighteenth green, over Mrs. Loren R. Darr, Lincoln park club champion.

Miss Souchek lost her match on the greens. The young star three putted on eight holes.

The other two who entered the semi-final round were Violet McQueen of Jackson, and Mrs. Isabelle Meany of Coghill. The former scored a 1 up victory over Kae Evans of Skokie Playfield, while Mrs. Meany triumphed by the same margin over Mrs. Mildred Simmons of Indian Head.

In the upper half of the semi-final bracket, Mrs. Long will meet Violet McQueen, a teammate. The lower bracket pairs Mrs. Bachman and Mrs. Meany.

RIVERVIEW'S 17TH IN ROW.

Riverview Park Cubs yesterday defeated the Riverview Park Bobs softball team, 9 to 3, making it 17 victories in a row. Heavy hitting was done by Palizia, Chuin, and Koz.

CARDS WIN 14TH IN ROW; DEFEAT BRAVES, 13 TO 3

Paul Dean Hands Boston 11th Straight Beating.

St. Louis, Mo., July 18.—(AP)—The world Champion Cardinals ran their winning streak to 14 today by crushing the Boston Braves, 13 to 3. Paul Dean registered his tenth victory of the season, holding the Braves to five hits. Pepper Martin and Bill De Lancey hit homers for the Cardinals. The defeat was the Braves' eleventh straight. Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

It seems to me that this would be an appropriate time to stand up and give a hand to the youngest player who ever became a regular in the major leagues. . . . Today happens to be the boy's birthday, his 18th. . . . I refer to Phil Cavarretta, first baseman of the Cubs, who stepped from high school competition into the big league to take away the job of one of the best first basemen baseball has known. . . .

The White Sox expect to return to Pasadena to train next spring. . . . Reservations have been made for the club at the Green hotel. . . . When the schooner Hawthorne became becalmed in the 1905 Mackinac race the crew of thirteen hurriedly rigged up a dummy and dressed it in the mate's clothes. . . . The "fourteenth" man dispelled the hoodoo and appeased the gods, the crew swore, because a breeze sprang up immediately and held all the way to the finish. . . . Three hundred and fifty yachts have competed in the Mackinac race, which will be renewed tomorrow, and only three have been wrecked. . . . No lives have been lost. . . . Art Nehf, a Cub pitcher for several seasons, sent Hank Leiber to the Giants in 1932. . . . Thomas Meighan, movie star, still is bragging about being the first to herald Joe Louis along Broadway as a coming champion. . . . Meighan saw him fight in California. . . . It's all right with us, Tommy, but we saw him fourteen months before in the Golden Gloves. . . .

Charley Paddock predicts that Eulace Peacock of Temple will beat Jesse Owens of Ohio State regularly in the sprints next year. . . . Leighton Dye, a great hurdler at Southern California a few years ago, now is working for a rubber company in Akron. . . . Edgar Manske, former Northwestern end, has returned from New Orleans, where he spent two weeks fishing and yachting with Eugene Monast, former Evanston automobile dealer. . . . Edmund Lowe, movie actor, for twenty years has worn the purple and white sophomore cap he got at Santa Clara university while applying his makeup. . . . He played rugby at Santa Clara before the coast universities went back to American college football at the close of the war. . . . Jimmy Dykes wants it understood that reports about Mickey Cochrane's settling their bet are false. . . . Cochrane bet Dykes a $20 hat before the season opened that the Sox would finish last. . . . The south side skipper says he will get the hat or the money if he has to choke Cochrane and he might even have Attorney Muddy Ruel sue the Tigers' pilot. . . .

Yale, which dropped water polo recently, introduced the game as a college sport in 1901, the first team playing under Maxie Schwartz. . . . J. Gilbert Hall says he has had enough of amateur tennis and will quit at the end of the present season to go to work. . . . Trotting races are making a strong comeback in Cleveland, once the leading spot on the Grand Circuit. . . . John Marcum, slugging pitcher with the Athletics, owns a string of thoroughbreds and raises tobacco on his Eminence, Ky., farm. . . . The coach of the high school football team at Corbin, Ky., plans to bring his entire squad to Chicago in a truck to see the game between the College All-Americans and the Bears. . . . Jack Verdier of Grand Rapids, Mich., won a match from a Muskegon sports writer in a golf tournament not long ago using nothing but a putter. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Rogers Hornsby still was leading the National league in hitting with an average of .424. . . . Tris Speaker, manager of the Indians, was leading the American league in batting with a .406 mark. . . . The Lincoln Park Boat club of Chicago won the St. Louis regatta with 165 points. . . . Pepper Martin, Brooklyn lightweight, died of pneumonia.

the start of the seventh. Demaree knocked his second homer of the year into the left center field bleachers with two out. Klein grounded out to Camilli and Haslin threw out Hack.

Big Parade in Eighth.

Jurges walked at the outset of the home eighth. Root sacrificed and was safe when his bunt got through Camilli. Galan also sacrificed and Camilli drew another error when he made a high throw to Chiozza at first. This filled the bases. Herman then hit his 27th double of the year, scoring Jurges, Root, and Galan. Cavarretta dropped a double in short right, scoring Herman. Hartnett popped to Todd and Demaree flied to Watkins. Klein fanned.

Lon Warneke will hook up with Hal Schumacher in this afternoon's opener of the Giants-Cubs series.

Today's gathering at Wrigley field will include 20,000 women guests.

Umpire Magerkurth had a terrific battle with the heat, but bravely lasted it out, with the aid of frequent applications of ice packs and cold towels.

Though it was a blistering day, a high wind blew across the field from the southwest, aiding some of the hitters, perhaps.

ARLINGTON CLASSIC 1930-'32.

The second Arlington Classic in 1930 was won by Gallant Fox, daddy of Omaha, which matches his speed tomorrow against Black Helen and others, best 3 year olds of 1935, at a distance of 1¼ miles.

Before his Chicago appearance, Gallant Fox had scored victories in the Wood Memorial, Preakness, Kentucky Derby, Belmont and Dwyer stakes. This preëminence made him odds-on favorite here at 32 to 100 and reduced the field to six.

The son of Sir Gallahad III. ran a great race, but did not win like a 1 to 3 shot. Gallant Knight was with him nearly the entire route, heads apart. In a steaming finish Earl Sande piloted the winner past the imaginary finish line a head to the good, perhaps afraid to draw his whip lest he drop his mount's head. The race, run in 2:03 4-5, was worth $64,750 to the winner. Gallant Knight, Ned O., Maya, Alcibiades, and Dark Entry finished as named.

Gallant Fox went on to the 3 year old championship, suffering only one unexplainable reverse in the Travers stake when Jim Dandy, 100 to 1, won by eight lengths over a heavy track after the Fox and Whichone exhausted themselves out in front in the sticky going.

Gallant Fox's record as a 3 year old was nine victories and one second, with earnings of $328,165, more than any horse before or since earned in one year.

The Classic of 1931 was another chapter in the Mate-Twenty Grand rivalry. Twenty Grand won the Kentucky Derby with Mate third in 2:01 4-5, which stands as a record for that event. Afterward, Mate won the American Derby and Twenty Grand the Belmont stakes, also in record time, so it was a battle of champions.

This day it was Mate which played the record rôle, reeling off six furlongs in 1:12 with the 1¼ miles in 2:02 2-5, the Classic record. Twenty Grand couldn't keep up with the early pace, but closed fast to finish third. Mate had four lengths over Spanish Play at the finish, with Twenty Grand, Sir Ashley, Sun Meadow, Joey Bibb, and St. Brideaux finishing in order.

Mate paid $12.80 for $2 in the mutuels with Twenty Grand at equivalent odds of 38 to 100. Value to the winner was $73,650.

In the Classic of 1932, Top Flight, a Whitney filly, was favored just as Rose of Sharon had been in the 1929 inaugural. Gusto had won the American Derby at an attractive price and repeated in the Classic against a first class field, coming from behind.

Gusto's margin was three lengths going away, with the others finishing Stepenfetchit, Evergold, Sazerac, Top Flight, Sunmelius, Springsteel, Faireno, Bubble Up, Prince Hotspur, Osculator, and Reheboth.

The winner paid $20.54 for $2. Top Flight was at equivalent odds of $1.82 to $1. Value to the winner was $76,600. Time was 2:03 3-5.

Senators Beat Sox, 6 to 4; Pound Tietje

Myer. A pass to Appling loaded the bases. Then Dykes popped to Travis and the Washington fans, who are no respecters of persons, let loose a ripe raspberry.

Three runs off Tietje in the home fourth made it 5 to 1. Manush opened with a legitimate hit to deep short, but the official scorer ruled it an error because Appling fumbled momentarily after a great stop. Manush was forced by Travis. Powell bunted and Tietje threw the ball into right field, Travis scoring and Powell, who was credited with a hit, going to third on the error. Bolton flied out, but Bluege tripled to right center, Powell scoring. Bluege scored the third run of the inning on a bounding single to center by Newsom.

Sox Score Without a Hit.

Newsom waxed bighearted in the fifth and presented the Sox with a run without demanding they produce at least one hit. To start the inning he walked Sewell. Conlan batted for Tietje and also drew free passage. Radcliff forced Conlan but Bluege, in attempting a double play, tossed the ball into the home dugout, Sewell scoring and Radcliff going to second. Piet then flied to right and Haas was erased on an infield grounder.

The Sox continued to progress with a run in the sixth, making the score 5 to 3. Bonura led off with a single that Bluege wisely figured was too dangerous to touch. Zeke galloped to third on Simmons' single to right and scored while Simmons was being forced on Appling's tap to Myer. Dykes then rolled to Myer and Sewell popped to Kuhel.

Senators Increase Lead.

The Sox did some more whittling on their two run handicap in the seventh. They registered once, leaving the Senators one run to the good. Salveson singled to right and sprinted to third on Radcliff's double against the right field sign board. Salveson ran home while Bluege was throwing out Piet. Haas was removed in a similar play. Bonura walloped a healthy fly to left, but Manush backed up to the fence and caught it.

The Senators felt a bit more at ease after picking up a run in their half of the seventh. Stone bounced a slow one to Dykes and beat the throw for a single. Myer sacrificed and Manush was dispensed with by issuing him a pass. The strategy was good enough but Travis ruined it by singling to center, Stone scoring. Dykes picked up Powell's grounder to force Manush at third and Bolton flied to Simmons.

Sig Harris Loses Finger as Result of Dog Bite

Minneapolis, Minn., July 18.—(AP)—Sig Harris, assistant football coach at the University of Minnesota, was in a hospital here tonight following amputation of the little finger of his right hand. Harris was bitten while separating two dogs engaged in a fight several days ago. Infection set in.

KENNEDY TO PITCH FOR SOX AGAINST SENATORS TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Vernon Kennedy, winner of five games and loser of two, will be the White Sox pitcher in the second of the series tomorrow. He beat the Senators recently at Chicago although they nicked him for six runs. Manager Bucky Harris is so deep in grief that he isn't able to name his pitchers far in advance, but he'll probably delegate Earl [Lefty] Whitehill to oppose Kennedy.

After a broad hint from Manager Dykes, Al Simmons is trying to cut down on his late sleeping. He appeared for breakfast at 11:30 this morning, which was about one hour and a half ahead of his unusual schedule. Dykes congratulated the Milwaukee duke on arising so early.

The Sox will play about 16 exhibition games next spring with the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates will train at San Antonio, Tex., but will go west from there to pick up the Sox after the latter finish their training chores in California.

The Cubs are supposed to be fixing up to make a visit to Hollywood, Fla., next spring for games with some of the various big league teams which will be training in that neighborhood. The Cubs will do their preliminary training at Catalina Island, but will have to make the cross country leap to get any worth while exhibition battles.

TOP DOG TURNS IN 1:35 2-5 MILE AT ARLINGTON PARK

Corinto Then Speeds Home in 1:35 3-5.

The greatest display of speed of the year was turned in at Arlington Park yesterday by the 3 year old Top Dog from the stable of L. E. Komorous, Chicago. Jocky Wayne Wright rode Top Dog.

The son of Bull Dog-Fairy Eyes was out in the first division of the Marquette purse, and, to beat Silk Mask and Be Mine by a length and a half, he ran the mile in 1:35 2-5, a second off the world record and the fastest mile run this year in America.

Silk Mask cut out a dizzy early pace, but weakened midway down the stretch when Top Dog came up with his final challenge.

Silver Sickle, owned by John Marsch, Chicago, and the favorite, was outrun for the entire trip. Top Dog paid off at $11. The time for the half was :46 and the three-quarters in 1,09 4-5.

Corinto, also owned by Mr. Komorous and also ridden by Wright, stepped out in the next race and whipped a good field over a mile route in 1:35 3-5. The son of Wildair came fast through the stretch and pulled away to a two and one-half length advantage at the finish. Both Corinto and Top Dog are trained by Bert Michell, who has had much success this season at Chicago tracks. Corinto paid $4.80.

Gov. Guy B. Park of Missouri and Justice C. A. Leedy of the Missouri Supreme court were in yesterday's crowd, accompanied by John L. Enright and Henry J. Doherty of the Union League club. The Missourians are remaining over for the running of the Classic.

Paradisical, winner of the Kentucky Oaks, Ohio Derby, and Pontchartrain handicap for I. J. Collins, Ohio racing commissioner, will make her first start at Arlington today in a mile event in which she will be opposed by such capable fillies and mares as Late Date, Dust Girl, Pantoufle, Irksome, and Bandalore.

Today's program also includes a seven furlong dash for three year olds engaging Billy Bee, Advantage, Banish Fear, Clang, and other good racers. In a two year old struggle, such fine prospects as Bow and Arrow, Toration, Tinkling Brook, Empty Bottle, The Fighter, and Sangreal are named.

Col. Edward R. Bradley, owner of Black Helen and Bloodroot, was an arrival from New York yesterday to remain until after the Classic running. The veteran Kentucky sportsman has not missed a Classic since its inception in 1929, when his Blue Larkspur was victorious.

Arlington officials were notified by George Odom, trainer for Marshall Field, that he was shipping the latter's Tintagel out from New York to run in the $60,000 Arlington Futurity Aug. 3. Tintagel, winner of all his three starts, is a son of Sir Gallahad III.

Time, :22 4-5, :46, 1:11, 1:24 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Black Hat, $5.40 straight, $3.20 place, $2.80 show; Geneva Cross, $10.40 place, $5.80 show; Torch Maiden, $5.00 show. Winner trained by B. B. Williams. Went to post at 2:15. At post ½ minute. Start good from permanent stalls. Won easily; place driving.

BLACK HAT, much the best and rated off the pace, came around the leaders gradually and without need of pressure after reaching stretch, and won with speed in reserve. GENEVA CROSS began sluggishly, came to outside in stretch, and closed with a rush. TORCH MAIDEN had speed from the start, saved ground throughout, and weakened slightly in the drive.

SECOND RACE—Five furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

FIRM HAND took command quickly, saved ground after first three-sixteenths, was shaken up soon after reaching stretch and, holding on well, withstood MASKED BELLE'S bid. Latter, well up from the start and forced to lose ground, closed with the most speed and was wearing down the winner. EMER J. had sped from the start and held on well.

KAI HARRI, lucky to keep up when in close quarters soon after the start, easily disposed of GRAY ETHEL and had something left. MISS SUBWAY, raced wide throughout and a factor from the start, held on well. BLACK BESS, away slowly and mildly ridden, was taken back on the turn and closed well when urged in stretch.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

HOMER L. rushed up fast on outside in first quarter, was steadied around the turn, easily wore down EP and won in hand. Latter had fine speed, saved ground the final half-mile, and held on fairly well to last fifty yards before weakening, but outstayed ENELLA. Latter, taken back at the start, came out after saving ground on stretch turn and finished strong.

FIFTH RACE—Hertz course, one mile out of chute. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :22 4-5, :46, 1:09 4-5, 1:35 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Top Dog, $11.00 straight, $5.20 place, $4.00 show; Silk Mask, $6.60 place, $4.40 show; Be Mine, $4.00 show. Winner trained by B. S. Michell. Went to post at 4:10. At post 1½ minutes. Start good from permanent stalls. Won handily; place driving.

TOP DOG, under splendid handling and steadied along for five-eighths, gained slightly under pressure approaching stretch, was strongly shaken up after straightening away for final three-sixteenths and, outgaming SILK MASK, came away the last sixteenth but had little left. SILK MASK, on inside throughout, displayed keen speed and held on well, but was not good enough. BE MINE was under strong riding the last three-eighths and, though failing to keep up, was widely best of others.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23, :45 4-5, 1:10, 1:35 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Corinto, $4.80 straight, $3.80 place, $3.00 show; Some Bull, $9.40 place, $4.80 show; Scatter Brain, $3.60 show. Winner trained by B. S. Michell. Went to post at 4:37½. At post 1½ minutes. Start good. Won easily; place driving.

CORINTO moved up to force the pace after a quarter, responded with determination when called upon, disposed of SCATTER BRAIN gradually and, drawing out into a long lead, was taken in hand the final fifty yards. SOME BULL, forced to race wide much of the trip, held on with fine courage. SCATTER BRAIN had keen speed, sayed ground throughout, and gave way fast after seven-eighths.

MISS MELODY, strongly restrained until reaching stretch, came around EPERNAY with a rush, but was kept under light pressure to end. CIVILIAN, blocked on stretch turn, closed with fine speed when clear. BRIGHT BUBBLE, on inside throughout, was racing well when crowded into the rail by EPERNAY in final eighth and made up ground fast when clear in last fifty yards.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Winner trained by J. B. Theall. Went to post at 5:34. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily; place driving.

CELIBA, much the best, made the early pace under strong restraint, easily withstood MARY FRANCINE'S bid on stretch turn, came away fast approaching final eighth and had something in reserve. PLATINUM BLONDE, well up from the start, saved ground throughout and weakened in the drive, but outstayed MARY FRANCINE. Latter, raced wide throughout, faltered in the final three-sixteenths.

SMALL HOOK IS USED FOR BASS AT LAKE GENEVA

Local Fishermen Have Their Own Ideas.

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishermen who go to Lake Geneva, Wis., to try to fool the large and small mouth black bass will find the guides have a tackle preference calling for a certain kind of hook. They like a fisherman to use a gut hook, the double strand of gut being 8 or 9 inches long. The hooks are rather small, too; smaller than one ordinarily uses in the north country for pike or bass.

When we were on Lake Geneva a few days ago renewing our contact with that lake, which we used to fish some years ago, we immediately asked the boys at the boat dock what they used in the way of tackle. They put the question about hooks at once. Then we learned that of all the rigs one can use in bait fishing, this one calling for a small hook was the one preferred.

Now for the Bass.

By adding a small swivel and possibly a dipsey sinker you are ready for a round with the black bass.

A bait casting rod, regular bait casting line and reel, make up the rest of the outfit. You will be discouraged from using minnows up there. The soft shelled crab [crawfish] seems to be the lure the boys have the most success with, and this will have to be put way down to reach the bass in their cyclone cellars.

If you want some fun with the black bass and the rock bass which are apt to bite most any minute, fish with a fly rod when you go to Lake Geneva. You'll get more fun out of the rock bass and when you hook a small mouth in 20 or 30 feet of water you will have action galore.

Boats Fail to Scare Them.

When we were fishing fairly close to the town of Lake Geneva the other day it was amusing the way you could drift along fairly close to the steamer lanes and get fish. Apparently the black bass are not worried very much by the big boats which maintain their schedules on the lake. The boats will pass within hailing distance of you while you are hooking fish.

Fishermen going up there should keep in mind the fact that, like most large lakes, Lake Geneva must be fished deep in the middle of the summer. You have to put a bait well down to parade it past the noses of the large and small mouthed bass. But the first are there. We found that out on our recent visit.

GOLFERS START PLAY TODAY IN ST. PAUL OPEN

St. Paul, Minn., July 18.—(AP)—Led by Sam Parks Jr. of Pittsburgh, winner of the national open at Oakmont, a field of more than 200 of the nation's finest professionals will open fire on the sixth annual $5,000 St. Paul golf championship tomorrow. It is a three day 72 hole medal play affair and the general opinion is that it will take 282 shots or even better to win the title over the Green Keller Municipal club fairways. Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee is defending champion.

Outstanding among the favorites along with Revolta are Harry Cooper, Tommy Armour, Ky Laffoon, Horton Smith, and Denny Shute, all of Chicago; Jimmy Thomson, runnerup in the national open; Henry Picard, Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Ray Mangrum, Byron Nelson, and Tony Manero.

GOLD MONEYS RISE ON FRENCH BANK RATE CUT

More Metal Flows Back to Paris; Silver Steady.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Gold bloc currencies, especially the French franc, advanced against the dollar today in response to a further reduction in the Bank of France discount rate, from 4 to 3½ per cent, the third cut within the last month.

The rate on French security loans also was reduced from 6 to 5 per cent, and the rate on 30 day notes was placed at 3½ per cent, compared with 4 per cent previously. Gold loan rates remained unchanged at 7 per cent.

Speculation Fears Wane.

With fears of speculation subsiding the bank found it feasible to make the reduction. This action follows a similar move by the Bank of the Netherlands yesterday when that bank's rate was reduced from 3½ to 3 per cent.

The French franc gained ¾ point here today to close at 6.64¼ cents after closing earlier in Paris at 6.642 cents, compared with the overnight rate of 6.635 cents, and in London at 74.63 francs to the pound, against 74.87 yesterday.

At the closing price of the franc the dollar was reduced to a value of 99.86 cents, compared with 99.98 cents yesterday. Based upon the old parity of the franc the dollar was worth 58.98 cents, against 59.05 cents yesterday.

Friends Regain Gold.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France shows that gold continues to flow back to Paris, as reserves increased 79,000,000 francs.

The Dutch guilder rose 4 points here today to close at 68.27 cents and Swiss francs gained 2 points at 32.83 cents. Belgas gained 1 point at 16.92 cents and Italian lire closed 1 point higher at 8.26½ cents. German marks improved 6 points to close at 40.48 cents.

Bar silver prices were unchanged in New York and London, and Hongkong and Shanghai dollars held steady. The price of bar gold in London was reduced 1 penny to 140 shillings 11½ pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.98, at which £222,000 changed hands.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported the receipt of $2,793,300 gold from Canada and the arrival in San Francisco of $214,000 gold from China.

COTTON TRADERS WARY; PRICES UNSTEADY AT CLOSE

Cotton traders continue to act with extreme caution on either side of the market. According to views expressed yesterday the result of the court decision holding the AAA processing tax unconstitutional has added to the confusion,

Crop comments from the southwest continue very favorable, while textile demand was said to be slow. Strength in stocks had some effect on cotton futures at times, but the close was easy with prices here 6 points lower to 7 points higher, the latter on May. Other markets were 6 points lower to 1 point higher. Spot cotton closed unchanged to 5 points lower with New Orleans 12.10 cents, Houston 11.95 cents, Galveston 12.05 cents, and New York 12.35 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

SUGAR

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet again today and no sales were reported. Holders continued to offer at concession but failed to arise any enthusiasm from refiners who appeared content to hold aloof and await further developments.

After recovering early losses of 5 to 6 points, futures developed renewed weakness under liquidation and hedge selling. Closing prices were at the lowest of the day and from 5 to 7 points below the previous close in the No. 3 contract and 4 to 5 lower in the No. 1. Sales were 20,450 tons in the No. 3 contract and 450 in the No. 1. Private advices from Cuba said that steps may be taken there to place an embargo on the exportation of unsold sugar.

HOUSE ADOPTS BILL TO BAR ALL U. S. BOND SUITS

Rule Is Not Confined to Gold Clause.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—The house today hastily considered and then passed the so-called gold clause bill making the government judgment proof in connection with all its borrowing operations. The bill goes to the senate, where a similar measure is before a committee.

Party lines were strictly drawn in voting on the measure. A motion to recommit was defeated, 250 to 92.

The house members gave convincing proof of their apathy about the measure which was demanded by President Roosevelt in a message sent to congress three weeks ago. More than three-fourths of them stayed away from the debate which preceded passage. Those who remained yawned as they listened to warnings from the minority side that the measure was "repugnant to all ideas of governmental honor and credit."

What Roosevelt Asked.

In his message the President had asked that "definite action be taken to eliminate any uncertainty with respect to the rights of holders of gold-clause bonds of the government to sue for payment either in gold or else in legal tender with an additional sum of 69 cents on every dollar."

The act, as passed, however, withdraws all right of suit or counterclaim against the government on any obligation of the government for the repayment of money. It applies to proceedings already commenced and to those to be started hereafter.

In addition to the general ban on suits, the bill specifically prohibits all attempts of persons holding government bonds with a gold payment clause, or gold certificates from suing the government for damages arising out of the revaluation of gold. It also authorizes the treasury department to pay off in paper money all gold clause securities of the government which are presented for redemption by their owners or which the treasury wishes to call for retirement.

Hollister Seeks Limit.

As explained by Representative John B. Hollister [Rep., O.], ranking member of the committee on banking and currency, the right to sue the government on its obligations is withdrawn entirely, whether the gold clause is involved or not. He offered an amendment confining the provisions to government obligations bearing a gold clause. It was defeated, 96 to 59.

"If this bill becomes law and a dispute should arise between the treasury and the holder of an obligation as to whether a bond has been properly presented for payment," Hollister pointed out, "the holder could not even have such a dispute adjudicated, but would be subject without redress to whatever arbitrary rules or regulations the secretary of the treasury might make."

Sponsors of the bill, led by Representative Steagall [Dem., Ala.], ridiculed the possibility that the government might not pay its obligations at maturity, or the proper interest when due. They hooted the assertion of Representative Frederick Lehlbach [Rep., N. J.] that the measure is a "dead beat bill."

Democrats Become Wrathful.

A few Democrats, led by representative W. D. McFarlane of Texas, became wrathful when Representative Daniel A. Reed [Rep., N. Y.] asserted:

"The President ignores the legal and moral aspects as involved in the Supreme court decision [on the gold clause] and instead seizes with avidity upon a scheme of sharp practice by which, with the aid of the congress, he hopes to achieve repudiation in fact, a result he failed to accomplish by legislation."

Adopting the growing custom in congress of attempting to suppress all criticism of the President in either house, McFarlane moved that Reed be stopped from continuing his speech. The motion was lost overwhelmingly.

The two hour limit set upon debate was attacked by Hollister.

"We are granted but two hours to consider whether the government will take another step toward repudiation," he said. "Two hours to discuss a question involving basically our national honor and credit, two hours to decide whether we will say to all present and future holders of government obligations that they not only cannot recover from the government if it fails to pay, but they cannot even have a judicial interpretation of their contract."

Sets Dubious Records.

Two dubious records are being set by the congress, Hollister declared.

"We will hold the record as the congress which passed more unconstitutional legislation than any other in history, and the added honor of having done more to wreck our three branch system of government, with its time tested checks and balances, than any congress in history," he said.

Notwithstanding "five solemn warnings" from the Supreme court that New Deal legislation is unconstitutional, the President's intentions for the future are "even more alarming," Hollister declared.

"In this bill, especially," he said, "we say to the individual: 'We have tried to take away your rights, but the constitution has protected you. We now are going to take away your remedy.'"

Hollister predicted a serious impairment of government credit.

"How many people will extend credit to an individual who deliberately makes himself judgment proof?" he asked.

Road Must Pay Gold Value on Bonds Abroad

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Federal Judge John C. Knox today ordered the St. Louis and Southwestern railway to pay the gold equivalent of its bond coupons held by the Anglo-Continentale Treuhand. This is one of the cases growing out of the devaluation of the dollar. The Anglo-Continentale Truehan is a concern incorporated in the principality of Lichtenstein.

The railroad company was ordered to pay off a judgment of $16,383 obtained by the European concern at the following rates: $39.63 with respect to each $25 coupon due Jan. 1, 1934; $42 with respect to each $25 coupon due July 1, 1934, and $42.26 with respect to each $25 coupon due Jan. 1, 1935.

Payment in Guilders Sought.

The European concern had sought payment of the coupons in guilders, the Dutch currency still on a gold basis. The value of the guilder has been automatically increased by the action of the United States government in devaluing the dollar. Under the ruling of Judge Knox, the railroad—which had refused to pay in anything except American dollars—was ordered to pay in gold to the equivalent of the guilder.

Wall street circles expressed the belief that "the dollar devaluation was coming home to roost," in commenting on Judge Knox's decision. While the case was not tied to the testing of devaluation in the recent gold cases before the Supreme court, it held an important bearing on whether payments on American bonds held abroad shall be made in dollars or the gold equivalent of foreign currencies.

Demanded Payment in Gold.

Guggenheimer & Untermyer, attorneys for the foreign company, filed a complaint several months ago that the bonds called for the payment of coupons here or abroad, in gold if in the United States and in the equivalent of $25 in gold if payment should be made abroad.

The bonds were made payable in Amsterdam, Holland, in guilders or in pound sterling in Great Britain, or francs in France. The plaintifs stated they had demanded payment under the terms of the bonds but that they had been offered payment only on the present money basis of American currency.

At the time of filing the suit the company said it had no intention of testing the devaluation of the dollar. The decision likewise had no effect on American bondholders.

Road to Appeal Decision.

St. Louis, Mo., July 18.—(AP)—Daniel Upthegrove, president of the St. Louis Southwestern [Cotton Belt] railway, early tonight said an immediate appeal would be taken to a federal court ruling that the railroad must pay one of its European bondholders in Dutch guilders or their equivalent in United States currency.

The case has been watched closely by business men throughout the country, as other railroads and a number of industrial concerns have bonds containing clauses for payment in foreign money. Upthegrove said that if the Supreme court upheld the decision it would "cost American railroads and industries hundreds of thousands of dollars."

FAIR CLEARS UP 1934 DIVIDENDS ON SENIOR STOCK

Directors of The Fair at a special meeting yesterday authorized the payment of two quarterly dividends of $1.75 each on the cumulative preferred stock to stockholders of record July 28. Payment will be made on Aug. 10. This disbursement will pay all preferred dividends for 1934.

In a statement accompanying the announcement, D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair, said: "While the results of operations during the first five months of 1935 were more satisfactory than they were in the like period of 1934, dividends were not earned. They will be paid out of earned surplus. In past years the major portion of the annual net earnings have been made in the last half of each year."

TREASURY GETS PREMIUMS FOR NEW 2⅞% BONDS

The average price of tenders for the 2⅞ per cent treasury bonds of 1955-'60, offered on Monday, is slightly above 101 19-32 and a total premium of $1,631,894, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced yesterday.

Based on the average price at which the bonds are to be issued on July 22, the yield is about 2.77 per cent to the earliest call date, March 15, 1955, and about 2.78 per cent to maturity, March 15, 1960. Tenders for $510,958,000 face amount of the bonds were received, of which $101,967,000 were accepted at prices ranging from 101 27-32 down to 101 19-32 and acrcued interest from March 15, 1935, to July 22, 1935.

Gasoline Price Cut Reports Are Denied by Companies

Reports of an impending reduction in the price of gasoline in the Chicago district were denied yesterday by all the major companies and by L. M. Foster, president of the Chicago Individual Branded Petroleum association, which embraces most of the independent companies in this area. Foster said that the officers of his association reported that they were satisfied with the present price level and that neither reductions nor increases were contemplated.

COUNTY, CITY UNIT SET UP BIG REFUNDING PLAN

$190,000,000 of Bonds Are Involved.

Two bond refunding programs involving a total of $190,000,000 of defaulted and other bonds of Cook county and the Chicago sanitary district were placed before the respective administrative bodies for action yesterday.

The $140,000,000 refunding program of the sanitary district, recommended by President Ross A. Woodhull, was unanimously approved by the district trustees. The Cook county refunding program of about 50 millions, recommended by Commissioner Daniel Ryan, was taken under consideration by the county board and will be acted upon at the next meeting, July 24.

Speaking for the sanitary district's refunding program, Woodhull said: "The delayed tax collections in Cook county and the slow payment on the bills rendered have made it impossible in the last three years for the sanitary district promptly to meet the maturing interest and principal of its bonds.

Would Spread Maturities.

"Our refunding program is planned to lower the tax levy of the district by spreading the peak load of bond maturities over a period of years. In addition to aiding the taxpayers, we are assuring the bondholders of bond redemption and will thereby improve the relative standing of the district's bonds on the market."

Under the program five Chicago banks have accepted appointment as refunding agents. They are the Harris Trust and Savings bank, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, First National bank, Northern Trust company, and City National Bank and Trust company.

Holders of $20,000,000 of sanitary district bonds in default on interest and bonds due before the end of the year will be issued new 4 per cent bonds, or in the event the district can sell the new bonds on the market at less than 4 per cent, the present bondholders will be paid in cash. Interest on outstanding sanitary district bonds varies from 4 to 5 per cent.

Bond Exchange Offered.

Holders of $119,122,000 of district bonds redeemable after Jan. 1, 1936, will have the opportunity of exchanging them for 20 year 4 per cent refunding bonds. The refunding bonds, according to Woodhull, may be called by the sanitary district on Jan. 1, following date of maturity of the original bonds, or any interest date thereafter.

The sanitary district refunding program becomes effective when 85 per cent of the bonds have been deposited with refunding agents. Woodhull said that with the PWA holding $42,000,000 of outstanding bonds, the district's pension fund holding $5,000,000. and assurances received from various large bondholders, he expects the offer to be accepted.

County's Refunding Plan.

The county refunding plan provides for the redemption of the $10,000,000 bonds already in interest default, and the exchange for new 4 to 5 per cent long term bonds of another $38,179,000.

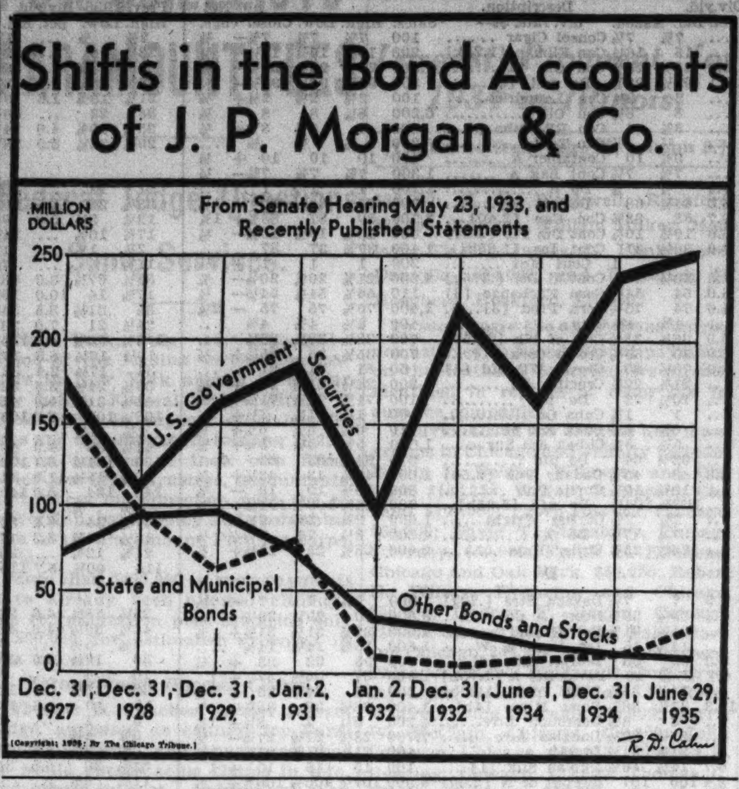
Under the plan, Stifel, Nicolaus & Co., Inc., and A. C. Allyn & Co. agree to purchase within 75 days $10,000,000 in new 20 year bonds. The proceeds from the sale are to be used for retiring the defaulted bonds.

The interest rate on the $10,000,000 issue would depend upon the number of bonds the county is able to exchange for those outstanding. If the county, acting as its own agent, exchanges any amount less than 75 per cent of the $38,179,000 in bonds, the rate would be 4 per cent. Should the county increase the exchanges to 75 to 84 per cent, the rate would be reduced to 3¾ per cent. Any exchanges over 85 per cent would cut the rate to 3½ per cent.

APPLE PRICES LOW, GROWERS LET CROPS ROT

Hardin, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—Orchardists esitmated today that nearly 140,000 bushels of apples are rotting in Calhoun county because growers receive 7 to 15 cents less for each basket than it costs to prepare the apples for market.

Growers generally attributed the poor prices to the fact that markets, particularly St. Louis, are flooded with Illinois Transparents, principal stock of the local orchards. St. Louis commission men have been paying 25 to 50 cents a bushel for apples. Growers compute the marketing costs at an average of 47 cents a bushel.



Banks Here Plan to Bid In Insull Stocks

Chicago banks are expected to take steps shortly to reduce to possession the thousands of shares of stock in Commonwealth Edison Company, Peoples Gas, Light and Coke Company, and Public Service Company of Northern Illinois which they took as collateral for loans made to units of the Insull utility empire before its collapse.

New York banks already have made arrangements for sale of their Insull stocks, following upon a recent court decision upholding their right to them as collateral. A similar case, questioning the right of Chicago banks to their collateral, is pending but is not expected to come to trial because the case against the New York banks was considered the stronger of the two.

Plan Conference on Policy.

None of the five Chicago banks has made a definite decision on the matter, but they are planning to have a conference soon to determine their policy, it was learned yesterday.

Seven New York banks and five Chicago banks took as collateral on loans to Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities company an aggregate of 249,799 shares of Edison stock, 165,477 shares of People's Gas, and 77,744 shares of Public Service.

The Chicago banks took 160,773 shares of Edison to 89,026 for the New Yorkers. New York banks, however, accepted 118,207 Peoples Gas shares to 47,270 for the Chicagoans. Local banks took 38,303 Public Service shares and New York institutions took 39,441.

BOSTON EDISON PLANS SALE OF STOCK TO PAY OFF $16,000,000 NOTES

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—The Edison Electric Illuminating company of Boston plans to offer stock to provide for refunding $16,000,000 of 5 per cent notes, due next April 15, it was learned today.

The last offering of rights to stockholders was 66,734 shares in 1927 at $215 a share. Plans to sell 178,292 additional shares in 1932 were abandoned before a meeting of stockholders to approve the issue. The stock is selling now around $148.

Additional bonds may be issued under the first mortgage, of which $53,000,000 series A 3½s will be offered tomorrow, but the company hopes to use stock instead. This would leave the above bond issue as the only funded debt of the company.

GOODRICH VOTE 74% FAVORABLE TO REFINANCING

New York, July 18.—(AP)—With only a thin margin of proxies separating it from victory in the fight to create a new mortgage on its property, the B. F. Goodrich company of Akron, O., adjourned its stockholders' meeting in New York today until July 25.

J. D. Tew, Goodrich president, rallied stockholders in an effort to push the proxy margin favoring the plan from the 74 per cent registered unofficially at today's meeting to the necessary 75 per cent, while those backing Otis & Co., Cleveland investment firm opposing the plan, sought to draw votes to their standard.

John De R. Weed of Beverly Hills, Cal., represented as one of the six largest stockholders in the tire company, in a statement tonight demanded "proper representation on the board of directors so that dividends would be the activating motive rather than the perpetuation of high salaries."

Weed said the proposed financing would cost in called bonds, discounts, and other expenses about $2,500,000. He said: "The officers told me that the interest savings from the refunding would amount to $208,000 a year—which would take twelve years or more before any direct benefits would be derived for dividend purposes."

It is proposed to issue now $28,000,000 in 4½ per cent 25 year bonds with the proceeds to be used in retiring the 6½ per cent Goodrich bonds and 5½ and 7 per cent bonds of the Hood Rubber company subsidiary.

107 STOCKS RISE TO NEW PEAKS FOR THIS YEAR

Gains Are General in Active Trade.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 18.—Optimism continued to radiate from the stock exchange today. The market moved further ahead on a broad front, with 107 trading favorites rising to the best prices of the year and turnover swelling above the million and a half share mark.

Motor, steel, chemical, and building shares attracted the cream of the demand. The utilities were adversely affected by the U. S. Circuit court's decision upholding the TVA, and the oils found the going a bit rough on price cutting moves in different sections.

Nothing was particularly inspiring in the day's spot news, but comment agreed that the outlook for business over the next few months was improving steadily, especially in the heavy industries.

Preferred Issues Climb.

An absence of selling orders and a strong stream of buying orders in the preferred stock line brought some good gains for one day's trading. Steel Foundries preferred climbed 4½ points to par for the first time in four years. Armour [Delaware] preferred rose 1½ points to the highest price on record. Other preferred issues bobbing up 1½ to 5 points included Blumenthal, Certain-Teed, Columbia Gas, Gimbel, Hamilton Watch, Printing Ink, Loose-Wiles, New York Steam, Pittsburgh Steel, Pittsburgh United, Republic Steel, United States Steel, and Youngstown.

From a speculative viewpoint the persistent demand for steel stocks was the feature of the day's proceedings. Market letter writers reminded the uninitiated that "a strong forward movement in steels is, on all accounts, the best sort of a lead for the market to follow, as prosperity in this major industry reflects improvement everywhere, being in times like these especially significant of recovery in the durable goods industries."

Steel Common Above 38.

United States Steel common got back well above 38. Bethlehem enjoyed good demand, and the independents moved along with the procession.

In the automobile sector both General Motors and Chrysler went to new highs. Auto accessories were encouraged by an estimate that their current financial position is the best since the depression began.

Railroad shares and equipments held firm. Brake Shoe and Railway Signal pushed ahead. Views on the outlook for a revival of the building industry gave the building shares a fresh push.

Even the falling market for wheat and uncertainties over the AAA were impotent to disturb the farm implement and mail order issues, both groups recording higher prices.

CHICAGO STOCKS STRONG.

Thirteen issues forged ahead to new highs on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday and a score or more of others were selling at or near their best 1935 marks. Price advances were generally moderate.

Trading was fairly active, the turnover being 43,000 shares. New tops were struck by Brown Fence B, Chicago corporation preferred, Chicago Rivet, Goldblatt, Horders, Ken-Rad, McGraw Electric, National Standard, Northwest Engineering, Ryerson, Signode Steel, and Sutherland Paper. Utilities were firm, with Public Service leading.

Central Bank Faction Opens Senate Battle

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Central bank advocates in congress opened fire on the omnibus banking bill today, with Senator Nye [Rep., N. D.] introducing an amendment to strike out all of title II. and insert his central bank bill as a substitute.

Nye's amendment would have a government owned central bank take over the federal reserve system and direct the nation's finances through a board of directors of forty-eight chosen by popular vote from every state. It has the support of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit.

Attempts to inject this proposal into the bill were rejected in house proceedings, but there will be another effort in the senate. Even though strong speeches will be made in favor of the plan, however, there is little hope for it, banking experts say.

Fletcher Proposes Changes.

In a surprise move, Senator Fletcher, banking committee chairman, has demanded a test of the part of the bill establishing the open market committee. Although he was chairman of the committee which unanimously reported the bill to the senate, Fletcher has now precipitated a senate debate.

Through an amendment Fletcher proposes to strike out that part of the senate bill proposing an open market committee of seven federal reserve board members and five reserve bank governors and to give the board itself full power over open market operations. This was proposed in the house bill and is strongly advocated by Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the federal reserve board, who, it is said, does not like the idea of having the governors participate.

Fletcher Not Roosevelt Spokesman.

Senator Fletcher stated he had not been asked by the administration to offer the amendment, but had done so entirely on his own volition. It was stated in informed quarters that the White House had not stimulated the move in any way. Along with this amendment Fletcher now offers three others, one of which would eliminate the authority of the senate bill to permit banks' underwriting of securities in some instances.

President Roosevelt opposes this section on the ground that it might lead to serious malpractices, and Senator Glass, chairman of the subcommittee which drew up the bill, is not especially enthusiastic over it. As abandonment of this permission for underwriting had been expected either in conference or on the floor, little effect was produced by introduction of Fletcher's proposal.

Urges Other Amendment.

The other two changes he urged were first, to eliminate from the bill, language allowing a director or officer of a federal reserve bank to hold a similar position in another bank, and second, to strike out the qualification that at least two of the seven "governors" of the reserve board should be men of tested banking experience.

It is learned that if Senator Fletcher is beaten in his plan to remove the five reserve bank governors from the open market committee, he will propose an amendment to have the committee consist of seven reserve members and only four bank governors. He said this would obviate a deadlock in close decisions of the committee. Senator Glass was surprised by introduction of the Fletcher amendments.

Egypt Ends Trade Treaty with Japan as Yen Falls

CAIRO, Egypt, July 18.—(AP)—The Egyptian government today handed the Japanese consul general a note renouncing its commercial agreement with Japan for "most-favored nation" treatment, on the grounds that the depreciation of the Japanese yen enables Japanese goods to compete favorably with local industries.

TRAYLOR HEIRS GET MILLION IN LIFE INSURANCE

Largest Payment for 1934 in Illinois.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Melvin A. Traylor, late president of the First National Bank of Chicago, who died Feb. 14, 1934, left his heirs $1,002,500 in life insurance, the largest aggregate life insurance payment made in Illinois last year, according to the annual survey of the National Underwriter, released last night.

MELVIN A. TRAYLOR.

This $1,002,500, together with various stocks, bonds, and notes, unofficially valued at $200,000, brought the value of the Traylor estate to a total approximately $1,202,500. At the time the inventory of the estate was filed last February it was reported that one life insurance policy was worth $900,000, but the total value of all policies was not disclosed.

The Traylor payment was the fourth largest in the United States during 1934.

Rockefeller Payment Largest.

The largest amount of life insurance left by an individual in 1934 was $3,124,773 by Percy A. Rockefeller, leading industrialist and financier and a nephew of John D. Rockefeller Sr. William Rockefeller, father of Percy A., was associated with John D. Sr. in the building up of the Standard Oil companies.

The second largest amount of insurance, $1,500,000, was left by Arthur Joseph of Cincinnati, who was an executive of the David J. Joseph company, scrap metal dealers. H. K. Noyes of West Newton, Mass., was third with $1,046,310.

Other large payments in Illinois last year were given by the National Underwriter as follows: George Lytton, Chicago merchant, $905,000; Albert B. Dick, head of A. B. Dick company, mimeograph manufacturers, Chicago, $728,000; H. C. Moir Sr., late president of the Morrison Hotel company, Chicago, $425,000; Eli T. Daiches, Chicago advertising executive, who was shot to death March 3, 1934, as he rode in his automobile, $300,000; William H. Fehrman, Chicago, $134,000, and H. W. Wales, Winnetka and Chicago, $134,000.

Other Large Policies Paid.

Payments made on the death of other large policyholders who were not identified included $912,000 left by an individual described only as "Chicago executive." A "Lake Forest capitalist" left $544,821, "Name not given, Chicago," $340,000; "Company President, Chicago," $257,753, and other anonymous policyholders leaving, respectively, $250,000, $200,000, $150,000, and $123,000.

Downstate policyholders were well represented around the $100,000 class. Albert Bothmann of Edwardsville left $122,549, "Auto dealer of Evansville," $120,000; Carl H. Zwermann, Robinson, $116,500; Thomas J. Prentice, Decatur, $80,000; George J. Ehrlicher, Peoria, $53,500; Royal Tharp, East St. Louis, $50,050; Herman Manteufel, Danville, $40,000; Warren F. Hardy, Decatur, $39,000; John S. Abbott, Robinson, $38,000; George W. Ziebold, Waterloo,

MEMBER BANKS EXPAND CREDIT; RESERVES FALL

City Institutions Buy More Federal Securities.

There was a moderate expansion in bank credit, including commercial loans, in both New York and Chicago during the week ended Wednesday, according to the condition statements issued last night. At the same time there was a shrinkage in the reserves of banks in both cities, as well as for the entire country.

New York banks reported an increase in total credit outstanding of 193 million dollars, the biggest weekly expansion that has been shown recently. Most of the increase was accounted for by purchases of government securities, in which holdings jumped 143 millions. Commercial loans were 28 millions higher than for the preceding week. Brokers' loans fell 17 millions.

Banks Put Funds to Work.

Chicago banks put 48 millions more of their funds to work during the week, the bulk of which went into government bonds, which increased 38 millions. The increases in government bond holdings in both New York and Chicago roughly corresponded with the declines recorded in reserve balances. The shrinkage in reserves in Chicago was 37 millions and in New York 150 millions. Commercial loans of Chicago banks were 7 millions higher.

Chicago banks currently are lending only one million dollars in the New York call money market. The decline in the call money rate has brought virtually all of these funds home. A year ago Chicago banks had 19 millions in the call market.

The combined statement of the 12 central banks of the reserve system disclosed few changes of significance. The monetary gold stock of the country rose 4 millions.

Reserves Decline in Cities.

Total reserve balances of the member banks of the system dropped 128 millions, all of which was accounted for by the New York and Chicago banks. The figures indicate some increase in reserve for other cities. The reserve statement for the first time contained a note explaining that of the total reserves on July 17, approximately $2,340,000,000 were in excess of the legal requirements.

The additional funds which the New York and Chicago banks put into government securities were partly left with the banks in the form of treasury deposits. Government deposits of the Chicago banks increased 19 millions and in New York were up 63 millions.

ASK 180 MILLION DAMAGES FROM COLUMBIA GAS

Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Charges Conspiracy

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—A $180,000,000 damage suit under the anti-trust law was filed in federal court today against the half billion dollar Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, largest natural gas producer in the country.

The action alleges conspiracy to wreck a competitor, the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company, while the latter was seeking to deliver gas to the middle west and east at half of Columbia's rates "to break down the exorbitant rate structure which the Columbia system was and is maintaining." Henry T. Bush and Ray Phillips, receivers for the Missouri-Kansas company, instituted the action. Under provisions of the federal anti-trust laws the plaintifs ask triple the amount of $60,000,000, the amount of total damages alleged.

Charge Receivership Forced.

By various steps, the brief charges, the defendants secured domination of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line, which was organized by the Missouri-Kansas company to pipe cheap gas from Texas and Kansas to Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and other states. The alleged acts "financially embarrassed" the Missouri-Kansas company and forced it into receivership in March, 1932, it is contended, and left Columbia in control of the gas business.

The complaint recites that Columbia Gas had more than seventy-five subsidiary and affiliated companies, and that its issue of outstanding capital stock exceeded $500,000,000. Between them, the plaintifs allege, the two corporations operated the largest pipe line system in the United States, supplying natural gas to the "eastern part of the United States."

Directors Made Defendants.

Included as defendants are the following directors or former directors, Philip G. Gossler, president; George H. Howard, president of the United corporation, the Morgan holding company; Charles A. Monroe, Thomas B. Gregory, Thomas R. Weymouth, Edward Reynolds Jr., Burt R. Bay, and John H. Hillman Jr.

Columbia's selection of Howard as the "impartial director" of the Panhandle company after acquiring half the stock in the latter is alleged to be fraudulent. At the time, it is charged, the United corporation, of which he was president, was largest individual stockholder in Columbia, and he was "never impartial."

The National City company is cited as issuing $20,000,000 of Panhandle mortgage bonds which were to be sold to the public. Actually, it is stated, National City sold them to the Columbia system.

GRIFFIN AGAIN CHOSEN TO HEAD LOAN CONCERNS

Thomas D. Griffin was elected president of the Illinois Association of Personal Finance Companies at a meeting of the association held last night at the Palmer house. This will be the second term for Griffin, who is vice president of the Local Loan company, which has several offices in Chicago and other cities.

Other officers reëlected were Charles Turgrimson of the Illinois Investment company, vice president; Albert P. Snite of the Imperial Credit company, secretary, and John A. Breen of the Citizens' Loan association, treasurer.

The Illinois association reported many new members joined during the last year. Among its activities was the furnishing of aid to the state administration with respect to new legislation which reduced the interest rate for small loans and put into effect stricter regulations for the industry.

BANK CLEARINGS RISE; CHICAGO ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—An increase of 13.6 per cent in bank clearings for the week ended July 17 was reported today by Dun & Bradstreet. This compared with a decline of 8.1 per cent in the week ended July 10, which included the July 4 holiday.

The total, compiled from reports from twenty-two leading cities was $5,863,223,000, compared with $5,159,872,000 in the corresponding period a year ago.

New York City clearings, at $3,975,281,000, were 15.8 per cent above a year ago, while the aggregate for centers outside of New York was $1,887,942,000, an increase of 9.4 per cent.

Chicago clearings were $275,000,000 against $249,300,000 in the same week last year.

Armour Will Take Over Memphis Firm on Aug. 1

Armour & Co. formally will take over the Memphis Packing corporation on Aug. 1, it was learned yesterday. The action follows approval on July 5 by stockholders of the Tennessee concern of sale in a transaction reported to involve $1,000,000. The stockyards of the Memphis company will be acquired by G. D. Strauss, its president, because the large packers have been forbidden to acquire yards and ordered to divest themselves of present stockyards interests. Memphis stockholders are to receive an estimated $9 to $10 a share in accepting the Armour offer.

Altered Dollar Has Wrought Harm, Money Experts Insist

Ithaca, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—Prominent players in the Washington drama of the gold dollar met at Cornell university today to pass judgment on revaluation and to urge further steps to promote recovery.

Dr. O. M. W. Sprague, who resigned as advisor to the United States treasury nearly two years ago because of disagreement with the monetary policies, said in an address before the annual session of the American Institute of Coöperation he held the view that the United States would have made more progress, "if the dollar had not been devalued."

James D. Mooney, president of the American Manufacturers' Export association, called for an early return to a fixed gold standard, at the present tentative gold basis for the dollar, as a means to restore confidence and revive trade.

Asserts World Is Disturbed.

Prof. James Harvey Rogers, Yale economist, who remained as economic advisor to the federal government during the gold price fixing, although he has intimated that he was not in full agreement with the program, asserted that devaluation had caused disturbing repercussions in much of the world.

"It is my opinion therefore, that any monetary measures of the immediate future should be taken with a view to minimizing these serious obstacles to general recovery," Rogers said. "Even the American farmer, for whom our gold policy was primarily adopted, now finds himself more in need of foreign markets for his products than a further temporary stimulus to prices."

Earlier in the day, Dr. George F. Warren of Cornell, who was a dominant figure in Washington as monetary advisor during the gold price fixing of 1933, when the Warren-Pearson theories of gold and prices seemed to be in vogue, explained the theory in detail and presented voluminous statistics to show that it had worked.

Differs with Kemmerer.

Dr. Warren, who is head of the department of agricultural economics and farm management at Cornell, took issue with Dr. E. W. Kemmerer, international money expert, who recently forecast that the cost of living would double as a result of devaluation.

He pointed out that sensitive commodities, those which were most depressed and contributed most to the economic maladjustments at the bottom of the depression, had already risen approximately as much as the gold price was raised, or 69 per cent, while much of the less sensitive part of the price structure, that had not declined as much, had only been checked in its sag.

Jerome Barnum, president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, discussing the agricultural coöperative movement, condemned the agricultural adjustment act as "a tax upon the working man and woman of this country, the wage earner, for the very necessities of life—food, shelter, and clothing."

He asserted that in New York state processing taxes to the extent of $89,528,119 had been collected in less than two years, while the farmers of the state collected benefits totaling only $384,519.

GOLDWYN BUYS FULL CONTROL OF UNITED ARTISTS

Hollywood, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—Sam Goldwyn, the one time Sam Goldfisch, New York glove salesman, today became the dominating influence in the Pickford-Fairbanks-Chaplin-Selznick-United Artists film combination when, for $250,000, he bought the half interest in the physical property of United Artists studio owned by the Joseph Schenck-Darryl Zanuck producing team.

The deal makes Goldwyn sole owner of United Artists' physical property and equipment. Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks retain title to the real estate on which the studio city is built.

Zanuck and Schenck installed themselves today as heads of the Fox Movietone city in Westwood, Zanuck as production manager and Schenck as chairman of the board.

Winfield Sheehan, resigned production head of Fox, issued a statement denying he was entering the film production field in Europe, as reported. It was reported today that Sheehan was paid $360,000 for surrender of his 18 month unexpired Fox contract.

FURNITURE MART HAS MOST BUYERS IN TEN YEARS

Attendance records at the American Furniture Mart for the last ten years were broken yesterday when 6,901 buyers registered for the current furniture market, it was announced by Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the mart. The market has two more days to run and is assured an attendance of at least 7,000 buyers, which is larger than any time during the boom years and more than twice the number registered during the middle of the depression.

Many favorable reports were made by representatives of the furniture industry. Sidney Walker, sales manager of the Kroehler Manufacturing company, Chicago, said that company's business was 100 per cent above a year ago; Kenneth Burner of the Tennessee Furniture company, Chattanooga, Tenn., reported it was the best market ever participated in by the company. Other statements were equally as favorable.

ILLINOIS SALES OF ELECTRICITY 5½% OVER 1934

Springfield, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—The Illinois commerce commission today reported that sales of electricity in Illinois gained 5½ per cent during the first six months of the year, compared with the same period of 1934.

The twelve leading utility companies, doing 99 per cent of the electrical business, reported their total sales for the six months were 2,780,000,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 2,636,000,000 a year earlier. Sales outside Chicago gained 7 per cent during the period. The figures do not include inter-company exchanges of energy at wholesale rates.

Sales of electricity in June by eleven leading companies, representing 93 per cent of the business of the state, were 412,463,829 kilowatt hours, a decrease of 1 per cent over June, 1934. Sales outside Chicago showed a 3.7 per cent gain during June.

AMERICAN FURNITURE MART REORGANIZATION APPROVED BY COURT

A modified plan for the reorganization of the $15,000,000 American Furniture Mart, under the provisions of section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy act, was approved yesterday by Judge William H. Holly in the United States District court. Judge Holly set July 25 for a hearing on final confirmation of the plan and on objections to it.

The modified plan will be submitted to security holders and stockholders. It provides that holders of $7,400,000 of first mortgage bonds will receive new securities at the par value of the old.

The rate of interest, which was fixed at 6 per cent on the old bonds, has been reduced to 3 per cent on the new bonds, with an additional 2 per cent contingent on earnings.

This arrangement will continue until the principal has been reduced to $5,000,000. Then the fixed rate will be 3 per cent, with an additional 3 per cent contingent on earnings. When the amount of the first mortgage is reduced to $3,750,000, the interest rate will be returned to 6 per cent.

Holders of $3,600,000 of preferred stock are to get one share of preferred in the reorganized company and 1½ shares of new common stock. The rate on the original preferred was 7 per cent. Under the plan dividends will be paid when earned. They will be cumulative. Holders of 306,000 shares of common stock of an original par value of $5 will receive new common stock with a par value of $1.

The preferred stockholders were represented at yesterday's hearing by Attorney Leo A. Stebbins and the American Furniture Mart Building corporation by James F. Oates Jr.

EXEMPT HOUSING PROJECTS FROM LABOR ON RELIEF

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—Exemption of low cost housing projects from the work relief requirement that 90 per cent of all labor be taken from relief rolls was announced today by Secretary Ickes. He said at his press conference that he had obtained exemption of the housing projects from all labor regulations imposed by Harry L. Hopkins, the works progress administrator.

The requirement that 90 per cent of workmen be taken from relief lists had been attacked in some cities as a serious handicap to housing construction. Projects of this type already had been exempted from the $19 to $94 wage scales fixed by Hopkins for relief workers.

Ickes said states and cities have submitted applications for $465,000,000 of new PWA projects.

LAWYERS PLEAD FOR $3,222,315 PARAMOUNT FEES

Federal Judge Questions Some Services.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Some of the leading corporation lawyers in New York argued at a hearing before Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe today in support of claims for fees and disbursements totaling $3,222,315 on account of their own firms, other law firms, trustees, accountants, and others in connection with the receivership, bankruptcy and reorganization of the Paramount Pictures corporation.

More than $400,000 in such payments have already been allowed although the reorganization plan set aside only $2,500,000 for estimated expenses of this nature.

Former Judge Opposes Claims.

Thomas D. Thacher, former federal judge, appeared as counsel for Paramount Pictures, and announced that he would oppose some claims in toto, and others in part. Judge Coxe then adjourned the hearing unitl next Thursday when he announced he would hear the opposition.

Judge Coxe frequently interrupted the arguments of lawyers to demand how they justified the size of their claims, or in some cases any claims on the basis of services actually rendered. He remarked that one seemed "pretty steep" to him, and said that certain others did not seem to him to have any justification under the statutes. His questions were interpreted as indicating the possibility that some claims might be disallowed altogether, and some might be drastically reduced.

Alfred A. Cook of the law firm of Cook, Nathan & Lehman, attorneys for the company during the reorganization proceedings and for the stockholders' protective committee, acted as marshal of the twenty law firms represented.

Ballantine Declares Claim Fair.

Arthur A. Ballantine, former under secretary of the treasury, now a member of the law firm of Root, Clark, Buckner, and Ballantine, attorneys for the trustees in bankruptcy and for the equity receivers, struck the keynote of all the arguments on behalf of the claims when he said that his firm regarded its claim as "eminently reasonable and fair." He said one of the most difficult reorganizations on record had been accomplished after two and one-half years of hard work, resulting in the saving of millions of dollars for the stockholders, bondholders, and general creditors. No fewer than 72,113 hours were devoted to the work, he said.

Ballantine's firm has asked the largest amount sought—$700,000 in fees and $7,679 in expenses. It has already received interim allowances of $250,000, making its total fee $950,000. Its clients are asking fees as follows: Charles D. Hilles, as equity receiver and trustee, $128,000; Eugene W. Leake as trustee, $118,000, and Charles E. Richardson as trustee, $87,000. Hilles has already received $52,433, Leake $32,433, and Richarson $32,433.

CANADA, JAPAN HOLD PARLEY ON TRADE STRIFE

OTTAWA, Ont., July 18.—(AP)—After a further lengthy conference early today with officers of the department of external affairs Prime Minister Bennett conferred with Sotomatsu Mato, Japanese minister to Canada, with respect to the protests from that country of unfair trade discriminations against Japanese commodities.

The Japanese government has declared the Canadian dump duty against commodities from a country with a depreciated currency to be discrimination against Japan and has approved a surtax of 50 per cent on commodities constituting Canada's chief exports to Japan. The measure has not yet been declared effective.

WARM, DRY WEATHER LIFTS BUTTER; EGGS UNCHANGED

Warm and dry weather with further reports indicating production of butter was being unfavorable more than offset continued bearish statistics on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. The November delivery moved up ¼ cent and closed at 24¾ cents per pound. The four leading markets reported an into storage movement of 1,200,000 pounds, or double that of a year ago.

October eggs closed unchanged at 25¼ cents per dozen, fair buying developing despite the into storage movement exceeding that of last year. The exchange adjourned early yesterday on account of the annual field day. Sales of butter were 65 cars and eggs 20 cars. Prices follow:

Barber, Chicago, $30,000.

Vast Sum Paid Last Year.

Life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries in the United States and Canada were paid 3 billion, 101 million dollars in 1934. New York ranked first with 571 millions, or a per capita payment of $43.80; Pennsylvania second with 294 millions, and Illinois third with 213 millions, or a per capita payment of $27.05.

Big payments outside Illinois last year included those on the deaths of Alfred B. Koch of Toledo, $993,000, president of La Salle & Koch department store, affiliate of R. C. Macy's of New York; Frederick A. Geier, Cincinnati, $965,123, president of Cincinnati Milling Machine company; Franklin Simon, head of the large New York City women's specialty shop bearing his name, $940,000; James Rolph, former governor of California, $922,000; Frederick E. Watermeyer, New York importer of essential oils, $734,880; Paul F. Donnelly of the Donnelly Garment company, Kansas City, $702,900. The latter's widow married former United States Senator James A. Reed and now heads the Donnelly company.

Lumberman Leaves $625,315.

R. A. Long, former chairman of the Long Bell Lumber company, Kansas City, left $625,315; Isaac D. Levy, president of Oppenheim, Collins & Co., eastern chain store system, $500,000; Edward W. Foristel, prominent St. Louis attorney, $480,000; Darwin P. Kingsley, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, $90,130; George F. Baker Sr., former chairman of the First National Bank of New York City, $85,802; Russ Colombo, radio singer and motion picture actor, Hollywood, $49,000; James Kerney, Trenton, N. J., newspaper publisher, $355,000; Lloyd H. McKee, wholesale grocer, Fort Worth, $300,000.

The largest amount of life insurance left by a woman in 1934 was on the life of Leona A. Birck of Scarsdale, N. Y., who had $120,320.

In the last five depression years 15 billion, 672 million dollars have been paid out to policyholders and beneficiaries in the United States and Canada.

ILLINOIS FARM LEADER FLAILS ATTACKS ON AAA

Enemies of the agricultural adjustment act were bitterly denounced by Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, in a statement made public by the organization last night.

Speaking for the association's 60,000 members, he said, "farmers of Illinois and the nation are squarely behind the AAA and the pending amendments, and will fight to the last ditch to retain for agriculture the same privilege of production and price control now enjoyed by industry through corporate understandings and the protective tarif."

Smith asserted the present widespread attack of some of the meat packers, millers, and textile interests on the processing tax, if successful, will have the effect of driving farmers toward more drastic means than have yet been tried in their fight for economic justice and a fair share of the national income.

Louisville and Nashville Declares Dividend of $1

New York, July 18.—(AP)—The Louisville and Nashville Railroad company today announced a dividend of $1 on the capital stock, payable Aug. 24 to stock of record July 31. The company made two payments of $1.50 during the last year.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS, EASTERN DIVISION

208 SOUTH LA SALLE ST. BUILDING CORPORATION

a corporation, debtor.

In Bankruptcy Nos. 57030 and 57627 Consolidated

In Proceedings for the Reorganization of a Corporation under Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended

NOTICE TO ALL CREDITORS OF 208 SOUTH LA SALLE ST. BUILDING CORPORATION, DEBTOR.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on July 9, 1935, an order was entered by the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, which order provides:

(1) Proofs of claim must be filed, on or before September 6, 1935, with Charles Le Roy Brown as Special Master of the United States District Court, at his office at 231 South La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois, by or on behalf of all bondholders of 208 South La Salle St. Building Corporation (proof of claim on behalf of depositing bondholders described in the next following paragraph will be made by the depositary as stated in that paragraph).

(2) That Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, as Depositary under the Debtor's Substitute Plan of Reorganization dated April 1, 1935, is directed to file proof of claim for all bondholders who on or before September 6, 1935, deposit their bonds with said depositary under and in favor of Debtor's Substitute Plan of Reorganization and such depositing bondholders are excused from filing individual proofs of claim.

(3) That Continental National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, as Trustee under the Indenture of Trust securing the First (Closed) Mortgage 5½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds due November 1, 1958, of the Debtor, is authorized to file within 31 days after September 6, 1935 a claim on behalf of unknown bondholders and bondholders who have failed to file individual proofs of claim, for the purpose of receiving distribution for the benefit of such bondholders under said Substitute Plan of Reorganization or any other plan or plans of reorganization of the Debtor finally approved by the Court.

(4) That the holders of such bonds of the Debtor who default in the filing of claims thereon on or before September 6, 1935 shall not be considered by the Court in connection with voting on or assenting to any plan or plans of reorganization of the Debtor, shall not be entitled to be heard on objections to any plan or plans of reorganization of the Debtor, and shall not be permitted to participate in said Substitute Plan of Reorganization or any other plan or plans of reorganization of the Debtor, except on order of Court for good cause shown, or except as they may participate in the distribution under said plan by virtue of the claim filed by said Continental National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, as Trustee.

YOU ARE FURTHER NOTIFIED that the hearing heretofore set for July 15, 1935 at which hearing it was provided that (a) the Debtor's Substitute Plan of Reorganization might be formally proposed; (b) the matter of allowances of expense and compensation to persons entitled thereto in connection with this proceeding might be considered; and (c) creditors and stockholders are required to show cause why the Court should not find said Substitute Plan of Reorganization fair and equitable and confirm said Substitute Plan, will be adjourned to September 20, 1935.

Forms of proof of claim prepared for your use and containing instructions for execution, may be had on application to the undersigned.

Dated July 12, 1935, at Chicago, Illinois.
208 South La Salle St. Building Corporation,
Debtor.

WESTERN PACIFIC FACTIONS AGAIN TO SEEK ACCORD

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Representatives of the management and of the bondholders of the Western Pacific railroad will meet in New York tomorrow in another effort to compose their differences over a reorganization plan, Chairman Jones of the RFC announced today. He said that the groups were not far apart, their differences centering on treatment of the road's indebtedness to the RFC.

The management of the Missouri Pacific will probably file its reorganization plan with the interstate commerce commission soon, Jones said, and continue negotiations with the bondholders thereafter. The differences of the management and the bondholders concern treatment to be given common and preferred stock and also amortization arrangements for income bonds.

Atlantic Refining Reports Profit in Second Quarter

The Atlantic Refining company and subsidiaries report for the June quarter net profit of $384,000, equivalent to 14 cents a share on the capital stock, against net loss of $129,000 in the previous quarter and net profit of $2,376,578, or 89 cents a share, in the June quarter last year.

WHEAT PRICES DEPRESSED BY HEDGING SALES

Action of Traders Offsets Black Rust Reports.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Chicago wheat market met heavy hedging selling yesterday which carried prices down an average of 1⅛ cents a bushel. The decline took place in the face of a continued flood of reports out of the spring wheat region telling of serious injury to the crop by the rapid spread of black rust. The market lacked sufficient buying power from either speculative or commercial sources to absorb the hedging sales without a decline in value.

The purchase of 500,000 bushels of wheat in Ohio by a Chicago elevator house against which hedges were reported to have been put out in the September future was a prime factor in the market weakness. The grain will be moved into the Chicago market next month, it is understood.

Chicago Buys Eastern Wheat.

The big transaction was regarded as an indication that Chicago will draw heavily on Ohio this year for wheat which might in other years move into the eastern market. Without foreign outlets for American wheat, the natural movement of grain from the west to the east is reversed, as illustrated by the transaction reported yesterday. The current price spread between Toledo and Chicago makes shipments into this market profitable.

While the hedging selling was heavy yesterday, compared with what the market has experienced so far, it marks only the beginning of this movement. The trend during the next few days will hinge on the ability of the market to absorb this selling.

Closing prices yesterday on the September futures, with comparative quotations, were:

	Yesterday.	Wed.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	.84⅜	.85¾	.84¼
Corn	.75¼	.76½	.74⅞
Oats	.31⅛	.31¾	.31¾
Rye	.45½	.46⅛	.44

Wheat Prices Lower Abroad.

Moderate declines took place in the principal foreign wheat markets yesterday. The crop scare, which has caused such excitement and nervous price fluctuations in the Chicago market, has not made much of an impression abroad. The belief persists abroad that the United States will raise plenty of wheat to fill all domestic needs even if production of spring wheat is materially reduced by rust.

There is the added fact that Canada, even with a smaller crop than is now anticipated, will be a heavy seller in the international market for the next year if the new wheat policy is carried out as planned.

A good deal of skepticism is expressed here concerning the seriousness of the rust damage. Such scares are experienced annually. Most experts agree, however, that the threat to the crop is genuine.

10% MORE PAID ON WEST TOWN BANK DEPOSITS

Repayment of another 10 per cent to depositors of the West Town State bank has been authorized by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, and checks were mailed yesterday. The distribution amounts to $277,832 and brings the total return to 40 per cent since the bank closed.

Funds obtained in ordinary liquidation supplied 6½ per cent and a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation accounted for the other 3½ per cent. Negotiations are pending for a further advance from the RFC.

In addition to money repaid to depositors the receivership has wiped out $181,654 in preferred claims and $593,381 in bills contracted before the bank closed. William L. O'Connell is receiver.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 18.—Strength in United States government issues featured rather listless trading in listed bonds today. Domestic corporate issues maintained a strong undertone, but with only a few exceptions price changes were confined to small fractions.

Total transactions dropped slightly to $9,361,200.

Federal List Strong.

While sales in U. S. government bonds dropped well below the $1,000,000 mark, the gains which spread well over the list were the most impressive of the week, ranging from one-thirty-second to one-fourth of a point, and carrying twelve of the federal loans to new all time record high levels.

Public utility loans became unsettled in early dealings on the decision of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that the TVA could sell excess power. While some selling developed in the utility liens, subsequent recoveries left that section with a rather mixed tone at the end of the day.

Secondary Rails Gain.

Irregular and narrow price movements characterized trading in industrial and railroad bonds. Some of the secondary rail liens continued to creep forward fractionally, while trading among the industrial issues was highly selective.

A moderate rally in Italian dollar loans from an apparently oversold position proved to be the most important movement in the market for foreign bonds. European and South American government issues held within a narrow price range in light trading.

COMMODITY PRICES

New York, July 18.—The Associated Press wholesale price index of 20 basic commodities today declined to 69.90. The previous day it was 69.96, a week ago 70.19, a month ago 69.66, and a year ago 64.80.

Sterling Products, Inc.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on Sterling Products stock. —K. P. H.

Answer: Sterling Products, Inc., a holding company, is the largest and most important of the former Drug, Inc., subsidiaries. It is regarded as the world's largest maker of proprietary drugs. Business is world-wide. Its best known products are Bayer aspirin, Phillips' milk of magnesia, castoria, cascarets, Three-in-One oil, and Dr. Lyon's tooth powder.

The company operates in a highly competitive field, but a liberal policy of effective advertising has enabled it to fare above the average. Production costs are low:

Reflecting a decrease in sales, net income for the first quarter of 1935 was $2,529,000, or $1.46 a share, against net of $2,774,000, or $1.59 a share, for the first quarter of 1934.

The four year record of earnings follows:

	Net sales	Net income.	Inc. per share.
1934	....$26,044,000	$8,289,000	$4.79
1933	 24,184,000	8,102,000	4.66
1932	 24,914,000	9,348,000	5.34
1931	 28,442,000	11,548,000	6.60

Current position at the close of 1934 was strong. Cash assets alone were more than five times total current liabilities.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists solely of 1,730,639 shares of $10 par capital stock. The stock pays 95 cents a quarter. It is rather high grade.

City Ice Company.

Investors' Guide: Please send information on my $4,000 of City Ice company 6s, due 1940.—S. O. D.

Answer: City Ice company of Kansas City first mortgage 6s, due 1940, are only scantily protected by earnings. Net sales in 1934 fell off to $479,000 from $977,000 in 1933 and $1,621,000 in 1932. In 1934 the company managed to earn 28 per cent of fixed charges. In 1933 the company lost $78,000 before interest and before a loss of $273,000 on disposal of assets. In 1932 loss before interest was $23,000.

At the close of 1934 current assets, including cash assets of $78,000, totaled $128,000 and current liabilities were $48,000. Profit and loss deficit was $1,775,000. Funded debt, due April 1, 1940, was $1,468,000, down $22,500 from the year before.

The company is an operating subsidiary of Middle West Utilities furnishing about 25 per cent of the ice requirements of Kansas City, Mo.

Although progress was made in 1934, the unfavorable outlook for companies engaged in the ice industry, evidenced in this instance by the sharp decline in sales and unfavorable record of earnings, make the bonds a speculation.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPLETES PLAN FOR REFUNDING

$16,000,000 of 4½s Retires 6½ Pct. Issue.

Arrangements for underwriting the proposed new issue of $16,000,000 of 4½ per cent, series I, first lien and refunding bonds of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois have been completed, Chairman James Simpson and Vice Chairman George A. Ranney said yesterday.

Although no official announcement of the names of the underwriters was made, it was learned that five firms will handle the offering, which is expected early next week. The five are Halsey, Stuart & Co.; E. B. Smith & Co.; Brown, Harriman & Co., Inc.; Field, Glore & Co., and Lee Higginson corporation.

Proceeds of the issue will be used to retire the 6½ per cent series H bonds issued under the same mortgage. Plans to offer holders of the H bonds an opportunity to exchange their bonds for the new offering have been abandoned.

Offer $53,000,000 Issue.

Public offering of $53,000,000 of Edison Electric Illuminating company of Boston first mortgage 3½ per cent sinking fund bonds, series A, due 1965, will be made today at 103.79 and accrued interest by the banking syndicate, which was awarded the issue at a competitive sale.

Proceeds of the sale and other funds of the company are being used to effect the retirement of the company's two note issues, aggregating $55,000,000 issued in 1934 and called for payment July 18.

Big Issue Quickly Sold.

Yesterday's offering of $70,000,000 first mortgage 3½ per cent bonds due 1965 of Duquesne Light company was readily sold, the banking syndicate announced. Offered publicly at 101½ the bonds were quoted in the over-the-counter market around 103¾.

Net proceeds of the issue, together with other funds of the company, will be used to redeem in September $65,000,000 first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds of 1967 and $5,000,000 first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds of 1957.

The state of Louisiana awarded a new issue of $1,000,000 series K 5 per cent highway bonds, dated July 1, 1935, and maturing from 1939 to 1949, to Bancamerica-Blair corporation; Eli T. Watson & Co., Inc.; Burr & Co., Inc.; Robbinson-Humphrey Co.; Nuslock, Baudean & Smith, and City National Bank of Baton Rouge, La., on a bid of 103.81.

LARD FUTURES IRREGULAR; BELLIES AT SEASON'S HIGH

Provision futures, while somewhat irregular yesterday, recorded new high levels for the season on July and September lard and all deliveries of bellies. Owing to the upturn of around ½ cent per pound in lard in the last week the domestic shipping demand is reported to have fallen off rather sharply.

This had no effect on lard futures, however, and trade interests were moderate buyers of the nearby deliveries which gained 5 to 10 cents.

The October and December futures lost 2½ to 5 cents, while May gained 2½ cents. Trade in the aggregate was not as active as on Wednesday. Bellies closed 5 to 10 cents higher.

Export clearances of lard during the July 1, 1934,-May 31, 1935, period aggregated only 218,236,000 pounds, according to the department of commerce, compared with 505,989,000 pounds for the corresponding period last season. Deliveries of lard on July contracts were 750,000 pounds. Cash lard closed at $14.25; loose, $14.17; leaf, $14.50, and bellies at $17.80 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

HIDE FUTURES.

NEW YORK, July 18.—[Special.]—An easier undertone prevailed in hide futures, with commission house pressure in evidence on all minor upturns. The close was 11 to 17 points lower, with sales of 76 lots, or 3,040,000 lbs. Closing bids in cents, per pound: September, 10.06c; December, 10.45c; March, 10.75c; June, 11.03c.

HOGS RISE AGAIN TO TOP OF $12.75, INCLUDING TAX

Further decreases in receipts of hogs at all packing centers yesterday sent prices up 10 cents to 25 cents more. Current price levels have been exceeded only twice in July since 1920.

Hardly enough hogs were received at some points to establish quotations in all classes. Only 8,000 arrived in Chicago, which equals the smallest Thursday run in recent history, barring strike periods and holidays. This total compared with 10,940 a week ago, 21,319 a year ago, and 25,266 two years ago.

Selected grades of 190 to 220 pound new crop hogs sold up to $12.75 including the processing tax, and markets in the east reported sales of $13.25. Yesterday's average price was $11.90, showing $5 advance over the same day in 1934.

A feature was the sale of 16 hogs averaging 585 pounds that brought $11. They were the heaviest butchers here in some time. The tax alone on these 16 hogs amounted to $210.60.

A limited number of longfed steers in yesterday's cattle receipts met good demand at slightly stronger prices, but the general market for others ruled weaker, with declines recorded in cows and plainer hefers.

Reports from the wholesale beef trade was bearish, and only the scarcity of top grades of steers held these from declining. For the fourth consecutive session top steers sold at $12. The next highest price was $11.60, with the bulk at $8.75 to $11. Calves sold strong to 25 cents higher.

Declines in lamb meat at the principal distributing centers restricted buying of live lambs yesterday at prices steady to 10 cents lower. Both native and western stock sold to packers and city butchers at the $8.50 top.

BURNHAM'S

(for 64 years the world's largest beauty school)

ACT NOW!

It is to your particular advantage to register now even if you cannot start your course until later. Call, phone, or write at once.

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher. 64 years' knowing how to teach gives you a flying start.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

BURNHAM'S AWARDS TRIP TO PARIS TO STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, 1601 Thome-av., winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sailed June 19 on S. S. Manhattan with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.

DAY AND EVENING CLASSES.

Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduating. Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.
